McFARLAND CONSTRUCTION CO. GETS CONTRACT

The McFarland Construction Company has secured a contract to erect 65 houses for the Bata Shoe Company near Frankford.

Forty of these houses will be single bungalows, 31 by 24 feet, while the remaining 25 will be double bungalows, 40 by 26 feet.

All will be of frame construction and equipped with baths, furniture and electric lights. The contractor will do the painting as well.

That the Bata community is rapidly taking shape is seen by the fact that a five-storey plant, costing $170,000 has been contracted for. It will be 180 by 290 feet and of concrete construction.

Several model houses have already been completed.

The McFarland Company, who built most of the Pictou to Kingston No. 33 highway, recently constructed a service station and have another contract for a service station in Trenton. It will cost $8,000, and be of cement block stucco.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rodgers (nee Marguerite Bassett) who have resided on the Foxboro Highway for some time, are leaving shortly to take up residence in Belleville and on Wednesday evening of last week a number of their friends from College Hill surprised them at their home for a farewell gathering. A most enjoyable evening was passed in games, and dancing and during the evening Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers were presented with a pyrex plate and a silver bread tray. About thirty-five friends were present.

ROAD OVERSEER IS INJURED

John Stout, Road Overseer, employed by the County of Hastings, fractured his leg when a horse attached to a cart ran away on Monday of last week. Mr. Stout was working at Black Creek crossing where the County Roads and Bridges Committee is making improvements thoroughfare during the spring to prevent further flooding of the months. Mr. Stout will be laid up for some time. Two small bones were broken when the cart passed over his leg.

Miss Flossie Hulin has returned to her home in Stirling after spending some time with her brother, Mr. Wesley Hulin, in town.

SEVERAL INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT

Several persons were more or less seriously injured on Sunday morning shortly after eleven o'clock when a car owned and driven by Mr. Edmund Fitchett crashed into the car operated by Mr. Thomas Graham. The accident occurred at the intersection at Dr. W. A. Paul's corner in Tweed.

The occupants of Mr. Graham's car, his mother, Mrs. E. Graham, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Porritt and their five year old daughter Nancy, were all painfully injured when their car was turned over on its side by the force of the impact.

Mrs. Graham, who was riding with her son in the front seat suffered a broken wrist and serious shock. She was taken to Tweed hospital. Mrs. Porritt sustained a fractured shoulder blade and considerable shock. Mr. Porritt was cut about the head by broken glass as practically every window in the car was broken. One deep cut in the scalp about three inches in length, requiring a number of stitches. He also suffered other minor cuts and abrasions as well as slight chest injuries. Their daughter Nancy, was badly cut above the right ankle. Mr. Graham, the driver of the car, was uninjured. His car was badly damaged by the impact.

FRANK WILLIAMS, FARMER, INJURED BY KICK FROM HORSE

Severely injured when kicked by a horse on his farm near Stirling, F. Williams, seventy-seven year old resident of that district was admitted to Belleville General Hospital. In connection with other injuries it is feared that a possible fracture of the hip was sustained by the injured man.

Dr. W. H. Pedley of Stirling, physician, accompanied Williams to the hospital and is in attendance.

NORWOOD FAIR CANCELLED FOR '39

Following a lengthy discussion at a directors' meeting of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society held last week a motion was made, seconded and unanimously carried as follows:

"That owing to world conditions and believing it to be in the public's interest, the directors of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society here assembled decide to withdraw our annual exhibition for 1939."

FIRST CANADIAN CZECH BABY BORN AT FRANKFORD, ONT.

The first Canadian Czech baby to make its appearance in this section of Canada arrived this week when a bouncing boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Navotny at Frankford.

Mr. Navotny is one of the Czech keymen brought to Frankford from his native country to assist in the construction and operation of the Bata Shoe Company's Canadian plant. Both mother and son are said to be doing well.

MILL FOR CORDOVA

According to a press report a 125 ton straight cyanide mill is about half completed by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Cordova. As scheduled the mill will come into production toward the end of October. Nine levels exist in the present 1,000 foot shaft.

WALKS 500 MILES TO ENLIST, IS UNFIT

Napoleon Migneault, who hitchhiked from Timmins to Toronto, a matter of 500 miles, to enlist, joined the army all right but not the one he intended.

The 18 year old carpenter was rejected by military authorities as medically unfit. Left without any means of livelihood Napoleon wandered about downtown until the Salvation Army heard of his plight and took charge of him.

Mr. Malcolm Bassett is spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. Fred Rodgers in Belleville.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT MADOC FAIR

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

On a recent Friday evening a very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pitts, Madoc, when neighbours and friends gathered to honor their son, James Pitts, and his bride, formerly Miss Reta Woods. A very enjoyable evening was spent in dancing and music. At midnight the gathering was called to order by Mr. Kenneth Caskey and the following address was read by Miss Marjorie O'Connell.

Dear Rita and Jim:

This occasion has been looked forward to by your friends and neighbors as an opportunity of extending our sincere best wishes. May we particularly extend our congratulations to you Jim, on your choice of a lifetime companion. We know your wife will take her part in community affairs in a manner beyond reproach. Your parents in this respective communities have established reputations for being good neighbors. We now pay tribute to them and express at the same time our complete confidence that you are perfectly capable and willing to not only carry on but to enlarge on their accomplishments in that respect.

That is why we take pleasure in this happiest of meetings to express our kind sentiments and good wishes as we present this gift. May it ever be a permanent reminder of our friendships for you.

Signed on behalf of your friends.
Mr. and Mrs. Pitts were presented with a handsome studio couch. After which each thanked their friends and invited them to visit them in their home. Lunch was served and soon afterwards the guests departed, extending their best wishes to the young couple.

FRENCH TROOPS DIGGING IN TO RESIST DRIVE

Semi-official sources reported on Tuesday that French engineering units were digging in on German soil to resist a land and air drive expected to come to with the fading of Adolf Hitler's "peace offensive."

French sources estimated they held about 150 square miles of German territory containing about 65 villages. The engineers, working against time, and under the constant threat of German artillery, particularly in the Saar Valley sector, were said to be turning to their own use captured German fortifications on the fringe of the Siegfried line.

As fast as French patrols obtained strategic points the engineers moved up and started digging in against the possibility that one day they might have to defend them against a major offensive.

CHILDREN TO SEE FILMS IN SCHOOL

British documentary and educational films so impressed visitors to the British Theatre in the Government Pavilion at the New York World's Fair that a separate cinema was set up by a Teachers' Association in connection with the 'School of Tomorrow' to feature many of the educational subjects. Visiting educationists were thus enabled to keep abreast of British progress in visual education.

In order that Canadian school children who were unable to visit the Fair may have the opportunity of seeing many of these pictures in their classrooms, British Acoustics, Limited, have completed arrangements with Associated Screen News Limited of Montreal for their distribution in Canada.

On Tuesday noon about 200 men and officers of Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment which had been in training at the Armouries here left by train for Picton where the Regiment will go in training for the winter. The men marched to the station from the Armouries where hundreds of citizens from Madoc and vicinity gathered to say farewell. Both the High and Public Schools were closed at eleven o'clock in order that the teachers and pupils might be present. Reeve George West gave a short address. Speaking on behalf of the citizens of Madoc, he referred to the soldiers' short stay in Madoc, complimenting them on the way they had conducted themselves while here, and in saying farewell he said he hoped that the war would be over before it would be necessary for any of them to leave Canada. Three hearty cheers were given the men by the large crowd on hand, which was followed by the singing of "God Save the King."

Reports from Ottawa state that the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment which is now nearing full strength will be part of the first division to go overseas.

HERE AND THERE

War finds all political parties sinking their differences. Canadians should declare a moratorium for the duration of the conflict on the practice of making party political capital at the expense of national unity and effectiveness.—Picton Gazette.

Very gratifying is the foresight and vigor demonstrated by the Ontario government in meeting the menace of sabotage. A survey of vulnerable points was commenced six months ago and immediate protection arranged as necessity arose.—Picton Gazette.

REVENUE ON THE TEACHER

A young lady school teacher was recently stopped in Detroit for driving through a red light and given a ticket calling for her appearance in Traffic Court the following Monday. She went at once to the judge, told him that she had to be at her classes then and asked for the immediate disposal of the case. "So," said the judge sternly, "you're a school teacher. That's fine. Madam, your presence here fulfills a long standing ambition for me. For years I have yearned to have a school teacher in this court. Now," he thundered, "you sit right down at that table over there and write 'I went through a stop sign,' 500 times."

The world is coming more and more to be governed by public opinion. Even in government where the public is supposed to have no opinion of its own, in the last analysis the reigning power cannot long disregard a settled adverse public opinion. Public opinion is the result of two forces. One is the accuracy of knowledge, and the other is character, and when you know how much knowledge a man has and how much character he has, you can predict the result of those two things and forecast his course of action. And so it seems to be with nations. Therefore the hope of mankind is a continuous process of education, that the public may possess both character and knowledge. Otherwise public opinion will misrule the world.—Picton Times.

WAR BUDGET

Canada's war budget is based on three factors:

1. To win the war.
2. To curb profiteering.
3. To make all share the costs of combat.

By bringing down a budget of that order, the King Government is trying hard to be fair. Everyone knows a war costs money and that the only way to meet those costs is by taxation. When the taxes are spread to include everyone there is not the ground for grumbling that would have been provided by a series of taxes destined to hit only one group.

If the war goes on for a long time there will be still higher taxes. That is inevitable. And, if there is brisk business due to wartime spending, then it would be proper that the Government should collect taxes on that money on the pay as you go scheme. The time to get the taxation is when the money is there to be paid. The new taxes won't be any great surprise. Canadians realize that the country has to pull in its belt and meet the costs of the war. To crush Hitlerism the price has to be paid.—Windsor Star.

YOUNG MEN WITH A MISSION

For the next five months two hundred young men will be scattered over Canada doing splendid work. They are Arts and Theology students of The United Church of Canada colleges who have been appointed to mission fields in Canada. Some students were placed in every province of Canada. Three students were stationed in Newfoundland. Two of these will engage in missionary work in lumber camps.

The largest number of students went to Northern Saskatchewan. One student was given mission work in the Caribou. The mining areas of Northern Ontario also received a number of students.

The young men will serve on the mission fields for 20 weeks. For at least a quarter of them it will be their first experience in missionary work.

The students have been placed in areas where there is no regular minister. They will serve in the neighborhood of 800 preaching stations, many of which would have no representative of the church ministering to them if it were not for the service rendered by the students.

These young men are laying foundations of the church of the future. Their energy, enthusiasm and spirit has already made a fine impression wherever they have been sent. They are making a fine contribution to the life of our pioneer areas. Many of the Charges now dependent for support will one day be splendid, self-supporting churches.—Perth Courier.

YOUR JOB AND OPPORTUNITY

Here are a few suggestions on how to be successful today—simply, plain advice by Lowell Thomas' Commentator magazine that will help any ambitious youngster to a better job:

1. Get started anywhere. Don't be too choosy about picking a job these days. Take what you can get.
2. Remember, this job has some hidden opportunity which you can dig up, fashion into something worth while.
3. Be interested primarily in the business. Don't let your employer feel that your personal interests come first.
4. Be punctual. While nothing may be said about coming in late or leaving early, or about extra long lunch hours, such actions do not help out.
5. Take time off only when absolutely necessary. Frequent sick leaves stand in the way of advancement.
6. If you have a complaint, either take it to the proper superior or keep it to yourself. Don't speak behind the boss's back. Such tales have a nasty way of getting back to him.
7. If you have any ideas, write them out and submit them to your superior. Ideas build business. Yours may help.
7. Be patient these trying times in the matter of salary increases. Your employer may be having a tough struggle. Stand by him. He will more than make it up to you when things brighten.
9. Stop envying the other fellow's job. Concentrate on making the most of yours.

MOST ADVERTISING GOES TO NEWSPAPERS

Newspapers are the preferred advertising medium for chain stores. It is revealed by a survey of advertising expenditures recently completed by the National Association of Food Chains. The survey covered 36 companies operating a total of 16,853 stores in the United States.

Of the sums spent for advertising in a twelve month period, $6,368,422, or 56.53 per cent went to newspapers. Handbills cost $1,704,112 or 15.13 per cent. Only $641,421 or 5.69 per cent was spent on radio. Other forms of advertising, including billboards, store banners and posters, programmes, magazines, etc., $2,552,317, or 22.65 per cent was spent.

"Of the 36 companies covered in this survey," the N. A. F. C. report says, "Only seven devoted less than 50 per cent of their advertising dollar to newspaper, and exactly one-half of the companies concentrated more than 70 per cent of their advertising expenditures with newspapers."

With 21 of the 36 companies radio did not enter at all into their advertising plans. With respect to handbills it is pointed out that many of the reporting companies have definite policies which require handbills to be printed on the job presses of local newspapers whenever possible.

ANNUAL DEANERY MEETING OF W. A. HELD AT BANCROFT

The Annual Deanery Conference of the Hastings Deanery Woman's Auxiliary was held in St. John's Church, Bancroft, on September 26th.

There was a celebration of Holy Communion at 11 a.m. The special preacher at this service was Rev. Dean Caldwell of Marmora. There were about seventy five present at this service.

The church, which has recently been re-decorated, presented a very beautiful appearance with its decorations of autumn leaves and flowers. The altar was adorned with white gladioli. Luncheon was served at noon by the ladies of St. John's Church in the Community Hall.

The afternoon session opened at 1.30 p.m. with the Deaneary Secretary Mrs. George Clark, of Tweed, presiding. The opening hymn was No. 318. A very warm welcome was extended to the visitors by one of the Bancroft ladies to which Mrs. W. G. Barlow of Bonarlaw replied. The minutes of the last Deaneary meeting were read and approved. Encouraging reports were given by representatives of the following branches: Bancroft, Bonarlaw, Rawdon, Roslin, Stirling, Tweed and Trenton. A report from Thomasburg was read by the secretary. Brief addresses were given by the new Diocesan President, Mrs. J. De Pencier, Wright, Mrs. Van Straubenzee, Mrs. Crowe, Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Chalmers.

Rev. J. L. Hutchinson, Secretary Treasurer of the Church Boys' League gave a very interesting address on the aims and objects of the League and urged the formation of a League in each parish in the deanery.

Votes of thanks were extended to all who had assisted with the meeting and to the Bancroft ladies for their hospitality.

Mrs. Clark was re-elected as Deaneary Secretary.

An invitation to hold the Deaneary meeting at Roslin next year was accepted. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem, after which the ladies served lunch.

HOW COUNTRIES DIVIDED POLAND

The new Russo-German accord partitions Poland for the fourth time in history. Germany and the Soviet sharing her territory almost equally. Poland is wiped off the map; there is to be no Polish buffer state.

The accord gives Germany more than the earlier military occupation line, which gave Russia about three-fifths of Poland's area.

Germany now gets all of Warsaw city, most of Warsaw province, the entire course of the Vistula River and the province of Lublin.

Of the six largest cities, Russia gets only two—Lwow and Wilno, Germany gets Warsaw, Lodz, Poznan and Krakow.

As described by the German communiqué, the boundary line begins in northern Poland at the southern tip of Lithuania, and runs west north of Augustow to the East Prussia border, which it follows to the Ples river.

It runs along the river about forty miles south of Ostroleka, thence southeast forty miles, meeting the Bug River at Nur, sixty miles north-east of Warsaw.

It follows the Bug along the eastern edge of Lublin province to Krystopol, forty miles north of Lwow, then bends southwest about eighty miles to the San River.

It follows the San to its source at the Slovak border.

Poland was first partitioned between Prussia and Russia in 1772, a second time by the two powers in 1793, a third time by these two and Austria in 1795. The state was re-established after the last war.

FARMERS NEAR

LAKEFIELD CAPTURE

SECOND SUSPECT

Declared by police to be the man who escaped after an auto chase from Marmora to Peterborough on Wednesday, Kenneth Mitchell was captured by two Lakefield farmers Friday and is being held in Hastings County jail, facing a charge of car theft.

Police say Mitchell was the second man in an auto which they chased to Peterboro at a speed ranging from 70 to 90 miles an hour. After a two-hour chase around the principal streets of Peterborough, with local police in pursuit, the men abandoned the vehicle and made an attempt to escape by running up a side street. Revolver shots stopped one of the pair, who turned out to be Cyril Hutt. The second man, who escaped, was the driver of the auto, according to police.

Mitchell appeared at the farm of Ed. and Wm. Henderham, near Lakefield, and asked for a meal. His unkempt appearance aroused the farm-

BEVELLE MARKET

SATURDAY

A consistent drizzling rain, after-math of electrical storms that swept the district Friday drove market vendors and shoppers to the comparative dryness and comfort of the inside market at Belleville on Saturday. There was a good offering of all kinds of produce, despite the inclemency of the weather.

Egg quotations were steady, with retail prices to shoppers noting no difference in the main, although wholesalers paid from three to four cents less per dozen than they did the previous week. "A" selects were quoted generally at 35 cents the dozen, although a few vendors dropped prices commensurate with those paid by wholesale dealers. Mediums were offered at 32 cents with pullets offered at 29 and 30 cents the dozen.

The chicken offering was heavier than it has been for the past three weeks. Choice weighty June birds were quoted at 60 cents to $1.30 a pair. Yearlings were offered at from 70 cents each with good quality six-months-old chickens available at $1. to $1.25 each. Fowl moved slowly from 55 cents. A few ducks were offered with former quotations steady at $1.00 each.

Vegetable and fruit offerings were firm, with little change noted over the previous week's quotations. Potatoes were plentiful and of good quality. Peck lots were offered at 30 and 35 cents each with bushels moving well at $1.25. 75 pound bags could be had at $1.40.

Home grown tomatoes, still of good quality, despite the inroads of canning factory demands, were firm at 60 cents the bushel. Basket lots sold at 20 cents each. Sweet corn, not as good as former offerings, sold at 10 and 15 cents the dozen, with buying being dull during the early hours.

Beets, carrots and onions could be had in bunch or bushel lots, with the former offered at 5 cents and the latter ranging between 40 and 50 cents each. Celery and radishes were popular at five and ten cents the bunch, with Chinese cabbage, cauliflower and the ordinary variety of cabbage offered at from five cents the head.

McIntosh Red apples headed a variable apple offering, good quality fruit being available at $1, the hamper. Basket lots were priced accordingly. Wolf Rivers, Alexanders, and other popular varieties sold at 20 cents the peck. Flemish Beauty pears were offered at 40 cents the basket with Bartlett's and Glapps Favorite selling at approximately the same figure.

Blue Damsons were offered at 40 cents the basket and German prune plums at 10 cents more. Blue and white grapes were plentiful at prices ranging between 30 and 35 cents the basket. Peach stocks were down from the usual amount, but prices hovered between 25 and 30 cents for good quality fruit.

Whitefish, trout and pickerel catered to lovers of this sort of food with 20 cents the pound being asked for the former two varieties and 25 cents for trout, with a slight additional charge for filleting and slicing.

A MAN MUST

NOW BE A MAN

"Wars and rumors of wars" — the clouds lour over the sea, And a man must now be a man, if ever a man can be;

"Wars and rumors of wars"—a cry from the flaming east, For the vultures are gathered together and the lions roar over the feast;

War. Shall we flinch, Shall we tremble, Shall we shrink like cowards from the fray?

Better all Britons were dead than their glory passed away;

The clouds may be dark and lowering, the storm may be loud and long, But the hearts of our men are true, and the arms of our men are strong.

From the thousand years of glory, From the grave of heroes gone, A man must now be a man, and every man be true,

For Britons stand together when Britain has work to do.

The above lines were written by Canon F. G. Scott of Quebec, the "beloved padre," of the last war, and were dated August 21. With prophetic vision, Canon Scott saw that all freedom-loving men would sooner or later be called upon to resist dictatorial tyrants, and it came to pass within a few days of his stirring call that Britons stand together.

ESTATE IS LEFT TO THE CHURCH

Trial of Mrs. George Taylor of London, Ont., 50 year old mother of 11 children, who is charged with the murder of her friend, Mrs. Annie Templeton, 67, continued Tuesday with Crown witnesses occupying the session. The case opened Monday with Mrs. Taylor believed to be the second woman in more than 100 years to face a murder charge there.

The body of Mrs. Templeton, a widow who formerly resided in Stratford, was found last March 28th on the roadway near the Taylor residence. Mrs. Taylor, with whom Mrs. Templeton sometimes boarded, was taken into custody a few hours later.

Crown Prosecutor W. B. Common, said the Prosecution's theory is that Mrs. Taylor killed Mrs. Templeton expecting to benefit under a will and that the body was placed on the roadway to create the impression Mrs. Templeton was struck by an automobile.

Mr. Common said the widow's estate of approximately $1,300 was left to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stratford. H. G. Fraser, London lawyer, testified that before the death of Mrs. Templeton, Mrs. Taylor told him the widow was leaving everything to her.

SENDS TELEGRAM

THIRTY FEET

To the average person the telegraph suggests distance but the other day a telegram was sent to a distance of 30 ft. away over Canadian National Telegraphs by a business solicitor in making an appointment after suffering repeated rebuffs in making personal contact. In his "30-feet" wire he suggested an hour of appointment and promptly on the hour indicated was readily admitted for his conference. The telegraph message appeared as an urgency when the other method failed.

WILLIAM G. BENN CRUSHED AT WORK

William G. Benn was crushed to death over the winch of a hoist at the Belleville Canadian National Railway coal chutes shortly before midnight Sunday night when he apparently became entangled in the winch rope, used for pulling coal cars into the coal chute, badly mangling his body.

Mr. Benn was employed at the C. N. R. coal chute in the capacity of a ground man assisting in the unloading of coal and the coaling of locomotives and was attending to his duties when it is believed he slipped and grabbed the winch rope to save himself, but was drawn around the hoist drum before he could loosen his hold. Mr. Benn was discovered by Jack Boyd a fellow employee at the coal chute. The accident happened about 11:20 p.m. Sunday night, resulting in apparently instant death, as Mr. Benn was dead upon the arrival of Dr. E. G. Kennedy, C.N.R. physician.

At noon Monday an inquest was called before Chief Coroner Dr. J. J. Robertson, at which time a verdict of accidental death was returned. Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C., introduced several witnesses, all C.N.R. employees. Albert Jones, C. N. R. locomotive engineer, and John Boyd, both told of seeing Mr. Benn after he had become entangled in the winch. "Suddenly the hoist slowed up and I looked out the coal chute window to see what the trouble was. I could not see Mr. Benn, so I shut off the engine and went down below where we were unloading a car of coal. I found Mr. Benn's body lying over the winch. I immediately cut the rope to release him and called for help," stated Mr. Boyd.

Dr. Kennedy stated death had been due to internal injuries. There were no eyewitnesses.

LABOR CONGRESS WARNS AGAINST PROFITEERING

Labor extended its unwavering support Tuesday in the war efforts of Canada and Great Britain coupled with a warning against "profiteering and greed."

The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada voted at its 55th convention which began at London, Ont., Monday in favor of a resolution calling for labor's full contribution to the tasks of war. At the same time the Dominion government was asked to mobilize wealth "to serve the country's interest instead of individuals and corporations."

The resolution, summing up resolutions that poured into the Congress from affiliates in all parts of Canada, was proposed by Carl E. Berg, of Edmonton, Chairman of the Resolutions Committee, and was read in French by Gustav Franco of Montreal.

It declared that "in the Fascist and Nazi nations the free trade union movement has been outlawed, its property and funds confiscated, its leaders persecuted, in many instances ruthlessly murdered—which action constitutes a complete destruction of democracy—and it has become necessary to resort to arms in order to prevent the aggressive action of Germany and her allies from destroying the independence of Poland and other nations where democratic government still exists."

GAS SPEEDER IS STRUCK BY TRAIN

Lucien Rochon, 29, of Ottawa, was killed Monday night when a Canadian National Railways North Bay bound extra freight struck a gasoline speeder on which 14 railway employees were riding at Sullivan's Cut, three miles west of Bell's Corners. Bell's Corners is five miles west of Ottawa.

Other passengers of the speeder, all of Ottawa, and Bell's Corners residents, escaped with minor injuries. Inquest opened by Coroner Dr. J. S. Nelson, was adjourned until Monday. According to those on the gasoline car, they did not see the train until it rounded a bend 200 feet ahead. The men leaped for safety, several suffering minor injuries when they fell.

Rochon's body was thrown 125 feet. Examination revealed he died of a crushed skull and broken leg.

NASCOPIE RETURNS FROM ARCTIC VOYAGE

Major D. L. McKeand, commander of the Dominion's Eastern Arctic patrol, arrived back in Ottawa Tuesday from a 10,600 mile voyage to Canada's northern regions aboard the R. M.S. Nascope.

Major McKeand said the last two weeks of the voyage was made in a complete blackout. "From the day war was declared, no lights were allowed aboard ship, a special lookout was maintained at all times for submarines and all outgoing communications were suspended."

FARM INCOMES LIKELY HIGHER

"The extent of the economic evolution—temporary though it may be—that the present international struggle will bring about is a matter of pure speculation," declared Hon. P. M. Dewar, Ontario Minister of Agriculture in an address at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto after his return from Great Britain where he scanned prospective markets for Ontario farm products.

"If we may judge from the experiences of the last war and the trend of the past few days, we may look for higher prices. Naturally it will not all be gain for the farmer. Higher prices he will no doubt obtain, but higher wages and higher purchase values will confront him. There is every likelihood that his net income will expand. That these higher returns should be brought about because of a war of nations in which we are vitally concerned is not the happiest thought. We must, however, face conditions as they exist in a practical common-sense way."

"Recent developments naturally cause us to fix our eyes upon Great Britain as an enlarged market for our surplus farm commodities. From my own observations recently made, I would say that whether in peace or in war, we should always look to Britain as our one secure and lasting market for beef, bacon, live stock, dressed poultry, Cheddar cheese, canned goods, honey and tobacco leaf."

"In saying this, I am not underestimating by any means the value of nearer markets such as that of the United States. But, we should never fail to keep a grasp, and indeed a very firm grasp, of the British market for these commodities of which we have an exportable surplus and for which in Great Britain there is a demand."

"Sacrifices may also have to be made. If the war is a long one, international appeals may be made to stress production of certain farm crops. I am confident that all appeals of a Provincial or National character in the uncertain days that lie before us will be loyally responded to by our Ontario farmers. The British people are worthy of it."

"Efficiency in farm operations and co-operation in state demands constitute a matter of duty to ourselves and to the Empire. I know that Ontario farmers will not be lacking," concluded Mr. Dewar.

JAPAN WOULD END WAR DURING YEAR

Wang Ching-Wei, former premier of General Chiang Kai-Shek's government, was said Monday to be formulating plans rapidly for consolidation of the Japanese-controlled Peiping and Nanking governments into a single Japanese sponsored regime in China.

Wang, it was announced recently, visited Japan in June and discussed the projected administration with Prince Fumimaro Konoye. Observers expressed belief that if Japan's political program goes according to schedule she will be able to present the world with an accomplished fact before the end of the year.

These sources said the plan calls for a supreme effort to smash Chiang's armed resistance and for the installation of a strong central government favorable to Japan. Thereafter, they said, the army might be expected to take a defensive position along borders of the area already occupied.

NICK'S LUNCH, BELLEVILLE GUTTED BY FIRE

Fire, believed to have originated in the kitchen, raced through the premises of the restaurant operated by Nicholas Chaggares (Nicks' Lunch) in Belleville shortly after five o'clock Monday morning, completely gutting it and causing an estimated loss of $7,000. Smoke driving in dense clouds from the scene of the blaze seeped into second storey apartments besides doing damage to neighboring stores.

Fire squads fought the stubborn blaze for upwards of two and one-half hours before they succeeded in confining it to the restaurant.

The interior of the restaurant and kitchen is a mass of blackened embers. Slicing and grinding machines said by Chaggares to be valued at $700, and the entire equipment, furniture and stock are completely destroyed.

AVOIDS GAS BAN

There is at least one driver in England who is not worried by gasoline rationing.

He is John Bestwick of Leek, Staffordshire. He has built himself a steam-driven automobile with paraffin heater, which will reach a speed of sixty miles an hour and will get thirty miles to the gallon.

LORD TWEEDSMUIR TO VISIT PLOWMEN

Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor General of Canada, will visit the famous International Plowing Match and Farm Machinery Demonstration at Brockville on October 12th, James R. Henderson, President of the International announced recently.

The plowing match, the largest of its kind in the British Empire, will be held at Brockville on October 10 to 13 inclusive. The cream of Canadian plowmen in addition to competitors from other countries will compete for over $6000 in prizes.

The outstanding importance of this event to Canadian Agriculture and to Great Britain is seen in the attendance of the King's Representative at the International. Good plowing is the basis of good crops, and good crops must be the rule if Canada is to do her agricultural duty to the Motherland during the war.

It is expected that the attendance at the four day match will exceed 100,000.

The largest exhibit in the history of the Match will be housed in the "tented city" over a mile long. With impetus being given to agriculture, farmers will be more than keenly interested in the modern equipment on display.

The horseshoeing competition is unique as no other similar contest is held in Canada. Over 40 entries are expected.

As such large matches, it is sometimes difficult to have access to sufficient land to concentrate activities in a small area. The Ontario Hospital Farm, and adjoining properties at Brockville comprise a compact and otherwise ideal site. All competitive classes and other features may be seen with a minimum of walking.

The Horse Show, Friday, October 13th, will be larger than formerly, as 30 prizes are being offered, totalling $500. There has also been a marked increase in the number and value of prizes for plow classes.

Special features this year include an increased number of educational demonstrations and exhibits; a new Inter-County Tractor Competition for young men; the Champion Plowmen from the British Isles; and the Trans-Atlantic Class.

The Plowing Match is but a short distance off No. 2 Highway. Adequate parking arrangements have been made.

Every farmer owes himself a visit to this greatest of outdoor farming competitions.

GIVEN SEVEN YEARS FOR ROBBERY

Rudolph Schramek, 23, of St. Catharines, was sentenced Monday to 7 years in the penitentiary for the armed robbery of a Windsor branch of the Provincial Bank of Canada at Windsor on June 30th. Albert Farr, 24, of Windsor, who aided in the robbery was sentenced to three years in penitentiary.

Harry Miller, 32, of Windsor, the third man in the case, pleaded guilty Monday but sentence was reserved until Saturday.

Loot in the robbery totalled $1,400. Schramek, born in Brantford, Ont., was arrested at St. Catharines where he worked in an automobile parts factory.

Farr's sentence will be concurrent with a six month term he started serving in July on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Harry Miller. An assault charge against Miller will be heard Saturday.

HITLER'S COFFEE ORDERED SEIZED

More than two tons of coffee addressed to "His Excellency Herr Hitler, President of the Republic of Great Germany," was ordered seized by the British contraband committee Monday for the "Judgment of the Prize Court."

The official announcement of the seizure order commented:

"The Nazi leader's foresight in ordering ample supplies of coffee 'for the duration' is understandable as coffee is a commodity which the mass of the German people now have to do without in the interests of the Nazi State."

The coffee was consigned to Hamburg from the British protectorate of Aden, in Southwest Arabia. Packed in twenty big bags, the consignment left Aden on August 12.

A 30-mile dash on a gasoline "jigger" is not child's play, but when life or limb is at stake such a hardship may be the more easily endured as it is justifiably attempted. Recently, A. Celoude suffered a severely gashed hand cutting wood at Brunkild, Man., and the Canadian National Railways supplied a "jigger" and rushed the wounded man to Winnipeg where an operation was performed upon arrival.

GOERING DISPUTES WITH ADMIRAL

The London Daily Express in a dispatch from Copenhagen Tuesday reported a dispute had broken out between Field Marshal Hermann Goering and Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, Commander-in-Chief of the German navy, over the German navy's submarine warfare.

The sinking of two Swedish and two Finnish freighters during the last few days has compromised the Reich's source of raw materials in the Scandinavian countries and added additional difficulties to Goering's job of economic dictator, it was said.

The sinking of the Swedish freighter Silesia and Gertrud Bratt has provoked protests throughout Sweden and resulted in threats that the Stockholm government would cut off the all-important supply of high grade iron ore it has been shipping to the Reich, the Daily Express said.

Goering was described as being "furious" over the sinking of the Swedish ships because the Reich imports an average of 6,000,000 tons of Swedish iron ore annually and this supply is considered absolutely essential for the Reich's wartime production.

MINE DRILLER IS FOUND DEAD

Two hours after a fellow worker found his gloves beside an ore chute at No. 10 level of Garson Mine, Friday night, Carlo Vitucci, 38 year old driller, was found dead at the bottom of an ore pass.

Vitucci is believed to have lost his balance and slid down the chute after removing a safety belt.

Ore had become jammed and Sullivan went for blasting powder to dislodge it. Apparently removing his safety belt to ascend the slope, Vitucci is believed to have hesitated and tried to move the clogged ore with a piece of pipe. The pile was found lodged in the rock, beside the chute where the driller slipped to his death.

MANITOBA REDUCES SIZE OF BEER GLASSES

Manitoba Liquor Control Commission Tuesday ordered parlors to serve beer in smaller glasses to meet the Federal War budget tax on malt and hops. The new regulation calls for a nine-ounce glass containing not less than seven ounces of beer, compared with the old schedule which called for not less than eight ounces in a 10 ounce glass. The price of a glass of beer will remain unchanged at 10 cents. No change was made in the price of bottled beer purchases at parlors.

THE KAISER'S FLEET

Salvaging of the German Imperial navy is to be ended. Two of Wilhelm's greatest warships will remain on the bed of the ocean at Scapa Flow. Around the wrecked dreadnaughts will lie other rusting remnants of the grand fleet, symbol of Germany's sea power before the World War.

The London Times carried the prosaic announcement a few weeks ago, notes the Kansas City Star, in quiet British style, at an annual meeting in Glasgow of the directors of Metal Industries, Limited, came a statement from Sir J. Donald Pollock, chairman of the board, to the effect that operations on the scuttled German fleet would be suspended after the battleship Derfflinger, the 17th of the larger warships to be tackled, had been raised within the next few months. He added that this did not necessarily mean that the work was finished for all time.

The sinking of the 47 ships of the interned German fleet marked a last flaring of defiance by a beaten people before the peace of Versailles was accepted. Except for the battle of Jutland, the great fleet on which the German nation's money had been lavished had not sailed forth to challenge Britain's right to rule the waves.

In later years it was the fashion in Germany to blame the Communists to assert that the Bolsheviks had destroyed the fleet. That was when Germany believed her place in Europe might be won back through the peace and negotiation of such statesmen as Stresemann and Brüning. But recently it has been admitted that the German officers who went aboard the convoy of British ships and handed their swords over with the words "We are not Bolsheviks; we had our orders and we carried them out," expressed the truth behind the mystery of the German motivation. And Admiral von Reuter, commander of the surrendered fleet, said he issued the order to sink the ships.

The spectacular moment came the morning of June 21, 1919, the admiral seizing upon a time when the interned squadrons were guarded only by small warships and patrolling aircraft. Using a changed code, the officers sent signals through the fleet that the order had been given to open the sea valves.

HANG WASHING

ON SIEGFRIED LINE LONDON CLUBS SING

The catchy little ditty, "We're going to hang out the washing on the Siegfried Line," was piped up in London night clubs and music halls during the week-end as the first candidate to succeed "Tipperary."

With a tune somewhat reminiscent of "Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag," the words of the chorus go like this.

We're going to hang out the washing on the Siegfried Line,
Have you any dirty washing, mother dear?

We're going to hang out the washing on the Siegfried Line,
'Cos the washing day is here.
Whether the weather may be wet or fine,

We'll just rub along without a care,
We're going to hang out the washing on the Siegfried Line,
If the Siegfried Line's still there.

At one music hall the chorus was printed on a sheet hung on a clothesline with "unmentionables" bearing the names of Hitler and various German leaders and the audience riotously joined in singing the song half a dozen times.

The song was written by Jimmy Kennedy and Michael Carr, both of Irish extraction.

Tipperary's author, Jack Judge, died last year on the 24th anniversary of the outbreak of the Great War.

COMMANDER DESCRIBED

AS A BROKEN EXILE

Field Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, Commander of Poland's vanquished Legions, was described by refugees, as a broken exile, shunned by fellow officers who regard him as a general who deserted his doomed but fighting army.

The Field Marshal, along with a number of other Polish officers, is interned at a Craiova Hotel in Bucharest.

Germany was reported at the same time, to have protested to Rumania because Ignace Moscicki, also a refugee, was allowed to resign the Presidency of Poland and name a successor while on Rumanian soil.

Moscicki resigned Saturday and named Wladislaw Raczkiewicz, now in Paris, as his successor. He had been kept in limited domicile but left for Paris after resigning.

NEW TORPEDO TECHNIQUE USED IN SINKING SHIPS

The master of the sunken Norwegian freighter Solaas said Monday he believed the ship was the victim of a new torpedo technique.

The master said no explosion was heard in what is described as a new-style torpedoing of the Solaas last Thursday.

"The Solaas was stopped in high seas, preventing the Germans from coming aboard," he said. Five engines heard a hissing sound, then felt a bump.

"The submarine disappeared and five minutes later the Solaas began sinking from holes in the engine room and bunk room, indicating that a new device penetrated the ship's hull without an explosion."

The newspaper Ekstrabladet in a dispatch from Stockholm said the Swedish freighter Algeria had been seized in the Baltic Sea and taken to Kiel, Germany.

The 1,617 ton ship was bound for Genoa with a cargo of woodpulp and iron.

The German Government has declared woodpulp on the contraband list.

V. Steen-Christensen, Director of the company which owned the Danish steamship Vendia, sunk by a submarine in the North Sea, with a loss of 11 men, said Monday the captain stopped promptly for the raider but was torpedoed nevertheless.

The director said the Captain expressed the opinion that 11 seamen were not drowned but were killed by an explosion. "The weather was fine and clear and the reason for the torpedoing is still not clear," he said.

BANCROFT MEN HELD BY POLICE

When Provincial Constable Palmatier went to the home of Luke Woodcock, Bancroft, to investigate a series of thefts that had terrorized North Hastings for some time, the officer alleges he was set upon and beaten by three members of the Woodcock family who later were arrested and lodged in the Belleville jail on charges of assaulting a police officer and also of obstructing an officer in the pursuit of his duties on Saturday night.

The three men are Luke Woodcock, 61; Samuel Woodcock, 26, and Elmer Woodcock, all of Bancroft. Luke and Samuel are charged with obstructing while Elmer Woodcock is charged with assaulting Constable Palmatier, who was forced to draw his police baton and defend himself at the Woodcock home. Palmatier was allegedly kicked several times in the abdomen necessitating medical attention, but he managed to arrest two of the Woodcocks, while Provincial Constable W. E. Smith and J. French of Belleville, hastened to Bancroft and apprehended the third man.

Constable Palmatier was investigating a series of thefts and break-ins from summer cottages in North Hastings and recovered an outboard motor that was stolen two years ago.

NAVY WITHDRAWS HALF OF YANGTSE RIVER PATROL

The British Navy Monday ascribed "urgent military requirements elsewhere" for a decision to shift half of its Yangtse river patrol of ten gunboats.

The gunboats Dragon Fly and Grasshopper will sail and the Aphis, Ladybird and Cockchafer are to follow.

The announcement did not disclose where the ships would go or when the second group would leave.

The transfer, it said, "will release a considerable number of trained officers and men whose services could be more usefully employed on active service," and added that "present conditions on the Yangtse do not justify retention of ten gunboats between Shanghai and Hankow when other military demands are more imperative."

Reliable informants said the gunboats probably would be sent to Singapore for use in patrol work and as mine sweepers.

The same sources said that reports of increased Japanese naval activity in South China has indicated a possible naval drive against the Netherlands East Indies and British possessions in that Far East area. The five gunboats would strengthen the British sea force in that sector.

There was no indication that the French would withdraw any of their forces in China. Italy already has withdrawn her only big warships from Far Eastern waters.

Motor traffic to Banff via the east gate during the three-day period of June 30 to July 2, established a new week-end record when 2,606 automobiles entered the park. During the same period a total of 4,114 visitors made use of the bathing facilities provided at the hot springs in Banff National Park.

THREE ARMY PRIVATES

DIED VIOLENTLY OVER WEEK-END

Thirteen persons, including three Canadian army privates and a provincial police officer, died violently in Ontario during the week-end of causes that ranged from automobile accidents to a drowning, a fight and a fall.

Two of the soldiers were killed in a level crossing crash at London Saturday while the other drowned when the car in which he was riding plummeted to the bottom of the old Welland Canal at Thorold.

Automobiles or trucks led to 11 of the fatalities. Provincial Constable Fred R. Blucher, 32, of Port Credit, died Saturday night at Dixie, suburban Toronto, a few hours after his motorcycle was struck by an automobile allegedly driven by Alfred Fonger 33, of York Township. Fonger was charged with manslaughter.

Ernest Porter, of Niagara Falls, Ont., a private in the Lincoln and Welland Regiment, drowned early Sunday when an automobile in which he was a passenger plunged into the old Welland Canal.

Driver of the car, Harold Bennett, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and another passenger, rose to safety after smashing windows in the submerged car. Bennett was charged with reckless driving.

An inquest will be held by military authorities.

Earl Durward, 38, and James Ray 20, members of the Canadian Army Service Corps, at Carling Heights, near London, died in London Hospital Saturday a short time after the car in which they were riding with two others was struck by a passenger train at a level crossing near the military camp. The others escaped with minor injuries.

An unidentified middle-aged man was killed when struck by a car at a Hamilton intersection Saturday night. Fred Dominichetti of Hamilton, driver of the car, took the man to the hospital but he was dead on admittance.

At Mille Roches, near Cornwall, Harry Towles, 21, was killed Sunday night when an automobile left the road and crashed into a tree. Four other occupants of the car were injured, one, Morris Silmsier, critically.

Thomas Johnston, 50, of Toronto, died in hospital Sunday night from a fractured skull, received, police said, during a Saturday night brawl on a downtown street corner. Johnston was said to have been knocked down and to have struck his head on the curb. Johnston was arrested on a drunk charge and after treatment lodged in police cells. He was released on bail Sunday and became seriously ill late Sunday.

Cyril Cooper of Toronto, alleged to have struck the blow, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

Aileen Harmston, 15, was fatally injured Sunday night when struck by an automobile as she walked alongside a road in North York township. Sixteen year old Vern Letts of Windsor, died an hour after he was struck down by a ten-ton truck while cycling on the outskirts of Windsor Sunday night. The truck was driven by Albert Bowen, Windsor.

Austen Humphrey, 25, St. George, was killed when struck by an automobile as he walked along the highway near Brantford with his bicycle Saturday night. Driver of the car, Edward Bowden, Brantford, was charged with reckless driving.

Harry Goldfinch, 25, employed on a farm near Orangeville, Dufferin County, died of injuries suffered Saturday night when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a parked car near Orangeville.

Aubrey Nairn, 17, of St. Marys, died in hospital early Sunday after being struck by an automobile driven by Max Melville, St. Marys. Five-year-old Robert Player of Yarmouth district, near St. Thomas, died on Sunday of injuries received Saturday when he fell 20 feet through a hay chute to the floor of his father's barn.

At Smiths Falls, the body of Mrs. W. A. Code, missing from her home since Friday, was found Sunday in the Rideau Canal by searchers with grappling irons.

At London, George Perrin, 49, Woodgreen district farmer, died Sunday night of injuries received two weeks ago when he jumped from the mow of his barn to the floor and was impaled on a pitchfork.

SUGAR REFINERY SOLD

J. McGregor Stewart, President of Acadia Refining Company, announced Monday the sale of the $3,000,000 Halifax concern to the Anglo-Dutch Refining of Toronto.

The change of ownership goes into effect October 31, with the Toronto firm purchasing all assets of Acadia, paying 1-2 of the $3,000,000 in cash and 1-2 in 6 per cent 15-year debentures.

25th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

On Saturday evening, September 23 Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott were taken completely by surprise when over seventy-five of their friends gathered at their home to celebrate with them the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. Mr. Sandy McCurdy was master of ceremonies in his usual efficient manner. The program got off to a good start when Mrs. Morley Haggerty led the gathering in lively community singing.

The Misses Jean and Muriel Thompson contributed a piano duet; Mr. Gerald Clancy of Wellman's delighted with a solo; The Misses Irene and Marguerite Elliott gave a duet; Miss Ruth Clancy gave a solo, Miss Jean Thompson read the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of their wedding.

Dear Friends:

May we commence this tribute to you with the following poem:

When it comes to a question of trusting Yourself to the risks of the road,
When the thing is the sharing of burdens,

The lifting of the half of the load.
In the hour of peril or trial.
In the hour you meet as you can

You may safely depend on the wisdom
And skill of the average man.
'Tis the average man and no other

Who does his plain duty each day,
The small thing his wage is for doing

On the commonplace bit of the way.
'Tis the average man, may God bless him,

Who pilots us still in the van,
Over land, over sea as we travel,
Just the plain hardy, average man.

So on through the days of existence
All mingling in shadow and shine,
We may count on the every day hero,
Whom happily the gods make divine.

But who wears the swarthy grime of his calling,
And labours and earts as he can,
And stands at the last with the noblest

The commonplace average man,
These sentiments are doubled in this case to include the average man's wife who has for these twenty-five years helped her husband to build an average home. And the sum of these homes constitutes that which is so dear to all our hearts, our British democracy. Let us in closing simply say Tom and Helen "you've done well."

We ask you to accept these gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott were presented with a cabinet of silver, casserole, table, mirror, tea set and silver salt and pepper set.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Elliott made suitable replies and appreciated very much the kindness shown them by their friends. Short speeches were also given by Mrs. Clayton Hagerman, Mrs. R. Haggerty, Messrs. George Pollard, Fred Elliott, Morley Haggerty, and Sam Elliott.

Friends were present from Stirling, Holloway, Belleville, Moira, West Huntingdon, and Rawdon. At the conclusion a lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott are valued citizens of West Huntingdon and they all join in wishing them both many years of happy married life.

RADIO RANGE STATION

Mount Pleasant, in Rawdon Township, is to have a Radio Range Station and work will be commenced at an early date as the tenders for construction close Wednesday noon.

The station will be erected on the farm of Mr. John Johnson, who resides near Mount Pleasant United Church and Hall, on the Hoard's to Stirling Highway. It is understood the station will be situated half way between the third and fourth concessions of Rawdon.

The plans call for the construction of two radio living quarters, a remote control building, a double garage, radio range building, antennae tower bases, and counterpoise footings together with the sinking of a well, with a pump vault, and the construction of an entrance road and turning circle.

NEW YORK FIRM BUYS DICKENS MANUSCRIPT

The autographed manuscript of "The Life of Our Lord," which Chas. Dickens wrote for his children, was sold at Sotheby's auction rooms July 25th for 1,400 pounds to the New York firm of A. S. W. Rosenbach.

The manuscript was not known outside the Dickens family until after the passing of Sir Henry Dickens, the author's son, in 1933.

There are at the present time 25 of the Dominion Experimental Farms on which poultry work is an important project, and approximately 255 illustration and sub-stations are breeding high production lines of poultry from these farms and distributing them to the surrounding districts.

WINNING PLOWMEN TO VISIT OLD LAND; SALADA TEA COMPANY DONATES

A new feature of the International Plowing Match which will be held at Brockville this year, is the Trans-Atlantic Class, sponsored by Salada Tea Company. As a result of the generous contribution of that company, the Plowmen's Association plans for the first time in its history, to send Canadian representatives overseas to compete in matches in the British Isles. Consequently, much new interest has been aroused among farmers throughout the Province. In addition to the trip and Gold and Silver medals to the two Trans-Atlantic winners, Salada is donating 12 cash prizes for this event totalling $150.00.

Furthermore, branches throughout the Province will each have a Salada Special event, the first prize being $10.00 in cash and the right to compete at the subsequent International Match.

MORE PROTECTION FOR PETERBORO PLANT

Attorney General Gordon Conant, stated last week additional protection had been ordered for the Auburn Power Plant within the city limits of Peterborough. Mr. Conant is inspecting power plants in connection with anti-sabotage plans.

Barbed wire barricades and some construction work will be undertaken, he said. Later, in company with John M. Dymond of the Ontario Hydro Power Commission Engineering Department, Mr. Conant left for other parts of Eastern Ontario.

Patronize the home printing plant, and keep your money at home where it belongs.

R. A. F. RECONNOITRES OVER BERLIN

The British Air Ministry announced made a reconnaissance flight over Berlin Monday that British planes have in at night.

Making the announcement of the first British flight over the German capital, the Air Ministry said:

"Successful air reconnaissances by day and by night have again been carried out over Germany by the R. A. F."

"The night reconnaissance included Berlin and Potsdam."

Potsdam is the site of the former Kaisers' palace.

FISH

SALMON SANDWICH DE LUXE

Remove bones and flake one small can of salmon. Mix with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 4 tablespoons mayonnaise, seasonings. Spread generously between bread slices; spread outside of each sandwich with melted butter. Toast on both sides under low broiler heat until brown. Four over the sandwich a sauce made of melted cheese.

POTATO AND FISH CASSEROLE

Flake one pound of canned or cooked fish and place in casserole. Slowly melt 1/2 lb. cheese in double boiler; stir in 1/2 cup milk. Pour this over the fish. Cover the mixture with mashed cooked potato, and line the rim of the casserole with uncooked biscuits. Bake in hot (425°) oven until biscuits are done.

There are so many delicious varieties of Canadian FISH available all the year round, no matter where you live, that you can add pleasing new dishes to the family menus.

And remember, Fish is nourishing, and is easily digested. Ask your dealer about the different kinds of Fish he can get for you, and arrange to serve Fish to your family often.

HITLER AS EXAMPLE IN TRUTH TELLING

The insistence of the German High Command in claiming imaginary victories over British ships, despite the official denials in the British House of Commons, need not after all surprise anybody who has been following Hitler's public declarations since he came to power. Look at these pious affirmations uttered by the Fuehrer over a period of five years:

"When has the German people ever broken its word?"—November, 1934.
"Wars of revenge are out of date. In the old days a deliberate maker of war may have been a patriot; today he is a traitor, leading his people in the valley of the shadow of death. . . . Nobody in this Germany, nobody in this unified and disciplined State wants war. Moreover, nobody here will ever take any step to cause war."—May, 1935.

"Germany will never break the peace of Europe. After three years I can regard the struggle for German equality as concluded today. We have no territorial demands to make in Europe."—March, 1936.

"Germany is an island of peace."—October, 1937.

"Germany wants only peace. She does not want to add to the sorrows of other nations."—March, 1938.

"All we want is peace and our right to live, and for our people the chance to work."—November, 1938.
"Only the warmongers think there will be a war. I think there will be a long period of peace."—January, 1939.

When you stop to ponder the thoroughness with which Hitler has kept his pledged word, it is any wonder that the chief amusement of the German High Command today consists of sinking, in their imagination, British warships they did not even hit in the North Sea.—Montreal Star.

SENATOR'S SON BEATEN AND ROBBED

Fulford Hardy, son of Senator A. C. Hardy, of Brockville, was beaten and robbed by two men who entered his apartment at Hamilton early Monday. The police have detained two persons in connection with the attack.

Mr. Hardy, who operates a Hamilton radio station, told police that when he answered a knock on the door of his apartment two men rushed in shouting "This is the law."

He said they then attacked him and threw him to the floor, tying his hands and feet with a belt, a necktie and a sweater.

The men then ransacked the apartment, gathering up razors, cigarette lighters, pens and cash. They also took directions for operation of a photo electric cell.

When the men left, Mr. Hardy struggled free of his bonds and called to soldiers on sentry duty on adjacent James street. The soldiers called police. Two men later were taken into custody. Police said some of Mr. Hardy's property was recovered.

MINING IN ARIZONA

Mining in Arizona has already felt stimulation as a result of wartime demand, or at least of wartime excitement.

It is estimated that 500 additional men have found work in the State's copper mines and smelters since the price of red metal rose to the 12-cent level, and a general advance in wages is expected. At Douglas the Phelps Dodge Corporation fired up another smelter furnace, increased its force from 850 to 950. This called for corresponding increases in the mines at Bisbee and Ajo, which supply the Douglas plant with ore.

Managers of the large copper mines at Miami, Ray, Superior and Jerome admit that they are expanding but are unwilling to say too much about it for fear of starting a rush of unemployed to the camps.

MEETING OF JUNIOR W. A.

The second fall meeting of the Girls' Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's Church was held at the home of Mrs. Hart on Monday, October 2nd. Devotional service was conducted by Rev. Pepper.

After the business meeting when plans were discussed for a rummage sale, delightful refreshments were served by Mrs. Hart, a piano solo was rendered by Eleanor Aylesworth. The next meeting will be held on October 16th at the home of Mrs. Bonny.

Moving vans lumbered about Toronto Monday, picking up where they left off at midnight Saturday in the greatest mass moving in the city in ten years. Moving firms said the number of families changing residence would run into several thousands.

TRAFFIC OFFICER KILLED IN CRASH

Provincial Officer Fred R. Blucher was fatally injured Saturday night when his motorcycle collided with an automobile, believed to have been out of control on the Middle Road at the third line, Dixie. He died a few minutes after admittance to St. Joseph's Hospital. The 32 year old officer, a member of the Provincial Force for the past ten years, was thrown into the side of the car, receiving severe internal injuries.

Alfred H. Fonger, 33, of Glen Cedar Avenue, York Township, was arrested by Provincial Officer J. J. Palmer and charged with manslaughter. He was later released on $3,000 bail and will appear in Port Credit Police Court.

Blucher's death was the only traffic fatality recorded in the Toronto suburban area over the week-end, but there were numerous minor accidents and a number of victims were given hospital treatment.

FAMOUS CARDINAL MUNDELEIN DIES VERY SUDDENLY

George Cardinal Mundelein, 67, Archbishop of Chicago, died suddenly Monday.

He was found dead in his bed at his residence in Mundelein, Ill., by Mgr. Patrick Hayes. Father Hayes had gone to the Cardinal's room to call him when the Prelate did not appear for his customary morning devotions.

The Cardinal, who won wide notice for building the Chicago Diocese into one of the largest and wealthiest in the world, was regarded as in "perfect health" as late as Sunday.

The Diocesan Office said he had worked at his duties Saturday and said Mass Sunday at the Seminary in Mundelein.

PEACE MOVE BY ITALY UNLIKELY, SAY INFORMED ITALIAN QUARTERS

Well informed Italian quarters said Tuesday that it was unlikely that Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano's conversations with Adolf Hitler would lead to any immediate peace move on Italy's part.

They said the Italian Government would not lend itself to a futile gesture which promised no success under present conditions.

In Italian quarters the next move was expected to come from Hitler. An authoritative source said Italy would still seek to limit the war by every possible means, while watching for a practicable opportunity to promote peace. This policy, the source said, was based on the conviction that in a prolonged war the most likely winner would be Bolshevism.

DANISH FREIGHTERS TAKEN TO GERMAN PORT

German warships seized three Danish freighters in the Kattegat and took them to a German port, according to a report from the lightship at Laeso Island.

The Kattegat is a stretch of sea between Denmark and Sweden.

Word from the lightship said German destroyers could be seen plainly as they took the steamships Riota, Diana and Lyneae.

RUMANIAN TOWN PUTS ON ITS CAMOUFLAGE

Private houses in Arad, Rumania, must be painted khaki color before the week-end to comply with local air raid precautions, authorities announced. Fences are to be coated with a special shade of green.

Frame houses must be impregnated with chemicals making them non-inflammable. First aid kits and gas masks must be in every home. Quick growing trees are to be planted around all buildings.

"Council Standard" RIB-ROLL or Tite-Lap Roofing is being widely used for houses. It is permanent, fireproof, weatherproof—requires minimum upkeep. Write for our new free book, "House Tops".

HIGH SCHOOL RUGBY

Tweed and Madoc High Schools opened the Rugby season on the Tweed gridiron on Thursday. The Madocers who fielded practically the same team as last year, outclassed Tweed, 18 to 11.

Madoc opened the scoring early in the first quarter when McCoy carried the ball over Tweed's goal line for a major score. Tweed, who favored the aerial route for their gains tied the score on a run of forty yards by Courneyea and two forward passes. B. Hawthorne scored Madoc's second touchdown in the second quarter on a series of bucks to make the score 10 to 5. Madoc picked up their remaining points by kicking singles.

Courneyea, who scored both of Tweed's touchdowns, played a bang up game, as did G. Wagar, Porritt and Luffman. The home team showed some excellent tackling with Connor and Rivers especially effective. Stewart, Munro, and Harris turned in nice efforts for Madoc.

Leut. Donald Whytock and Mr. Thomas Calnan of Tweed, acted as referees and G. Moon was head-linesman.

Madoc: Snap, Phillips; insides, Mc-Bain and Scott; middles, White, T. Hawthorne; ends, Keller, Downey; flying wing, McCoy; quarter, Munro; halves, Stewart, Harris; full back, W. Hawthorne; subs., Harrison, O'Riordan, Demille, Armstrong and Ellis.

Tweed: Snap, Connor; insides, Meagher, Price; middles, Langevin, McCrea; ends, J. Wagar, Rivers; flying wing, Porritt; quarter, G. Wagar; halves, Luffman and Courneyea; full back, Cassidy, subs., Vance, McTaggart and Doyle.

OBITUARY

ROBERT McCAMON CLARE

After a brief illness Robert McCamon Clare, postmaster at Roslin, passed away in the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday, October 3rd.

The late Mr. Clare, who was in his 58th year, was born in Hungerford Township, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. James Clare. Most of his life was passed in the Province of Saskatchewan, and for the past two years he resided in Roslin. In the community he was highly esteemed and to many friends and acquaintances his death has brought sincere feelings of regret. In religion Mr. Clare was a member of the Anglican Church at Roslin, and fraternally he was a member of the Masonic Order at Loverna, Sask.

Surviving him are his wife, who prior to her marriage was Miss Pearl Corrigan; one sister, Mrs. W. E. Gartley of Belleville; three brothers, Rev. David R. Clare of Port Credit, Ont., Dr. Harvey Clare of Guelph; and Mr. Wilmot Clare of Thurlow Township.

The funeral will take place from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, on Thursday afternoon, October 5th. Service in the chapel at 2 o'clock. Interment in Tweed cemetery.

The late Mr. Clare was a nephew of Mrs. A. Corrigan, who is in attendance at the funeral today.

NEW POST OFFICE AT STIRLING IS OPENED MONDAY

One of the finest additions to the village of Stirling is the new Post Office building recently completed and opened for public service on Monday morning, October 2nd. Situated on the south-west corner at the intersection of highway No. 14 and Charlotte Street, it is regarded as the village most attractive office building with all the latest equipment to meet the district in the fastest and most efficient manner. The interior of the building houses storerooms, sorting rooms for use by the rural mail carriers as they prepare the routes' distribution. These rooms are in the basement with a central doorway leading to a gravel driveway at the rear of the building. Couriers therefore can now arrange their loads without congesting. Sorting cases and paper sorting racks will be added to the equipment of this department within a few days.

"If we do not win this war on the banks of the Rhine, we are going to have to fight it on the banks of the St. Lawrence, in the Indies and on the Mississippi," Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen in a fervent appeal for united Canadian effort told the Senate recently.

STIRLING MOTORIST COLLIDES WITH TREE

When it is believed the driver fell asleep, a motor car driven by Robert Hutton, of Stirling, crashed into a large tree and was demolished at the foot of Boardman's Hill, Highway No. 14, last Sunday night. Hutton sustained severe cuts and lacerations and a fractured nose. He was attended by Dr. Pedley in Stirling.

Hutton was proceeding north when his car left the highway and crashed into a large elm tree. The force of the impact dislodged the engine, driving it back into a position near the front seat. The driver was taken into Stirling by a passing motorist, who later informed Motorcycle Patrolman Sam Irvine. He reported after his investigation that the driver had sustained multiple cuts and facial lacerations and was suffering from loss of blood as well as the broken nose. Charges of careless driving are pending, the officer revealed.

MEDICAL STUDENTS URGED TO COMPLETE COLLEGE COURSES

Completion of their college course was urged upon McGill University medical students Tuesday night by Dr. Wilder G. Penfield, head of the Montreal Neurological Institute.

"The country cannot afford to allow her medical schools to decrease the normal supply of doctors to lower their standards of instruction," he said in an address before the McGill Undergraduates Society.

Mr. Douglas Caley of Eldorado, spent a few days in Toronto attending the Old Boys' Banquet of Pickering College, and in London, visiting Mr. Glen Hoffman, formerly of P.C.V.I. He spent the remainder of the week with his mother, Mrs. W. Caley and sister, Mildred, in Bloomfield.

SUB IS SIGHTED NEAR MAINE COAST FISHERMEN STATE

Sighting of an unidentified submarine nine miles southwest of Matinicus Island, off the Maine coast, was reported Thursday by the crew of the fishing schooner Richard S.

Coast Guards of the White Head Station began a patrol of the sea.

The undersea craft was seen by the fishermen late Thursday.

Matinicus Island is 20 miles south-east of Rockland, Me.

The Fish Hatchery in Thurlow Township, near Belleville, has been closed, according to Inspector Herb McCabe. Hatching operations formerly carried on at Belleville will be transferred to Glenora.

FIFTEEN KILLED BY EXPLOSION

The British Ministry of Supply announced that 15 persons were killed Thursday by an explosion in a munitions factory somewhere in the north of Great Britain.

The location of the factory was not disclosed beyond the fact that it was in the north.

Four other persons were injured.

A communique was issued by the Ministry which said: "The Ministry of Supply regrets to announce that at one of the northern explosive factories an explosion took place this afternoon involving the loss as far as can be ascertained of 15 lives."

"Four persons were also injured."

"The material damage will not seriously interfere with production."

ONTARIO MAY BECOME ARSENAL OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE

Ontario, with its huge manufacturing plants and unlimited natural resources, may well become the arsenal for the British Empire, Premier Hepburn said in an address before 200 manufacturers, merchants and civic officials at Brantford Monday night.

"British industry may be destroyed overnight if Germany smashes through Belgium with her great air strength," declared Mr. Hepburn. "But Canada and Ontario, situated strategically as it is in the heart of the Dominion, is ready."

The Premier declared that resources committee, comprising himself, Lieut.-Governor Albert Matthews, and Conservative Leader George Drew, is prepared to go to Ottawa at any time to confer with Dominion officials regarding this objective.

"And when we get some idea of what we can do, it is proposed to call a meeting of industrialists of other provinces and carry on with their assistance."

Premier Hepburn said establishment of Ontario's industrial independence in wartime and maintaining for the Empire valuable sources of production in steel had been effected in part by development of the lignite fields of Northern Ontario.

This development had opened up and area which had unlimited supplies of coal, he said.

The Premier said threat of an attack on Canada from the Pacific was as real as it was on the Atlantic. Millions of men from the conquered sections of China were ready to join with the Japanese for the "yellow conquest of the Pacific."

"The province is now prepared to take on a warlike atmosphere in defence of freedom and liberty. We still value human life and liberty above everything else and we must stand shoulder to shoulder, preparing to make any sacrifice to bring peace, harmony and justice once more to this troubled old world."

CANADIAN SOLDIER TO BE COMFORTABLE IN NEW ISSUE OF KHAKI UNIFORM

The Canadian soldier of 1939 will be more comfortable and have fewer worries about his personal appearance than the soldier of 1914.

This became clear on Saturday as the first samples of the new khaki service uniform were displayed at the Department of National Defence, Ottawa. Infantrymen will look more like civilian skiers or marines.

The main items in the outfit are a pair of high-waisted, roomy trousers and a wide-sleeved blouse which replaces the old tight-fitting tunic. On his ankles the new soldier will wear six inch canvas gaiters in place of the old style puttees, and on his head a wedge-shaped forage cap in place of the old stiff kepi.

The complete absence of brass buttons from the new uniform should bring whoops of joy from men who know something of soldiering in the old fashioned uniforms.

No more will men exercise their arms at night polishing buttons or struggle with long coils of puttees as reveille sounds in the morning.

Trousers will be worn with gaiters on duty but may be worn without, and as ordinary slacks when off duty. The bottoms are fitted with tabs and buttons on the inside which enable them to be buttoned tightly about the ankles for the gaiters or opened up loose for use without gaiters.

The new uniform is well supplied with pockets. The blouse has two large ones, and in addition to the usual side and hip pockets the trousers have two on the thighs. On the left thigh is a large flat pocket in which the cap may be carried while the steel helmet is worn on active service. On the right thigh is a smaller pocket to hold the field dressing kit.

Contracts have been let for the manufacture of the new garments in Canadian factories and they will be issued to the troops as fast as they can be delivered.

Officers uniforms in the Canadian Active Service Force will be of the same pattern as those of the men in the ranks.

POLISH SUB ENTERS SWEDISH WATERS AND SURRENDERS

A third Polish submarine, the 980-ton Zbik, entered Swedish territorial waters on Monday and surrendered to the Swedish Government.

The submarine with five officers and a crew of 49 aboard, was sighted by the Coast Patrol which sent out a ship assuming it might be the Polish submarine that escaped from Tallinn, Estonia.

Members of the crew said they had been at sea 26 days without fresh food and subsisting on emergency rations.

THE CANADIAN PRESS PROVIDES CBC WITH NEWS BULLETINS

The Canadian Press, Co-operative News Association of Canada's daily newspapers, Monday began providing to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation four 15-minute news bulletins daily for each of five regions across Canada. The bulletins are put on the air morning, noon, mid-evening and at night.

The day and night service marks the final development in Canadian Press news on the air from the time when a national night bulletin was first made available to the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission in July, 1933. It replaces the daytime bulletins provided to the telegraph companies for the last three years for distribution to individual radio stations as a stop-gap arrangement until CBC went on the air in the daytime hours.

The news bulletin service is made available to the CBC without charge, as in the national interest, as were the stop-gap daytime bulletins provided to the telegraph companies. By arrangement the CBC reimburses the Canadian Press for the expenses of compilation, which is done at Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

The bulletins are available to all CBC network stations. To other Canadian stations, the bulletins are available at cost only of the cut-in on the CBC network or the extension of the network to the individual station from the closest CBC station.

BRITAIN TO PRODUCE 3,000 AIRMEN A MONTH

Part of the raw material which Britain hopes will produce 3,000 airmen a month to cope with German fliers is being put in shape at Royal Air Force ground schools.

The 1,000 boys in one camp have been there nine days, coming from all over the Empire. Among them are English, Irish, Scots, Canadians, Australians, and New Zealanders. The average age is between 21 and 22 but they look much younger. The camp is under the command of Air Commodore A. C. Critchley, formerly of Calgary.

"The Royal Air Force is getting the cream of the crop just as the Navy did in the old days," one officer said. "As soon as we can teach them technique and break them of their movie ideas about the Air Force we will have the finest pilots; gunners and ground men in the world."

They emphasize discipline at this school and for a very good reason.

"The movies have fed these kids on a 'Dawn Patrol' idea of the Air Force," said the officer. "It was like that in the last war—single combat and trips to Paris. Drinking bouts all night and a dawn flight bombing enemy troops and ammunition dumps."

ALL FOREIGN SECURITIES MUST BE PAID FOR IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE

An amendment to the order-in-council creating the Foreign Exchange Control Board, designed to make sure all foreign securities sold or transferred by a Canadian resident to a non-resident are paid for in Foreign Exchange unless the Board otherwise provides, was announced Monday night by Finance Minister Ralston.

Even though a non-resident buyer of foreign securities from a resident of Canada is able to pay for them with Canadian dollars, the amendment provides that payment must be in Foreign Exchange unless the Board grants a permit to the seller to take Canadian funds.

The amendment, effective on and from September 26, 1939, adds the following subsection 2 to section 17 of the order.

"(2) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this order, no foreign securities may be sold or transferred by a resident to a non-resident otherwise than for payment in Foreign Exchange or unless the Board otherwise provides."

VETERAN OPERATOR HAS FINE RECORD

More than 2,000,000 messages handled without a major error. That's the proud record of A. Robinson, telegraph operator of the Canadian National Railways at the Winnipeg grain exchange, who recently, at the age of 65, retired on pension after more than 25 years service with the company. His retirement ends a complete century of railroad work in the family. Mr. Robinson was born in Clitheroe, Lancashire, England. His grandfather started railroad work in England in 1839 and later served with the old Grand Trunk in Montreal. Then followed his father, who died while in railway service.

R. A. F. PHOTOGRAPHS SIEGFRIED LINE, PILOTS FLY AS LOW AS 600 FEET

The British Air Ministry reported Saturday that photographs were snapped by Royal Air Force pilots flying along Germany's Siegfried line at a height of 600 feet have provided British headquarters in France with close-ups of gun emplacements, camouflage and communication lines along the western wall.

None of the British planes was attacked by German anti-aircraft guns or pursuit planes and the Air Ministry said the machines may have been mistaken for German aircraft by the German garrison. In one case, it said, Germans working on camouflage, "stopped working, looked up and waved in greeting."

The flight crossed and recrossed the frontier, building up a series of photographs of the German defences and stores in the area beyond the Siegfried line, the ministry said.

An earlier reconnaissance flight flew over the line at about 21,000 feet but heavy banks of clouds made photography difficult at this height. These aircraft were spotted by German anti-aircraft batteries which opened fire.

Despite anti-aircraft gunning, which the Air Ministry called very accurate the second flight managed to photograph huge expanses of country beyond the Siegfried line. These pictures were added to the other more detailed ones of the line taken at the lower altitude.

WARSAW GAVE UP ONLY AFTER IT HAD BECOME CITY OF RUIN, TRAGEDY

Except for strange, sputtered signals, the wavelength of the Warsaw radio was silent on Friday.

Apparently the station's epic tale was told, ended on the same note it struck during the 20 days it told the outside world of the German siege.

Its last message, broadcast at 3 p. m. (9 a.m. EST) Thursday, was a new challenge to the besiegers: "We will never give in while one of us is alive."

But Thursday night the Polish Telegraph Agency carried a dispatch, dated Warsaw, which indicated the defence of the Polish capital had been abandoned.

German announcements said the city had capitulated unconditionally and would surrender formally Friday. From the picture painted by the radio announcers and by a Polish army flier who escaped through a barrage of German shells, Warsaw gave up only after it had become a city of ruin and tragedy.

BARN IS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

A severe electrical storm swept parts of Prince Edward County on Friday morning. A barn near Cherry Valley owned by Steven Oseida, was struck and burned. Mr. Oseida had left the building only a short time before the building was struck. All the season's grain and hay was lost and several pigs. A number of horses and cows were saved.

In a few sections, hail fell, doing some damage. Other sections experienced no rain at all.

In Picton the rain fell heavily until ten o'clock and it was feared the last day of the fair would have to be cancelled but it cleared up and the track which was sodden in the morning, dried up and was in good enough condition to permit Lastie Grattan to set a new record.

HOBOS PAY FARE FOR STOLEN RIDES

That hoboes in the west have a sense of honor was indicated when a group of them sent to the agent of the Canadian National Railways at Kamloops, B. C., the sum of $20, as conscience money for rides stolen on freight trains. The hoboes did not give their names.

Winnipeg officials of the railway stated that the incident used to occur frequently in the past but has not been known to happen during the past few years.

RAILROAD PORTER LEADS DOUBLE LIFE

Porter by night and stellar inside wing by day is the "double life" led by Bob Jackson, Canadian National Railways sleeping car porter and lineman with the Regina "Roughriders" rugby team. From the realm of gridiron punts and passes, Jackson steps into the role of C. N. R. porter, earning his daily bread on occasions when travelling with his team mates to play a match. Frequently he makes up their berths to the accompaniment of good-humored chaff.

ONTARIO POTATOES OF BETTER QUALITY

"The quality of the Ontario potato crop is much better than last year. Better seed has been used in all potato growing districts of the province and growing conditions have been more favorable, particularly in the last two weeks," states J. T. Cassin, potato expert of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, who has just completed an extensive tour of provincial potato fields.

During June and July the moisture supply was not sufficient to produce a heavy crop of early potatoes. The old crop was completely cleaned up and there was a strong demand all over the Province for new potatoes. This resulted in steady prices and there was no glut or surplus.

Mr. Cassin believes the intermediate crop, now in the process of digging, will have a steady demand until late potatoes are available. There has been no change in acreage from last year, he states.

"A number of growers and farmers were careless last year. They didn't plant certified seed and they didn't spray as carefully as they should. This, of course, resulted in poor and diseased crops. However, it taught them a lesson and this year," said Mr. Cassin, "they planted certified seed and as a result there is little disease."

He warned that there is danger of late blight and advises that plants should be well-covered with Bordeaux mixture, especially in wet, rainy periods.

NORTH TO SHIP WOOD SOUTH

Northern Ontario hardwood likely will be sent to Southern Ontario this winter as a fuel for families on relief, E. A. Horton, Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs, told North Ontario relief supervisors at a meeting at North Bay Monday. This project is in line with the Government's policy of conservation and is a war emergency measure.

The supervisors were told to find out how many men in their districts are available for bush work and what quantity of hardwood timber is at hand. The operations will be on a small scale at first and, if found satisfactory and war conditions warrant it, the operations will be widened considerably. The project will be under the supervision of the Department of Municipal Affairs.

"HELLO AUNTIE" says JIMMY W. WALSH

"This is Jimmy and I'm fine, thank you..." and so James W. Walsh, aged 8, starts one of his many telephone chats with his Aunt in Strathroy.
"Once my husband preferred to go in town to see people—but now does all that on the telephone," says Mrs. Walsh. For $2.05 a month the Walshs have a private line, occasionally call a brother in Toronto on Long Distance. "It came in mighty handy last winter when my mother was sick several times."

No farm should be without a telephone. It's "mighty handy" to call relations and neighbours—and quick aid if need be!

The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of Union and Eldorado was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Comerford with thirteen in attendance, including visitors. The president, Mrs. F. J. Nickle, was in charge and opened the meeting by singing hymn No. 388, using the last two verses as a prayer.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and found correct. The treasurer's report showed a total of $18.61 on hand as read. This report was accepted.

Flower fund amounted to 29 cents. Offering $1.29. Mrs. Clayton Blackburn was appointed delegate to attend the Rally.

The roll call was responded to by paying Missionary Monthly fee. The worship service was in charge of Mrs. Cecil Blackburn and opened with a reading by Mrs. Clayton Blackburn followed by all singing Hymn No. 26. A Thanksgiving Psalm was read, and the Bible lesson from Isaiah 40:1-5; 42:5-7, 49:5-6 was read by Annie Holmes. The offering was then received by little John McCreary and the offertory prayer was given by Mrs. Cecil Blackburn. The new Study Book "Moving Millions" was then introduced and the first chapter outlined by Mrs. Arthur Robinson which was very interesting. Mrs. Bert McCarey then sang "Just a little help from you." A splendid report was given by Mrs. Arthur McCreary of the evening meeting of the Conference held at Belleville. Mrs. A. Empey was the convener for this programme. The meeting closed by all singing a hymn and prayer by Rev. G. Crabbe. Lunch was served and a social half hour enjoyed.

A vote of thanks was moved the hostess, and also many happy returns was given Mr. Comerford who was celebrating his seventy-sixth birthday the same day.

ITALY TAXES ALL BUSINESS

The Italian cabinet, meeting with Premier Mussolini Saturday, voted new taxes to meet Italy's unbalanced budget and "new military expenses caused by the international situation."

A levy of one-half of one per cent on private property was approved together with a two-per cent tax on general business turnover.

The property tax is to be levied on all real estate, goods and securities of all types, except bank deposits and personal clothing, owned by all persons, companies, corporations, and societies over the amount of 10,000 lire (about $500).

Churches and scientific and artistic collections are exempt.

The business turnover tax is a flat two per cent levy on the gross income from all business transactions and rebates and substitutes for the present exchange tax.

The Fascist press spokesman, Virginio Gayda, hailed the higher taxes as a step in Fascism's progress.

"Italian taxpayers understand the necessity," he wrote in a Giornale d'Italia article.

"Exasperating taxes are now common in all states of the world of every latitude and regime. The only difference is the diversity of their employment and yield. The Italian taxpayer knows his growing tax burden corresponds with the constant ascension of conquests and collective responsibilities."

LINER MANHATTAN DOCKS AT NEW YORK

The United States liner Manhattan carrying 1868 passengers, docked on Saturday at New York after an uneventful voyage from Southampton, and Le Verdon, France.

Daniel Moriarty, representing the Stewards' Union on the Manhattan, said the stewards nearly "mutinied" at Southampton when they were not allowed to go ashore at first to get gas masks. They were afraid of an air raid, he said, and the nearest shelter lay 200 yards away.

Finally, he said, they got word to the military commandant at Southampton and they were allowed ashore.

He also declared the military commandant told him the stewards of the Manhattan, most of whom are German by birth but naturalized Americans, would be interned the next time the ship docks there as Germany has interned British subjects of German birth.

Passengers included Lord Beaverbrook, the publisher, and Arturo Toscanini, orchestra conductor.

Fanny Ward, former actress, said she was not going to be caught in a state of undress if a submarine attacked. So she purchased three one-piece aviation suits with zippers and slept in one of them on deck.

An air raid alarm, sounded in Paris at 11.22 a.m. and ended 33 minutes later when the all-clear signal was heard.

For the first time since September

Canada's first division in the second Great War will consist of complete units chosen from the non-permanent active militia of Canada and the list of the units selected will be announced later.

In a statement amplifying previous announcements relating to the overseas division, Defence Minister Rogers said all parts of Canada would be represented in the division, and so far as possible in the division, and so according to population.

"The Canadian active service force which is now under arms includes a reserve force of two divisions with a quota of ancillary troops, said Mr. Rogers. "From this force one division will be sent overseas when required and a second division will be kept under arms as a further measure of preparedness."

"Arrangements are also being made to send abroad certain technical units from the ancillary troops which have been mobilized. It is proposed that these will eventually form part of the overseas force. The actual units to be sent will depend on discussions now in progress with the British government."

CANADA'S TRADE CONVOYED ACROSS

Canada's trans-Atlantic commerce with Great Britain goes on despite the war and, shiploads of vital commodities regularly leave Canadian east-coast ports and arrive safely at their destination.

So far no attack has been reported by a German submarine on convoyed freighters, the U-boats apparently finding it safer to stalk lonely ships.

The movement of convoys was arranged jointly by the Canadian and British destroyers and while British warships escort the merchant ships across the Atlantic, Canadian destroyers take part in the work of forming part of the escort for a certain distance off the Canadian coasts.

Participation of Canadian vessels in the work was announced some time ago in a government statement which said "we are assisting in the protection of departing convoys for a considerable distance from the Canadian coast."

CARDIOGRAM RECORDS HEART ACTION AS MAN PUNISHED FOR CRIME

Two convicted murderers died in the lethal gas chamber at Canon City Colo., and a cardiogram—a record of heart action—showed that one of them died without fear.

Pete Catalina, 41, a pool hall operator convicted of shooting a man in an argument over a 50 cent stack of poker chips, agreed to meet death wearing equipment recording his last heart beats.

Angelo Agnes, 31, Denver negro convicted of slaying his estranged wife, declined to wear the device.

I. D. Price, electrical expert, who operated the heart recording instruments, said Catalina's heart beat appeared strong and even for one minute and ten seconds, then stopped abruptly when he inhaled the poison fumes.

FAVORS BAN ON RED PARTY

Alderman D. A. Balfour, of Toronto, announced Saturday that at Monday's City Council meeting he was going to move that Council petition the Dominion government to ban the Communist Party from Canada.

"I am also going to move that the leaders of the Communist Party in Canada be interned," he said. "This would do away with the Soviet Russia spy system in this country and ban the Communists' contacts with Communist headquarters in New York, where millions of dollars are spent to carry on the destructive work of Communist Russia."

12 GERMAN SUBS SUNK IN MONTH BY TWO FLEETS

An official report that 12 German submarines had been sunk by the British and French Fleets in less than a month was disclosed Saturday.

The President of the Chamber of Deputies Naval Commission, Jean-Michel Renaitour, told the Chamber Friday night British units had sunk 10 U-boats and the French two.

Observers said the rate of destruction was in excess of the rapidity with which Germany could replace submarines and train new personnel.

11, the shrilling of air raid sirens sent Parisians to their bomb shelters.

It was learned later that a French plane, flying high, caused the warning.

Memories of the old time melodrama when kindly folk answered a knocking at the door to find a dimpling baby crowing its discomfort in a basket on the doorstep, were revived in Belleville Friday night when officials of the Belleville General Hospital upon receipt of a mysterious telephone message to the effect "that a baby would be found at the Ambulance Entrance" found the information corroborated by a caller had been uncovered.

ter a handsome baby boy, believed to be from four to six weeks old.

The baby was discovered lying in a basket on the steps near the ambulance entrance, and seemed to be happily oblivious of his plight.

The little fellow was immediately taken into the hospital and given care. "He is a healthy little fellow, was warmly clothed and apparently has received the best of care," Gordon Friesen, hospital administrator, said.

Officials immediately traced the telephone call to a Front street place of business, but no trace of the mysterious caller had been uncovered.

The baby will be placed in the care of T. D. Ruston, Inspector, Children's Aid Society, hospital officials stated. City police are investigating.

FIRE DAMAGES BELLEVILLE BLOCK,

For the second time in a week fire raced through the premises of a Belleville business establishment causing damage estimated at thousands of dollars. And for the second time only the fine work of the Belleville Fire Department prevented what might have been a general conflagration in the main business thoroughfare of the city.

Scarcely had the smouldering embers of what was formerly "Nick's Lunch" Front street restaurant, gutted by fire on Monday morning, cooled off, than fire again launched an attack in the vicinity, flames racing that afternoon through the store rented by Kroch Brothers in the building owned by M. R. Doyle, causing damage to stocks estimated at $8,000 while heavy smoke clouds that seeped through the entire three-storey building and adjacent stores inflicted additional damage said to be in the vicinity of $2,000.

TWO GIRLS HURT IN AUTO SMASH

Miss Mary McKibbin of Point Petre in Prince Edward County, who was in charge of the refreshment booth at The Supertest station at Tweed during the past summer, suffered a fractured back when the auto in which she was driving left the road, on the East Lake road on Thursday last.

Miss Theo Torch, of Sulphide, also a passenger, was quite badly injured.

Miss McKibbin is a cousin of Mr. Robert Wood, while Miss Torch is a daughter of Mr. William Torch of Sulphide. The former will remain in a plaster cast for at least six weeks at Prince Edward County Hospital. Miss Torch's wounds were mostly of a superficial nature.

The girls were alone at the time the accident occurred. Both were hurled through the top of the car for about thirty feet.

They were enroute to East Lake canning factory at the time. The cause of the accident is unknown and the car was badly damaged. The ambulance was called, following the accident and Dr. C. H. Leavens gave medical attention. County Constable Lovelace investigated.

BUND LEADER HELD IN JAIL

Fritz Kuhn, German-American Bund leader, was held in Tombs prison at New York under $50,000 bail to ensure his remaining in the United States to face grand larceny and forgery charges.

Defence lawyers tried to free Kuhn on a habeas corpus writ.

The Bund master was locked up on Friday night after his $5,000 bail on a charge of stealing $14,548 from Bund funds was increased ten fold at the request of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office.

"We have authentic secret information that Kuhn is planning to flee the country and may not be available when his case comes to trial," said an assistant District Attorney, Milton Schilback.

After Judge Cornelius Collins ordered the higher bail, Kuhn tried in vain for four hours to raise the money.

Five Jersey City children, who received gubernatorial approval in lieu of a license to operate a sidewalk lemonade stand during the summer, sent Governor A. Harry Moore $2.50 of their profit to aid less fortunate children.

Invite Them All

Many a non-advertising retailer refrains from advertising because he feels that it is necessary to advertise in a big way and that he is not ready to do that.

To keep back from our newspaper until you are ready to use big space is about as foolish as to keep a child out of school until he had the ability to pass the matriculation examination.

Pull of a Small Advertisement

Beginners in every form of enterprise should go warily; until experience, practice and growing ability warrant their attempting larger things they should proceed in a cautious manner.

Begin with a Small Space

It would pay some retailers to use the Classified Advertisements and small spaces of two or three inches.

Make the Small Advertisements quote Special Merchandise.

Change them frequently. A quick succession of little advertisements, every one of which is alive, will effect sales and attract new customers. The great thing to be afraid of is inertness—a retail store which does not talk to the public by means of newspaper advertisements misses a whole lot of business.

P. E. CANNING FACTORIES ACCEPT ALL GRADES TOMATOES AT PRESENT

With over two million pounds of canned goods cleaned out of warehouses during the past two weeks, canning factory operatives of Prince Edward County are rushing operations to secure as much stock as possible before the annual autumn freeze up occurs.

While the tomato and corn crops have been productive of more than average yield, the small acreage contracted this year will bring the stock of canned goods well below that of other years, it was learned from a reliable source.

At present, all grades of tomatoes are being accepted by factories in an effort to bolster the Autumn supply of canned goods.

SUGAR SUPPLIES WILL BE AMPLE, WAR TIME PRICES BOARD DECLARES

With the Ontario beet sugar crop harvest starting Tuesday, the Alberta crop is to follow, and additional supplies of raw sugar on the way to Canada from abroad, sugar supplies should be adequate, the War Time Prices and Trade Board believes.

Sugar reserves in the hands of Canadian refineries total about 50,000,000 pounds, enough for about 15 days' normal use, the Board, headed by Hector B. McKinnon, declared on Monday night, but the beet sugar crop is expected to be average, about 150,000,000 pounds, and an undetermined amount coming from abroad is expected about the middle of the month.

Present stocks must suffice for the time being, the Board said. "And they will suffice if consumers throughout Canada have the patriotism and the common sense to be content with a sugar supply that is definitely on a day to day basis.

"A buying panic of the Labor Day week-end kind, or a continuance of the undoubted present tendency to hoard may very easily result in an acute (even if temporary) shortage which will be as real as that of recent weeks was unreal and unwarranted," the Board warned.

The buying panic of early September following the outbreak of war had raised sugar disposition in this country 40,000,000 pounds in excess of the corresponding month of last year. To meet the hurried demand on the part of general consumers, and the fruit canning industry's seasonal demand, the Board called upon large industrial users of sugar. The latter responded quickly and the Board obtained an additional 6,000,000 pounds in little more than a week, much of it from concerns which had bought and stored their supplies before the war started.

The Canadian Government has arranged with British authorities for ample supplies of raw sugar for the coming year, the Board said, assuring normal requirements for Canadian refineries at least until August 31, 1940.

"Refining will proceed on a normal basis; distribution will be without serious delay or dislocation; it remains only to hope that purchasing by consumers will follow its wanted peacetime course and that the inclination to tick away against a fancied period of famine will, in the national interest, be resisted," the Board concluded.

AUTUMN TIPS FOR MOTORISTS

1. Because of earlier darkness, accidents involving motor vehicles increase greatly in October over July and August. Make sure headlights are properly focussed and burning brightly. Reflectors should be cleaned and dim bulbs replaced. Be sure and use long-life Canadian-made lamps.

2. Brakes should be checked now after the summer's heavy driving. At 40 miles an hour, a car cannot be stopped under 115 feet. Have the car wheels "pulled" to assure proper check.

3. A good anti-freeze is an economy, not an expense. Many cases of freeze-up, causing costly repairs, are due to motorists thinking they were protected. But boil-away types of antifreezes evaporate on warm days, leaving the radiator not sufficiently protected when cold weather comes again. The permanent type of anti-freeze keeps at full strength all winter long. A popular brand has been considerably reduced in price this autumn.

4. Old, worn tires are dangerous on rainy Autumn days and particularly on icy pavements. For safety's sake, they should be replaced now.

5. Nothing cuts down a car's efficiency more than a rust-clogged corroded cooling system. Formerly it was a long, expensive process to clean it out by acids but garages now report a simple, three-step cleaning process which does the work in half an hour at low cost. After having the cooling system cleaned, be sure and use an anti-freeze which contains special rust inhibitors.

BAY ROUTE IN WAR TIME

If conflict should come in Europe, the Hudson Bay route would be of very great value as a shorter and safer route for the shipment of wheat and other supplies to Great Britain. The railway had not been completed nor the port developed at the time of the last war. Now, if the railway, storage and elevator facilities were put to maximum use, many millions of bushels of wheat could be shipped before the end of navigation in October, besides a variety of other supplies. Presumably this is receiving the attention of the government.—Winnipeg Free Press.

FORD BELIEVES WORLD DISARMAMENT WILL COME

Henry Ford said Tuesday he believed world disarmament would come out of the present war.

Ford, who believes there can be no lasting prosperity based upon restricted production, predicted a growth in return to the land.

"That really follows every war," he said in an interview. "Young men come back from war to find there are no jobs. Naturally they turn to the soil."

"I hope to see the day when all the idle land will be taxed heavily enough to force it into use."

"There need be no fear of over-production. There can be no such thing as over production according to the needs of the earth's peoples."

Ford repeated his offer to "find a use for everything you can produce from the soil," and added:

"Some day I'm going to make an automobile body out of wheat."

Ford reiterated his views of the futility of war as a means of settling any economic problem and indicated he had given much study to the events that led up to the present situation in Europe.

"The peoples of Europe have been regimented so long and so severely that they have presented fertile soil for the needs of the war makers—the small group of individuals who profit financially from war," he said. "The war in Europe—what there was of it—is over," Ford said, "and chaos remains. It is a chaos out of which will come world disarmament a thing that every honest thinking person earnestly desires."

RESOURCES BOARD TO BE ORGANIZED

Early organization of the Resources Committee created by one of the war measures passed at the special session of the Ontario Legislature was promised Thursday by Premier Mitchell Hepburn.

Lieut.-Governor Albert Matthews, the Premier and Colonel George Drew, Conservative Opposition leader, form the nucleus of the Committee but Mr. Hepburn indicated that they will proceed almost immediately to add representatives of industry, agriculture and labor to the personnel.

The Premier is communicating with Col. Drew to make arrangements for the first meeting and for the visit to Ottawa which has been postponed until next week at least.

"We want them to get settled down to their job at Ottawa first so when we go there they can tell us what they want us to do in Ontario," Mr. Hepburn explained.

TAKES FIVE STEPS, TEACHER SAVES LIFE

Five steps at the right time saved her life, Miss Beatrice McColeman, public school teacher at Sturgeon Falls, admitted.

She was peeling rhubarb at the kitchen table in the home of Mrs. G. Ramsay Monday night when she stepped to the sink to get some water.

Then a blast from a shotgun crashed through the kitchen door, passed directly over the spot where she had been standing and shattered dishes in the cupboard.

Police suspect that children playing with a gun in the garage next door were responsible. They are continuing the investigation. A shotgun was found on the floor of the garage.

COLD WINTER WITH NO SNOW PREDICTED

Prevailing winds for the next six months will be from a northerly direction, according to the predictions of old timers who, on September 21st cast a weather eye toward the sky, took note of direction of wind, and foresaw a winter of coldness, but no heavy amount of snow.

COCA COLA COMPANY OFFERS SUGAR TO GOVERNMENT

Appreciation of the government has been extended to the Coca Cola Company of Canada, for its gesture in offering to the country a generous supply of its sugar stock, according to an announcement made recently.

Usually carrying a large stock to take care of its normal requirements, the company found itself short of its regular quota but despite this, however, it voluntarily made available to the government a substantial amount of what it had in an effort to relieve the existing shortage.

Among those called to the Ontario bar last week was Miss Bertha E. Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Thompson of Thorold, and granddaughter of the late John H. Thompson, who founded the News-Ar-gus at Stirling sixty-two years ago. Miss Thompson was the only woman in the group presented.

THE FRIENDLY PHILOSOPHER

It must be fine to be a farmer and work in partnership with Nature, says the preacher to me the other day. The trouble with Nature is she's always playing tricks on a feller, I says. For instance, we have to save our seed corn before frost and dry it behind the kitchen stove. And while we're pampering our corn, what's Nature doing? She's putting enough pep into weed seeds so's up they come in the spring and make a full crop no matter whether the corn does or not.

Yessir, Nature sure works funny her wonders to perform, I says; if only she was a smooth working and dependable as an air cell battery, everything would be mighty nice. We farmers need Nature to supply us with rain and sunshine, but all this battery needs is air. No fussing around with expensive recharging when you got an air cell and that's my idea of outdoing Nature, yessir.

NINE LIFELESS BODIES STREWN OVER TRACK

Nine persons, including seven children, were killed Tuesday when a motor car collided with a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train at a level crossing near Toronto.

The crash occurred at a crossing on Brown's line, in Etobicoke Township, immediately west of Toronto when the northbound car ran into the locomotive of the west-bound train. The dead:

Mrs. Gordon Brown, driver of the car, and her daughter, Marion, six. Miss Mildred Taylor, twin sister of Mrs. Brown.

Marion Tibando, 11; Andrew Tibando, 7; Lucy Tibando, 6; Gladys Davis, 11; Verna Davis, 6; Joyce Boyle, 10. Miss Taylor lived in Toronto while families of the other victims live just north of the New Toronto-Hamilton four-lane middle road on Brown's line.

Police said Mrs. Brown apparently stopped her car while an east-bound train passed and started up again unaware of the approach of the west-bound train. The east-bound train is believed to have obscured her view.

Mrs. Brown was driving the children to the Swamp School near the Eaton Farm at Islington. The car was travelling north on Brown's line when the crash occurred, strewn the bodies of its occupants along the right of way for a quarter of a mile.

There was a tenth victim, a pet dog.

BURNING CROSS STIRS MARMORA

Mystery surrounds the burning of a four-foot cross at Marmora on Sunday night.

The cross had been planted on the lawn of the home of Alex. Quinn, at the north end of the village. Mr. Quinn saw it when he investigated a glow on the front window.

Chief P. Grey was summoned and, with the aid of a number of bystanders, put out the fire. Only small portions of the cross were saved. It was constructed of planks nailed together and rags soaked in oil were wrapped around it.

Late Sunday evening, Hugh Young, Marmora, was taken into custody on a nominal charge of vagrancy pending an investigation.

Attracted by the flames, hundreds of people gathered around Mr. Quinn's home.

D.D.P. INSTALLS REBEKAHS AT THOMASBURG

On Tuesday evening, October 10th, Sister Mabel Stocklosar and her installing staff, motored to Thomasburg and installed the officers of Thomasburg Rebekah Lodge in their offices for the coming year. The following from Oakdale Rebekah Lodge were in attendance: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McBain, Mrs. Stocklosar, Mrs. W. Parks, Mrs. George Hill, Mrs. Ed. Phillips, Mrs. J. H. Davies, Mrs. W. Roberts, Miss Sylvia Richmond, Mrs. J. E. Morrison, Mrs. B. Tanner, Miss Rachel Christie, Mrs. Charles Conley, Mrs. Ambrose Smith, and Mrs. Ves. Embury.

After the business of the Lodge, was concluded refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed by all.

SOCIAL EVENING

On Tuesday evening, October 10th, the members of Trinity choir met for practice in the church. At the close a social evening was spent in the Sunday school rooms with Mr. and Mrs. Laug, who are leaving soon to reside in the States for the winter. They will be greatly missed as they have been very faithful in their services to the choir.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. A. H. Watson is visiting relatives in Snelgrove this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Clute of Toronto, Mr. and Miss Thompson of Belleville, were week-end guests of Mrs. Gavin Wallbridge.

Mrs. Demorest and Mrs. Dafoe attended the executive meeting of the Woman's Association of the United Church held at Belleville on Tuesday of last week.

D. D. P. AND STAFF INSTALL REBEKAHS

On Thursday evening, October 5th, the officers of Oakdale Rebekah Lodge No. 134, were installed into their offices for the coming year by District Deputy President, Sister Mabel Stocklosar, assisted by Deputy Marshal Sister Eliza Parks and an efficient installing staff with guard of honor.

The following are the officers for the coming year:
J.P.N.G.—Sister Jennie Morrison, who received the Past Noble Grand's Jewel.

Noble Grand—Sister Edna Reid.
Vice-Grand—Sister Georgina Roberts.

R. Sec.—Sister Mary Davies.
Treas.—Sister Eliza Parks.
Warden—Sister Mabel Conley.
Conductor—Sister Verna Tanner.
Chaplain—Sister Annie McBain.
Musician—Sister Nina Embury.
R.S.N.G.—Sister Mabel Stocklosar.
L.S.N.G.—Sister Martha Phillips.
R.S.V.G.—Sister Sylvia Richmond.
L.S.V.G.—Sister Winnifred Hill.
Inside Guard—Sister Rachel Christie.

Outside Guard—Sister Mary Sandercrook.

The following address was read to Sister Jennie Morrison, Past Noble Grand, and who is also a Past District Deputy President, by Sister Mary Davies and the presentation of a hat box was made by Sister Verna Tanner.

Madoc, Ont., Oct. 5, 1939.

Mrs. Jennie Morrison, Past District Deputy President.

Dear Sister:

We have seen you installed as Past Noble Grand before in 1925. In all the years since, you have been willing to shoulder any responsibility or any work that has presented itself.

In 1939 you again accepted the office of Noble Grand and through depression and adverse prospects have guided the affairs of our Lodge.

We do not wish this opportunity to pass without expressing our appreciation of your hard work and untiring efforts to make the work of this Lodge a success.

Please accept this gift as a token of our esteem for you. Wherever you may be and whenever you use it may you think with pleasure of your second year spent as Noble Grand of Oakdale Rebekah Lodge, No. 134.

Signed on behalf of officers and members: Mabel Stocklosar, D.D.P.; Verna Tanner, P.N.G.; Mabel Conley, P.N.G.

Sister Morrison thanked the members of the Lodge for the lovely gift and also thanked the Sisters for their co-operation during the year.

Sister Mabel Stocklosar, D.D.P., was then presented with a leather purse by Sister Mabel Conley and Sister Mary Davies read the following address:

Madoc, Oct. 5, 1939.

Mrs. M. Stocklosar,

District Deputy President, of District No. 30.

Dear Sister:

It seems but yesterday that we were the Installing Team of this district with Sister Morrison as District Deputy President and Sister Stocklosar as a very capable Marshal. A few years have rolled around and now we find Sister Stocklosar in the role of District Deputy President.

We are proud of the way you have advanced in the work of Oddfellowship and we take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of your willingness to take this office at so late an hour.

We ask you to accept this gift as a small token of our esteem and trust that it may prove of use to you as you make the remainder of your official visits.

Signed on behalf of the Officers and members: Verna Tanner, P.N.G.; Mabel Conley, P.N.G.; Mary Davies, R. S.

Sister Stocklosar thanked the Lodge for the gift and also said she appreciated the help of the members in putting on the work.

The newly-elected Noble Grand, Sister Edna Reid, made a short speech and called on other members also.

Lunch was served at the conclusion and a pleasant social hour spent.

WEDDINGS

NICKLE—PARKS

One of the prettiest of the fall weddings was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Parks in Madoc, on Saturday, October 7th, at high noon, by Rev. Alfred Poulter, Minister of Trinity United Church, when their only daughter Verna Marguerite, became the bride of Mr. John Hubert Nickle, son of Mrs. T. L. Nickle, and the late Thomas L. Nickle of Madoc.

The bride was tastefully attired in a floor length gown of Tuscany grape velvet with doll hat and veil to match, trimmed with gold ornaments and wearing gold slippers. She carried an old fashioned nosegay of sweetheart roses, lily of the valley and maiden hair fern. Miss Betty Spence of Bradford, cousin of the bride, acted as flower girl.

To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Marion Robertson, the bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. The couple, who were unattended, were placed in a bower of tall ferns and large golden chrysanthemums. The rooms were beautifully decorated with lovely roses and other Autumn flowers, and the table was adorned with tiny white chrysanthemums and tall white candles in silver stands.

Girl friends of the bride, Misses Jean Nickle, Sadie Smith and Mrs. R. Bonny assisted in serving the dainty wedding breakfast.

The bride's travelling costume was of Queen's blue trimmed with silver, short black fur jacket, black hat and suede bag, shoes and gloves to match.

After a brief honeymoon trip to Toronto and points west, Mr. and Mrs. Nickle will reside in Madoc Village.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alex. M. Spence, Miss Betty Spence of Bradford; Lieut. C. S. Nickle, of Picton; Mrs. H. Taylor and Miss Doreen Taylor of Madoc; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Follis of Bancroft; Mrs. T. L. Nickle and Miss Jean Nickle of Madoc; Misses M. Robertson, and S. Smith, Mrs. Bonny and Rev. and Mrs. A. Poulter of Madoc.

Telegrams of congratulation and letters of regret were received from other friends who were unable to be present, and from the Bethlehem Browns of Pennsylvania, U. S. A., also from Clear Lake, Ont.

OBITUARY

MRS. JAMES CALLERY

Mrs. Emma Jane Price, widow of the late James Callery, highly respected and well known resident of Madoc Village for many years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leonard Mulrooney, early Monday morning, the deceased being in failing health for some years. She was born in Hungerford Township and with her husband resided in that township for many years on the farm and on the death of Mr. Callery moved to Madoc Village, where she has resided for some years. She was a member of Sacred Heart Church and while health permitted was an active worker in all branches of the church.

Surviving are one son, Thomas Callery, of Windsor; three daughters, Mrs. W. E. McNevin, Pamour, Que.; Mrs. Tobias Forestell, Campbellford; and Mrs. Leonard Mulrooney, Madoc; also two brothers, Charles and Harry Price, and one sister, Mrs. D. S. McKinnon, all of Sudbury. The funeral was held on Wednesday morning at Sacred Heart Church with interment in the Catholic cemetery at Madoc.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

On Monday evening of last week a very pleasant event took place at the home of Miss Sadie Smith when the girl friends numbering about 40 presented Miss Marguerite Parks, a bride-to-be, with a miscellaneous shower. The decorations were beautifully carried out in pink and white and Miss Parks was escorted to a chair under a canopy of pink and white while she opened her many beautiful and useful gifts. The hostess served a dainty lunch.

The Review is indebted to Mr. Geo. Lee for some fine specimens of wild raspberries. Despite the lateness of the season the berries are of normal size and are fully ripened.

CANADA AIR CAPITAL OF EMPIRE

Sir Kingsley Wood, Secretary for Air, announced in the British House of Commons Tuesday that Canada will be used as an advanced training centre for pilots and airmen of all parts of the British Empire.

"Outlining the achievements and objects of the Royal Air Force since the outbreak of war, the air minister explained the new set-up which will make Canada the air capital of the Empire.

The governments of Britain, Australia, New Zealand and Canada have agreed to set up preliminary training schools in their own countries. Graduates of these schools will be sent to Canada for advanced technical training.

The scheme will mean that many thousands of pilots and airmen will be trained in Canada, but no accurate estimate of the total could be obtained. It was thought likely the number would exceed 25,000 annually.

CRUSHED VERTEBRAE SUSTAINED IN FALL

John Hoover of Madoc, was seriously injured in this village on Monday morning and rushed to the Belleville General Hospital, where it was learned the man sustained a crushed vertebrae, caused when he fell from a scaffold that gave way while shingling the roof of the Standard Church parsonage. He was treated at the scene by Dr. E. Thoms, the physician accompanying the injured man to hospital.

Mr. Hoover was working with Mr. Devolin, Mr. Reynolds and the pastor of the congregation, Rev. E. Robinson, when the accident occurred the other members escaping serious injury although badly shaken up from the fall. The injured man is resting comfortably.

FAREWELL TO MISS BLUE AND MISS NICKLE

On Thursday night the members of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church choir met at the home of Miss Lamoine West and during the evening Mr. W. Hawthorne in an impromptu address presented Miss Helen Blue and Miss Betty Nicol with boudoir clocks as an appreciation of their services in the church choir. Misses Blue and Nicol left on Wednesday for Kingston, where they will enter the school of nursing in Kingston General Hospital.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

On Tuesday evening a large number of friends and neighbours met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Cassidy, Queensboro, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tokley (nee Jean Cassidy). During the evening an address was read by Miss Jennie Sager and they were presented with a well-filled purse. Lunch was served after the presentation and an enjoyable evening was spent in dancing.

HERE AND THERE

It is inevitable that the World War will bring to Canada an enormous increase in national purchasing power and income. Production, employment, agricultural buying power cannot help but be tremendously stimulated by the conditions which this conflict will create in a country situated as we are.—The Financial Post.

TO SUBSCRIBERS

If you have frequent headaches, dizziness, fainting spells, lame back, accompanied by chills, cramps, bunions, jaundice, chilblains or fits, it is a sign you are not well and are liable to die any minute. So hurry to the Review Office, send by post, or give to the editor, whichever is the fastest, $1.50 for one year's subscription and thus make sure of a good obituary notice.—Truro, N. S., Times.

In the midst of allegations that the young people are turning to the use of alcohol and other artificial stimulants in their quest for a "good time" it is heartening to hear of the roadhouse in Northfield, Ill., prominently displaying a sign which frankly says: "No Liquor." It is heartening also to learn that its business is good—as good as that of New England's numerous liquorless ice cream stands which are crowded nightly with young people.—Christian Science Monitor.

A NAME FOR THE WAR

No one has yet provided the war which started a few weeks ago with a distinctive name so that it might be the more easily distinguished from the Great War of 1914-18. The struggle of 20 years ago is still so fresh in the minds of the people and the effects of it still so apparent that it has up to the present, been known largely as The War. Some term will have to be found to indicate the distinction.—Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

ON HIM ALONE

Hitler already stands convicted before the bar of history. The war guilt is his, and his alone. Responsibility "for this terrible catastrophe lies" on his shoulders alone, as Mr. Chamberlain not only told the world, but proved by his White Paper—the record of guilt for as great a crime as has ever been committed against civilization; a crime conceived and executed by one man in the service of "his own senseless ambitions."—Providence Journal.

CONTROL OF EXCHANGE

No Canadian need worry unduly over the Government's Foreign Exchange Control Board. It has been set up to do something which, in war, is essential, namely: to see to it that the country's foreign exchange resources are used in the national interest.

To sum the thing up briefly, this Exchange Control Board has not been devised to hurt Canada. It has been set up to help Canada. The exceptionally high character and ability of the men administering it is the best possible guarantee that its operations will be efficient.—Ottawa Journal.

THIS IS NO JOKE

Kansas, a pioneering state in the cause of prohibition, is made the butt of many jokes because of its dry attitude. It is no joke, however, what Kansas has reaped as a result of its "one-dry law. In Kansas there are: fifty-four counties without insane; fifty-four counties without feeble-minded; ninety-six counties without any poorhouses; fifty-three counties without any persons in jail; fifty-six counties without any representatives in the State Penitentiary.—Christian Observer.

WAR PATRIOTS

Soon again some innocent and patriot citizens with German or foreign names will become the target of idle tongues. In quiet cases, they have to grin and bear it. A friend of ours recalls an incident in the last Great War when a gang of young hoodlums raised a Toronto butcher shop where the proprietor had a German name. The young fellows made a wreck of the premises. In the casualty list in the newspapers the next day appeared the name of the son of that butcher killed in action with a Canadian battalion.—St. Mary's Journal-Argus.

DAY-LIGHT SAVING

Daylight saving has ended for another year and with it the confusion in regard to the time. Once again the rural dweller may visit the urban centres and transact his business without worrying over the difference in time. It would be a good thing if rural and urban dwellers could agree on having either standard time or daylight saving universally before another summer rolls around. But how to bring this about is a problem. The majority of farmers are opposed to daylight saving, while those working in factories and offices in the larger centres of population are in favor of the advanced time and there doesn't seem to be anything we can do about it.—Stirling News-Argus.

HISTORY NEED NOT REPEAT

Over and over again it is being asserted that, with every appearance of the start of another world war, history is repeating itself. Those who remember 1914 are only too ready to acquiesce. It seems easy to recognize the same provocation, the same preliminary steps. But, before accepting this evidence at its face value, people should ask themselves: Is it really the same?

For there exists excellent reason to believe that conditions are altered, especially conditions of thinking. The world has come a long way in the last twenty-five years. Listen to many of the favorite broadcasters of fast-moving events abroad. They are stating that there are notable differences in the march of today's events. Practically no excitement, quiet and assurance, sobriety and determination; remarkably little hatred and fear. What of those leaflets which British airmen dropped upon the population of Germany, when bombs might as well have been let loose?

No, it need not be the repetition of history unless men choose to let it be so.—Christian Science Monitor.

KEEP SENSIBLE

There are two attitudes one may adopt since Canada declared a state of war against Germany. One may become hysterical and despondent or one may remain calm and determined. In the first few weeks of the crisis and subsequent outbreak of hostilities, there is no doubt a great many Canadians verged on attitude number one. And it is equally true matters have become adjusted to a great extent and that people are "settling down" to the new order of things.

In Ingersoll we have had but one bit of direct evidence of the war: the sudden prevalence of men in uniform. Our liberties have not been curtailed in any manner whatsoever, nor have we been attacked or done any attacking or fighting.

Perhaps we have been lucky thus far, but strong hopes remain the situation will not alter a great deal in these respects. Certain it is that our mode of living will be changed, but it is equally certain we will adjust ourselves to the changes and live as before.

The attitude to avoid like poison is one of terror or resignation. Every time our government calls upon us for more assistance, it will be our privilege and duty to render that aid, regardless of the form it may take. We cannot be selfish in such a serious matter.

There are a great many ways in which the individual can fight for his country without actually taking up arms. Even the person furthest from military service may perform his or her function by maintaining in oneself and instilling in others a feeling of confidence and a sense of duty.—Ingersoll Tribune.

REMINISCENCES

The following items have been taken from the file copies of the Review.

SAYS BRITAIN SHIPS PLANES, AND TANKS TO TURKS

Great Britain has been shipping planes, tanks, big guns and other war materials to Turkey during the last two weeks, a well-informed source at London disclosed recently.

The Turkish military mission which arrived in London two days ago is engaged in active talks with British officials, but completion of its task is awaiting result of the parallel diplomatic conversations between Ankara, London and Paris and between Ankara and Moscow, on the problem of a new Turkish-Soviet agreement.

Russia, it was reliably reported in London, is demanding that Turkey consult with her before any action is taken under the Anglo-French-Turkish accord promising aid to Rumania and Greece if they are attacked.

Certain advantages now are said to be seen by the British and French in a Moscow-Ankara accord, but it has not yet been decided whether granting Russian demands would be worth these advantages.

WAR SUPPLY BOARD CANADIAN AGENT FOR BRITISH MISSION

Canada's War Supply Board has been made Canadian agent for the British Government's purchasing mission, now in Ottawa for the placing of munitions and war supply contracts, the Dominion Government has announced.

Under the authority of an Order in Council, the Board will place orders in Canada for supplies required by the British Ministries of Supply and Defence.

In making the announcement, the government stated that the possibility of the war supply acting as agent for the British Government had been anticipated in setting the board up. The necessary authority had now been provided.

The request that the War Supply Board be empowered to act as purchasing agent in Canada for the British Government was made by the British Purchasing Mission in a letter to Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

GERMANY MAY DECIDE TO INVADE BELGIUM

The military correspondent of the Yorkshire Post wrote recently that Germany, having successfully lost a series of strategic advantages on the western front, may decide to invade Belgium and the Netherlands.

"A war that is not methodical," he said, "and looks almost casual, has clearly puzzled the Germans, and before they had realized that the French infantry was walking into Germany on its feet in the old way they had lost covering ground in front of their defences."

"All indications lead to the belief that the Schlieffen plan for the invasion of Belgium has been revived. Undoubtedly the enemy is massed opposite the gap between the Ardennes and the Dutch border which was the road of invasion of 1914."

CANADA'S SCOTTISH BATTALIONS TO WEAR KILTS OVERSEAS

Canada's Scottish battalions will wear the kilt in the second Great War and will not be affected by the new regulations relating to a new battle dress for the Canadian active service force.

Other units of the service will don the new loose-fitting uniform, consisting of wide trousers with garters instead of puttees and a loose-fitting blouse with no buttons.

Whether any alterations will be made in the tunic worn with the kilt will be made to conform to the change made in the general uniform style and relieve the Highlanders of the necessity of polishing brass buttons remains to be settled.

In action Highland units wear a leather apron over the kilt.

SOVIET OFFICERS REPORTED ON VISIT TO WESTERN FRONT

The London Daily Herald (Labor) Saturday reported that a group of high Soviet officers had visited German fortifications on the western front.

The report assertedly based on information from Berlin, said the mission included members of the Soviet General Staff and officers of the Russian land and air forces. A Soviet naval group is scheduled to inspect the German Fleet and coastal defences, the newspaper added.

Production operations at the plant of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Windsor, have been speeded up to supply 1940 models of the Ford and Mercury lines, introduced to the public late in the week.

BELLEVILLE MARKET

SATURDAY

With the gold of the pumpkin, the scarlet of the apple and the many shades of harvest fruits and vegetables forming a colorful background for the majestic gobbler and other seasonal birds, the Saturday market at Belleville assumed a typical Thanksgiving appearance.

By far the heaviest offering seen at the Belleville market for many weeks, the display was indicative of the generous harvest that has been gathered in the immediate vicinity.

While the outside market where piles of produce crammed every capacity all morning where a delectable offering of turkeys, ducks, chickens and dairy produce was on parade.

His Majesty, King Turkey, in all his splendor, was offered for holiday tables. Prices, however, were variable with hen turkeys weighing in the vicinity of eight and ten pounds demanding 36 cents the pound. Large gobblers that tipped the scales in the neighborhood of twenty pounds were offered at five and six dollars each. Buying was cautious during the early hours but brightened somewhat towards noon.

Chickens of practically every size and weight were available. Choice spring birds were quoted at approximately 25 cents the pound with good weighty birds offered at $1.50 each. Yearlings were offered from $1.00 each while fowl moved sluggishly at from 55 cents each. A few broilers were offered from 50 cents the pair to as high as one dollar.

A fair offering of ducks were on display with good quality birds offered from one dollar to $1.25 each. Farmers' butter quotations were steady at 60 cents for two pound rolls. Single pounds sold at 30 cents each. Egg prices maintained the same levels of the previous week-end with "A" selects selling at 35 cents the dozen. Mediums were offered at 32 and 33 cents the dozen, with pullets' quoted at 30 cents.

The riot of color that was on the outside market was featured with the gold of the peach, the colorful hues of autumn and winter apples and the lesser shades of vegetables. Imported peaches were offered at 25 and 30 cents the basket, with blue grapes offered at the same price. Whites were quoted at 30 to 35 cents for the same quantity.

Flemish Beauty pears sold at 60 cents the peck, with Bartlett's and Clapps Favorites moving well at 20 and 30 cents the basket. McIntosh Red apples headed that variety of fruit at one dollar the hamper and 30 cents the peck. Wolf Rivers and St. Lawrence were quoted at 30 cents for basket lots. A number of melons were available at from five and ten cents each. Blue Damson plums were quoted at 30 cents the basket with prunes at 50 cents for six quarts.

Potato quotations showed no change from those of the previous week. By far the best quality that has appeared on the market thus far, the spuds were quoted at one dollar the bushel with 75 pound bag lots offered at $1.40 and $1.50. Pecks moved well at 30 cents each. Home-grown tomatoes, nearing the end of production, were also steady with bushel lots quoted at 60 cents. Baskets were offered at 15 and 20 cents. A small quantity of sweet corn was offered at 15c the dozen ears. Beets, turnips, onions, carrots and other staple vegetables sold at steady price.

Whitefish at 22 cents the pound lake trout at 22 cents and mudcats at two pounds for 25 cents rounded out a variable fish offering.

MEETING OF WEST

HUNTINGDON W. M. S.

Mrs. William netertained the W. M. S. of St. Andrew's church for their September meeting on Thursday afternoon. The worship period was conducted by the singing of suitable hymns and the Lord's prayer repeated by the members. Mrs. J. C. Sills read a portion of scripture and Mrs. John Wright gave the glad tidings prayer. Roll call was answered by the word "Grace." Readings were given by Mrs. William Shaw and Mrs. Don Haggerty. Mrs. Milton Shaw contributed a solo. In the business period it was decided to hold a Mission Band dinner in November at the home of Mrs. J. C. Sills. Plans were also made for a missionary service to be held at the church. Rev. W. Walker closed the meeting with prayer.

CAPTAIN OF COURAGEOUS APPRECIATED GOOD SHOT

Captain William Makeig-Jones, who went down with his ship, the Courageous, told one of his men that was "a damn good shot," when a German torpedo struck the British aircraft carrier. St. John Ervine, dramatist, told the story in the London Times recently.

REPORT PLOT TO KILL HITLER

The London Daily Sketch Tuesday reported that a plot to kill Fuehrer Hitler during his tour of inspection of the Polish front had been discovered by Heinrich Himmler, chief of the German Gestapo.

The report lacked confirmation of the tabloid London newspaper said reports reaching Denmark from Germany said members of the black-shirted Hitler elite guard were implicated in the plot.

Despite utmost secrecy maintained by German police officials confirmation of the plot was seen in formation of a "super bodyguard" for the Fuehrer, the Daily Sketch said.

It called attention to the Nazi announcement of a special guard corps organized and commanded by Sepp Dietrich, one of Hitler's lieutenants.

MUSSOLINI READY TO HELP HITLER IN HIS PROPOSALS

Authoritative Italian sources described Premier Mussolini Friday as ready to help Adolf Hitler's proposals for ending the war, provided Great Britain and France signified their willingness.

The British reaction to the Fuehrer's speech was considered in responsible quarters as not too bad, but optimism was tempered by the fact that a wider opening for negotiations still had not come from London or Paris.

Editorials in the controlled Fascist press indicated the government, however, was not stepping forward to push along the proposals. Newspapers merely advocated acceptance of Hitler's overtures as offering a "constructive basis for negotiations."

Canadian National Railways equipment includes 13,159 coal cars, and 3,610 "reefer cars" otherwise known as refrigerator cars.

LENGTHENING BREAD- LINES BEHIND SOVIET CALL FOR PEACE

Lengthening breadlines in Russian cities are among the Kremlin's real but unofficial reasons for urging immediate peace, foreign observers believe.

Prolongation of the war would mean continued mobilization of men, trucks and horses and further confusion of the transportation system, said foreign observers reading between the lines of Monday's call for peace published by the Government newspaper Izvestia.

With the year's crops far below those of 1938, the peasants fear soldiers may not be released from harvesting. Bread and meat are increasingly difficult to procure in Moscow.

Under these circumstances, and since the Soviet Union believes she has every reason to expect to hold the gains the war has brought her, the Izvestia's appeal for an end to hostilities was considered hardly surprising.

"War or peace—that is the question," the newspaper said. "Champions of the slogan, 'war to final victory,' are backing further war; they are in favor of war and against peace."

"But for whose benefit is this war waged for domination of the world? In any case, not for the benefit of the working class. The working class can only suffer from war."

SIX N. B. WOODSMEN DIE WHEN TRUCK HITS BRIDGE

A truck filled with men on their way to a lumber camp crashed into a concrete bridge abutment at Quarryville, N. B., Monday killing six men and leaving five others in serious condition. The other two men of the thirteen in the truck escaped with bruises.

The crash, which occurred just before daybreak, was one of the worst highway accidents in New Brunswick's history. The driver, Alfred Muzeroll, testified at an inquest later that the brakes failed on a hill leading down toward a subway under a railway bridge. He attempted to make a right angle turn into the subway but the machine skidded and crashed into the abutment, Muzeroll said.

Instantly killed were James Curry, 25; John Savio, 45, married and survived by a large family; Sydney Rousell, 21, married; Gerald Thibodeau, 17, and Edgar Thibodeau, 19, died in hospital later.

Of the others, the most seriously injured were Louis Godin, 26; Alphonse Richard, 33; Xaxler Roussel, 28; Alvida Roussel, 21, and Charles Vieneau, 35. Michael McLaughlin, 30, and the driver, Alfred Muzeroll, 35, were only slightly hurt.

WAR NEWS BOOSTS DEMAND FOR RADIO

Because of the war and the important place radio is playing in reporting its progress, the industry is booming. Both electric and battery-operated sets are in great demand. The new low prices which became effective earlier this year are still being maintained but there is no information available as to when they may suddenly rise due to curtailed raw materials being diverted to war use.

Many Canadians, particularly rural residents, bought their first radio within the last two weeks, first to take advantage of current low prices and secondly to follow the war news.

Unlike other commodities, prices for radio batteries this fall, have not been increased and the demand for them has been so steady that, for example, one big plant manufacturing the layer-on-layer type of "B" battery has been producing at record capacity since the outbreak of war. There is also a great call for the air cell type of battery. All the big broadcasting chains including the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation issue news bulletins several times a day to increasing audiences, and storekeepers throughout Canada report an unprecedented rush of business.

NO "BLUE MONDAY" IN THIS LAUNDRY

It would be a "blue Monday" indeed for the average housewife who had thousands of pieces of laundry to wash and iron but in the laundry of The Nova Scotian Hotel of the Canadian National Railways at Halifax, N. S., it is all in the day's work. A daily average of eight thousand pieces, or two and a half million a year, pass through this laundry.

In addition to taking care of the laundry requirements of the hotel itself and those of guests, approximately three thousand pieces a day are

HOW MANY TIMES WILL MERCURY DROP THIS WINTER?

Newspapers and magazines are featuring "quizzes" these days. Here is a simple one for the average Canadian. "How many freezing days do we have in the year?"

The ordinary man's guess is not likely to be very reliable. With the first cold dip in the Fall he fills the fuel bin, digs out the heavy overcoat and puts anti-freeze in the car. Everyone treats, these days, temperature dips with the greatest respect—but few know how frequently they are due.

Actually how many days are there when the temperature reaches freezing or lower?

Take Vancouver for instance. In this district, there are about 150 days when the temperature can be expected at some time during the day to drop below 32 degrees F. On the other hand, in Northern Saskatchewan people have to be prepared for freezing weather for about 250 days; around Montreal, 192 days. Variations like these occur throughout Canada. Freezing weather is something you cannot guess ahead. Motorists, however, see fewer frozen-up cars on the road from year to year. Garagemen claim this is because so many wise drivers now use a guaranteed anti-freeze that "stays put" all season, and is good either in warm or cold spells.

The man who keeps his car on the road wants protection for the ups-and-downs of winter temperature and he can figure on an average of at least 200 days in the year below the freezing mark.

HUNTER IS SAVED FROM BOG, RESCUER GETS NO THANKS

Clinging precariously to a loose piece of bog and sinking deeper in mud and water, an unidentified man was pulled to safety from a marsh on the Trent River, five miles west of Hastings, Sunday night about dusk by John Grant, 64 year old Asphodel Township resident.

The youth was said to have been duck-shooting on forbidden marsh at Max Humphries' farm and toppled into the water from a duck punt. Screams for help were heard by Mr. Grant about a quarter of a mile away and he arrived in a boat to find the young man with his head above water and screaming at the top of his voice.

"I knew he was on forbidden marsh and I did not ask the lad his name," Mr. Grant said. "He did not thank me for pulling him out."

As soon as rescue had been effected and the boat bailed out, the rescued man rowed across the river, where he is believed to be visiting at a farm house. A close check by phone in that district failed to reveal the identity of the young man, described as being about 25 years of age.

WAR WRITERS DON UNIFORMS

The first newspaper correspondents officially accredited to the British Expeditionary Forces changed business suits for khaki uniforms Monday and prepared to leave for "Somewhere in France."

In this way the government made ready to lift the silence which separates the Western Front from the "Home Front."

Of the foreign news services allied with The Canadian Press and its member-newspapers across Canada, Reuters has assigned A. B. Skene Catling and R. A. Walling to "G.H. Q." while the Associated Press is sending Drew Middleton of its London staff and Havas News Agency is sending Andre Kaminker.

The members of the news corps have been instructed to outfit themselves in uniforms resembling those worn by British Army officers. The uniforms will be devoid of the insignia which denotes an officer's rank. Arm brassards of red and white will identify the wearer as a correspondent.

Greatest single shipment of canned goods ever to leave Picton harbor at one time was that last week when a vessel took about 1,000 tons of cargo from the dock. The freighter was eastbound and the cargo of tomatoes from county factories was for export and sale in eastern provinces. Another ship west-bound left with 300 tons of canned goods.

received from the sleeping and dining cars of the railway operating through trains between Montreal and Halifax as well as other trains. During the summer season, laundry from Picton Lodge, the summer resort hotel owned and operated by the Canadian National Railways at Picton, N. S., is also taken care of.

MEAT IS PLentiful IN ARCTIC LARDER

Jen Gabus, a Swiss journalist who has been living in the Canadian Arctic for more than a year, came to Winnipeg from Churchill and proceeded eastwards by the Continental Limited train of the Canadian National Railways for Montreal and afterwards Switzerland. Mr. Gabus gathered a wealth of material at first hand and will incorporate it in a series of articles for his own newspaper and later in a book. He reports there is an abundance of game meat in the Arctic and consequently the coming winter will not bring any hardships to the Eskimo. Mr. Gabus covered an extensive territory north and east of Churchill, living with native families. To his record of notes he also added an extensive film library picturing the daily life and doings of the people.

The Canadian National is a complete transportation system offering railway, passenger, freight, express, telegraph, hotel, steamship and air lines' services.

ITALIANS DROP TYROL PLANS

Italy has abandoned her plan to force German-speaking Italians born in the South Tyrol to leave that district and make it 100 per cent Italian, it was learned Monday, when an interview with Giuseppe Mastromattei, Prefect of Bolzano, was published in the newspapers. The Germans there presumably have already gone, while the Austro-Italians who chose to migrate into Germany are being evacuated now.

They cannot be very numerous, since it would mean going from peaceful Italy into warring Germany. So, in effect, that measure which so stirred the world in June, comes down to hardly more than the transfer of some 10,000 Germans. Other foreigners with property or residences are still in the Tyrol, and from the looks of things they may never have to go. That this measure should come just after Hitler announced his scheme for mass migration seems nothing more than a curious coincidence.

SPEED OF PLANS TO TRAIN FLIERS

Plans for training Canadian pilots for the Royal Air Force are being speeded up as much as possible. If the war is prolonged, this Dominion will train hundreds, perhaps thousands of pilots for Britain.

Reports from London that the United Kingdom may use Canada as a training centre for pilots evoked no response from the Government Monday night. Hon. Norman McLeod Rogers, Minister of National Defence, said he "had no statement to make."

From other sources it was indicated that Canada will do all it can to help the Royal Air Force. Several companies are now enlarging their factories to produce warplanes for the R.A.F.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King already has announced that there will be a "rapid expansion of air training" and the despatch of trained air-men. There is no indication yet when these men will go overseas.

KEYMEN'S PLACE HELD AT HOME

Technicians and other key men in Canada industry could serve their country to better advantage at home than on the fighting field, C. D. First of Detroit, regional organizer of the American Federation of Architects, Engineers, Chemists and Technicians told the Association of Technical Employees at a three-day convention ending Saturday at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto.

In attendance at the meeting were fifty delegates from Montreal, Windsor, Hamilton, Sarnia, Toronto, Welland and other centres. Much discussion was devoted to ways in which the association could co-operate with the Government during the war by placing technical employees where they would be of most service to Canada.

FISHING BROADCAST THRILLS LISTENERS

Radio listeners through Canada and the United States were thrilled recently when by means of air waves they listened in on a salmon fishing expedition from the heart of one of Canada's famed fishing and big game districts, the Miramichi in New Brunswick. The broadcast was carried over the wires of the Canadian National Telegraphs from Half Moon, where it originated, to Moncton, N. B., and from there was fed into the CBC radio network, the announcer using a portable microphone from a canoe.

BUNNY OUTRACES CAR

Any ideas that a County Council official might have had regarding the ability of his automobile to outrun a rabbit were rudely dispelled recently when a brown bunny suddenly appearing from a wooded glade on the Madoc-Bellefleur highway paced the official's car for considerable distance before tiring of the sport and disappearing into a clump of bushes by the roadside.

Returning from Madoc Fair, the official's party was surprised when a brown rabbit suddenly leaped from the roadside directly in front of the car. It turned and followed the track ahead of the vehicle keeping a safe distance away with its leaps and bounds, and occasionally slowing down to glance behind to note the position of its strange pursuer. The car was travelling at an estimated speed of thirty miles per hour.

SAFETY BELT MAY BE FORMED

Great Britain is prepared to co-operate with the United States and other American States in a plan to establish a naval safety belt but will not agree to limit or abandon her belligerent rights or access to the West Indies or other colonies.

This declaration of policy in advance of details of the Panama Conference's plan to establish a neutral zone was given in naval circles.

It was admitted the plan meant a big departure from the principles of international law and might lead to grave problems unless naval patrol were effective in the zone, but Britain is willing to help the American nations protect their neutrality.

It was pointed out in London the safety belt comprises hundreds of thousands of square miles at sea and that it would only work if patrols were effective. Otherwise German submarines and raiders could duck in and out.

CAMDEN EAST LAD ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

With a rifle bullet lodged in his chest after his gun accidentally discharged, Paul Lewis, 15, of Camden East, was rushed to the Kingston General Hospital Sunday. His condition is not believed to be serious. The lad is said to have been going to the pasture to get the cows Sunday afternoon. He carried his .22 calibre rifle with him as was his custom. The rifle accidentally discharged and the bullet grazed the palm of his right hand and lodged in the right side of his chest. An operation was performed to remove the bullet Monday.

A lunch service is provided in coaches and tourist cars on the transcontinental and through trains of the Canadian National Railways.

The Chateau Laurier Hotel in Ottawa, owned and operated by the Canadian National Railways, can accommodate 1,000 guests.

The Review
MADOC, ONT.

Some worked their way across in cattle boats and others managed to dig up the fare, but 100 young Canadians are discovering that to offer to die for your country is an exclusive privilege at present.

They had figured that by going to the heart of the Empire the transition from civilian life to that of the army would be a speedy process. In a few months they would be in the firing line while their friends and neighbors were still awaiting the call in Canada—so they thought.

But these Canadians are sitting around a darkened reading room in Canada House, waiting day by day to be called up. Some of them have run out of money. Others are helping them out. Not one of them dreams of giving up and going back home. They came to England to join up and that is what they are going to do, sooner or later. But they have learned that it would be easier to crash an exclusive Piccadilly club than crash the army, just now, at any rate.

A few lucky ones have been accepted and they are the envy of the majority. There is a former captain in the Canadian Militia, with five years' experience, who can't get a job as an officers' batman. Another has had years of experience in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and he is still on the outside looking in.

Diplomatic wheels have been set spinning to try to find some loopholes through which this band of Canadians might get into uniform. They have reached the stage where they are not choosy about what arm of the service they enter. But it is just as hard to get into the army as it is to enlist in the navy or the air force.

FRANTIC EFFORT SAVES LIFE AS SAWDUST FALLS

Tons of sawdust nearly became a death trap for George (Scotty) Brown, employee of the Pedwell Lumber Company, who was buried up to the shoulders by a sawdust cave-in at Orillia Tuesday.

Only the desperate efforts of Dick Perry, another employee, saved Brown from suffocation. The two men were alone in the plant, and for an hour Perry worked frantically to keep Brown's head above the ever-falling sawdust. As fast as he dug it away the soft material piled back.

Perry's shouts for help went unanswered as he doggedly stuck to his task of saving a life. The victim could do little to aid his own cause. The tons of sawdust held him firmly and he choked and gasped as it poured down on him.

Finally the weakening cries of Perry who dared not leave to get help, were heard outside the plant by members of a C. N. R. freight train crew shunting in the yard. Orillia firemen hastily responded to the call and Brown was rescued after two firemen tied a rope around him and pulled him out.

Tuesday night Brown was reported to be recovering in Memorial Hospital. He was given oxygen treatment and is suffering from severe shock. Dr. R. E. Hipwell of Orillia said he would make a good recovery, unless complications set in.

STRIKE CLOSES CHRYSLER UNITS

More than 18,000 Chrysler Corporation employees were made idle on Tuesday when corporation officials closed two plants and announced the action was taken because of "slow-down" strikes.

The Dodge main plant in suburban Hamtramck was closed twenty minutes later after the start of operations Tuesday and 10,000 day shift workers were sent home. Similar action affecting 7,000 employees was taken less than an hour after the night shift reported for work.

In addition, 1,300 workers in the Dodge truck plant, just north of Detroit, in Macomb County, were sent home Tuesday afternoon, a company spokesman explaining that a "slow-down" strike had started.

A group of leaders of the United Automobile Workers of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, which recently won majorities in a Chrysler employees' election, conferred with Herman L. Weckler Chrysler vice-president in charge of operations, in an attempt to negotiate on the disputes.

Richard T. Frankenstein, U.A.W.-CIO regional director, charged that the corporation had introduced "what amounts to speed-ups." This was denied by Weckler.

The London Daily Sketch Tuesday reported that Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, Commander-in-Chief of the German Navy, tried unsuccessfully to resign his post as result of Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop's "Baltic blunder."

The newspaper said that Raeder protested that von Ribbentrop's action enabling Russia to grasp all strategic points and islands in the Eastern Baltic, hemmed in the German Navy in the east while the British fleet bottled it up in the west.

"We understand that Raeder warned the Foreign Office before von Ribbentrop's first visit to Moscow against conceding anything that would jeopardize naval action in the Baltic in case of a dispute with the Soviets."

"Von Ribbentrop has now both army and navy chiefs against him. As a result of Raeder's unaccepted resignation and the antagonism of the navy to further Soviet encroachments the Nazis are to do all in their power to prevent Stalin from getting important naval points from Finland."

CIVILIAN FINNS URGED TO LEAVE HELSINGFORS

All civilians who can go were urged to make immediate preparations to leave the environs of Helsingfors and Viipuri in a broadcast Monday night by the Minister of the Interior, Urho Kekkonen. He said the measure was purely precautionary but the sooner carried out the better.

The warning was given as a Finnish mission was on its way to Moscow at the invitation of the Soviet Government to discuss unspecified economic and political problems. Russia has gained sweeping concessions from similar missions from smaller Baltic states.

The Finnish mission is expected to reach the Soviet capital Wednesday.

Viipuri is a port on the Gulf of Finland, almost directly north of Leningrad. Russian warships were reported concentrated Tuesday at Kronstadt, naval base near Leningrad, and Russian troops are on the frontiers of the Baltic States.

ONE-TIME RICH MINE CLOSED; ALMOST DESERTED

Once a thriving mining camp and now almost a "ghost town," of Northern Ontario, Gowganda appears headed for desertion.

Miller-Lake O'Brien, banner silver producer of Northern Ontario since the Gowganda rush of more than 30 years ago, closed during the week-end and the skeleton staff employed during the past month has packed up and left. More than 100 were employed at the mine until a few weeks ago.

The Miller Lake O'Brien mine was regarded as one of the richest properties ever discovered. It never ceased production before, even when the price of silver was low.

Gowganda and Cobalt citizens recently made an unsuccessful attempt to have the Federal Government pay a bonus on production.

WANTS BERMUDA FOR WAR DEBTS

Senator Sheridan Downey (Rep.-Cal.) speaking in the Senate neutrality debate Monday at Washington, declared Great Britain never intended to pay the great war debt to the United States and suggested there was one way it could have been paid—by ceding Bermuda to the United States.

"I wish the Secretary of State would offer to take the island of Bermuda alone in full payment," Downey said. "It would be an outpost of great strategic value to the United States."

TWO DROWN AS CAR PLUNGES OFF FERRY

Two women drowned in the Columbia river, when their automobile plunged off the Castlegar ferry into 30 feet of water, over the week-end. The victims are Mrs. John McKinnon, 48, and her daughter, Josephine, 24, both of Castlegar.

According to witnesses the two women were sitting in their car aboard the ferry when a second machine struck them from behind.

The force knocked the McKinnon automobile up an inclined ferry apron and into the water. The second machine, owned by Mont Ross of Vancouver, and carrying six persons, stopped on the end of the boat with its front wheels in the water.

London reports that the British Government spent the week-end consulting France and the dominions regarding a joint Allied reply to the Hitler peace proposals evoked no comment in Ottawa on the conversations. In official circles it was regarded as likely that Canada would favor rejection of the proposals. It was felt, however, that a number of points raised by Hitler, would require careful answer.

Of the new war boards set up in Ottawa, none is working under greater pressure than the war supply board, headed by Wallace R. Campbell of Windsor. While that board is making no announcements of its activities, it is reported to be placing contracts for war essentials as fast as it can assure itself of the productive abilities of would be contractors. In some cases the question of price is being postponed until the board has fuller opportunity to examine costs.

RUSSIA ASSEMBLES HER NAVAL POWER IN GULF OF FINLAND

Reports of a concentration of Russian naval power in the Gulf of Finland emphasized Tuesday the vigor of Soviet Russia's drive to regain a dominant position in the Baltic Sea.

Dispatches from Kronstadt, naval base near Leningrad, said a "whole armada of battleships" was massed there and that naval and military activity was unceasing.

Kronstadt is only a few miles from Finland's territorial waters. A Finnish mission was en route to Moscow for one more in the series of Russian conferences with envoys of Baltic States in which Russia has been gaining sweeping concessions.

The naval concentration coincided with the massing of Soviet troops along the frontiers facing the Baltic States. Reports from the frontier said "military trains daily go to the Baltic area."

Moscow newspapers reported Tuesday Sweden had purchased 102 war planes and ten torpedo boats from Germany under an agreement made prior to the outbreak of war.

BLAST DAMAGES SHIP OFF COAST

The London Press Association said Tuesday night the 9,462 ton Royal Mail Lines motorship Loch Goll, outward bound with cargo, "was damaged off the English coast as the result of an explosion," last Friday night.

The agency said a skeleton crew was left in charge of the anchored vessel and the remainder of the crew of sixty-four was taken ashore. There were no casualties.

Twenty-nine members of the crew of the 5,210 ton Greek steamship Mount Ida, which went aground off the east coast of England, were rescued by a lifeboat from Cromer.

Shore searchlights aided the rescue in a heavy storm. The Mount Ida went aground 32 miles east of Cromer early Monday and Captain Nicholas Mavroleon said the ship grounded because there were no lights to guide it.

BERLIN EXCITED OVER ERRONEOUS ARMISTICE RUMOR

Rumors that the Allies had asked for an Armistice, that "the Chamberlain-Churchill Government" in Britain had resigned and that King George had abdicated caused excitement in Berlin for an hour Tuesday morning until they were denied by DNB, the German News Agency.

DNB said the rumors were spread by certain "Secret Service agents." One persistent report was that a German radio station had broadcast news of an Armistice—to be in effect until October 18—but the Propaganda Ministry denied this.

The rumors caused numerous telephone inquiries to the Associated Press office, including one from the office of the former Crown Prince of Germany, others from Japanese and Italian correspondents, the American Chamber of Commerce, bankers and attorneys.

GERMAN BOMBS FAIL TO INFLICT DAMAGE ON WARSHIP

German high command spokesmen claimed Tuesday that German planes dropped two bombs on a British warship in a clash in the North Sea off the Norwegian coast Tuesday.

In London, naval experts said attacks by German bombers on the British North Sea patrol had failed to inflict damage.

The possibility that medical science at last has found a method of conquering influenza was disclosed Tuesday by the Public Health Service in Washington.

The new drug called Sulfapyridine, already used widely in treating pneumonia, may come to be used as a preventive of the flu, according to Miss Margaret Pittman, associate bacteriologist at the National Institute of Health.

An eight month old baby gave the clue to the method of controlling the disease, said Miss Pittman in her report. The infant developed inflammation of the eyes and ears and pneumonia. In addition to pneumonia germs, he had a heavy infection of the flu germs in his lungs, throat, eyes and ears.

"Within 24 hours the child showed marked improvement, followed by a rapid and eventful recovery," Miss Pittman said.

Such success led Institute scientists to begin immediate experiments on mice. Their results were summarized in these statements:

1. "Sulfapyridine was effective in protecting mice against experimental infections of non-type-specific Hemophilus influenza," the bacteria which causes influenza.

2. "The drug did not prevent the bacteria from entering the blood stream, but it apparently retarded their increase in the blood," until the natural defence forces could overcome the germs.

Two groups of mice were infected with the bacteria. One group received no Sulfapyridine. The other received varying amounts of it. All the untreated mice died promptly, and some of the treated mice succumbed. In the treated group the number which lived was directly proportional to the amount of the drug administered, Miss Pittman said.

None of those which received only one milligram of the drug survived the experiment. In some experiments in the series, 100 per cent of the mice which were given as much as eight milligrams came through alive. They apparently were not affected by doses of the germs 100 times greater than the amount ordinarily needed to kill them.

"The influence of Sulfapyridine on the survival of mice parallels the rapid recovery of the baby following treatment," with the drug, Miss Pittman said.

WAGNER GAVE HITLER IDEA SAYS MACMILLAN

Hitler thinks he's a Wagnerian hero and is willing to see Europe go up in flames provided he can regard it as his funeral pyre. This was the view of Sir Ernest MacMillan, leader of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, speaking in Vancouver Saturday night.

Hitler had identified himself with the heroic figures in Wagner's operas said Sir Ernest. Even his speeches were parodies on Wagner music. They had the same rush of sound, constant reiteration of theme and continuously rising climaxes. He even felt premonitions of death, said the Toronto speaker, regarding the war as a twilight of the gods, which would provide a spectacular end.

"Hitler would be less dangerous if he could laugh, but he can't laugh," said Dr. J. H. Cody, president of the University of Toronto. He addressed the Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at Sudbury.

He quoted Earl Baldwin, who told him during his Toronto visit last April that the issues of war or peace were in the hands of one abnormal man. "If the war fit is on him and no one restrains him there will be war," was what Earl Baldwin said. Dr. Cody related, and added: "The fit is on him, the lust for power."

FOUR ESCAPE INJURIES AS AUTO CRASHES TRUCK

Four Brantford girls, Frances Carpenter, Lillian Valachos, her sister, Evelyn Valachos, and Peggy Davis, escaped serious injury on No. 2 Highway east of Brantford when a car driven by Miss Carpenter crashed into the side of a transport truck driven by John Good of Sarnia. The heavily-loaded transport went into a ditch and rolled over. The driver escaped injury. Provincial Constable Eugene Rose said the transport truck attempted to pass another truck on a curve.

So great is the demand for pulp-cutters in the North, Sudbury office of the Employment Service of Canada was unable to fill an order for 150 cutters on Tuesday. It was able to gather half that number and hoped that by the end of the week it would be able to supply the other seventy-five.

Viscount Nuffield celebrated his 62nd birthday by contributing $500,000 to the Mansion House in London to the Red Cross.

Tuesday was the first Red Cross flag day of the war. Lord Nuffield had offered his contribution when public donations to the Red Cross reached $1,112,500, which was achieved October 6th.

In the excitement of stuffing the cheque into the contribution box an attendant nurse forgot to pin the flag day emblem on the automobile manufacturer.

CANADA'S REVENUE UP BY WAR TAX $5,000,000

Canada's revenue jumped by nearly $5,000,000 in September as compared to September of last year, according to a statement issued by the comptroller of the treasury. The increase, which brought collections to $39,544,251, reflected the extra taxes imposed at the special parliamentary session after Canada's declaration of war.

In the budget presented to the house September 12, excise duties were increased on cigarettes, tobacco wines, spirits and beer, and customs duties were raised on tea and coffee.

GOERING'S RUSS PAL GETS PLANE AS GIFT

Field Marshal Herman Goering, Nazi No. 2, has sent War Commissar Klementi Voroshiloff a swastika-adorned specially designed Stesler-Storch monoplane, as a token of German friendship, it was learned Tuesday.

It was not known whether Voroshiloff would replace the Nazi symbol with a Communist hammer and sickle emblem.

Col. Ascher-Brunner, German air attache, flew the plane to Moscow from Germany Monday.

SENTENCE EX-BISHOP FOR $73,000 THEFT

Hayward S. Ablewhite, former bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Northern Michigan, was sentenced Saturday to serve from one to ten years in prison for embezzlement of church funds.

Ablewhite submitted his resignation as bishop last spring. At the same time the standing committee of the diocese announced a $4,000 choir fund has disappeared and that a $69,000 shortage existed in the $90,000 diocesan fund.

WOODCHUCK AND MINK FOUGHT UNTIL BOTH DIED

A groundhog and a mink fought to the death on the banks of the Salmon River, near Shannville.

The animals were found this week by Charles Ray of the village locked in a death embrace, the ground hog first the victim of a savage attack of the mink during which its throat was deeply bitten. In its dying struggles it is believed it managed to secure the nose of the mink in its sharp incisors, holding it to the death. A fine mink skin rewarded the finder of the riverside drama.

Four purses containing a total of $26 were stolen Monday night from the home of Mrs. Phillips, Weatherall Ave., Toronto. The thief removed a screen from a rear bedroom window while Mrs. Phillips was entertaining friends.

Entering a confectionery store on College Street, in which is located a sub post office, a man who asked for the pay telephone managed to steal postage stamps valued at $100.40 on Saturday night. Police were called, but he was not located.

Smashing a window of a shoe store on Dundas Street West, early Sunday, a thief stole two pairs of shoes and escaped.

By forcing the rear cellar door, thieves entered a fruit store on Yonge Street Sunday and stole $59, including a Hong Kong $10 bill and three watches.

Police were called to a College St. address Saturday night when a man trying to break in the rear of the premises. A search of the district proved fruitless.

Thieves broke into the Ontario Battery, Tire and Electric Company, Bay street, early Tuesday and made off with a truck and more than 40 tires.

Thieves forced a cellar window in the home of Joseph Narcowor, Elm Road Monday night and stole a clock, $2, and some clothing. Another break-in was reported from St. Edmunds Drive, the home of George M. Rose, where three suitcases, a club bag, a typewriter and a vacuum cleaner were taken.

FREAK TROUT HAS 2 MOUTHS, 1 THROAT

George Washbrook, of Toronto, tells this fish story, but he's got the alleged fish to prove it. Fishing Monday, he caught a seven pound trout in Meaford Bay which had two mouths and two sets of teeth. The oddity had but one pair of eyes and the two mouths led into one throat and one stomach.

The W. M. S. of Trinity, United Church met on Thursday, October 5, at the home of Mrs. F. Fleming. The leader, Mrs. W. H. McBain, opened the worship service with a sentence prayer, following which all recited "A General Thanksgiving," and also Psalm XCVI.

The president, Mrs. F. Dafoe, conducted the business period being assisted by the secretary, Mrs. Earl Burnside. Plans concerning the sectional rally held at Bethel on October 13th were considered. Reports were received with interest from the secretaries of the following departments: Strangers and Community Friendship, Mrs. L. Ashley; Peace, Mrs. R. C. Fair; Literature, Mrs. Fleming; and Christian Stewardship, and Finance, Mrs. M. Fox. Much interest was aroused from the letter from the Christian Stewardship Presbyterian Secretary, Miss Ethel I. Osborne, concerning the responsibilities and duties of all members and the privilege and benefits derived from service. The appointment of Mrs. L. Ashley as secretary of the nominating committee to function before the November election of officers and the dedication of the offering by Mrs. Dafoe, concluded the business period.

Portions of scripture from Isaiah 40:1-5, 42:5-7; 49:5-6, were read by Mrs. P. Caverly, after which a hymn was sung, and the Lord's prayer recited. The second chapter of the Study Book "Moving Millions," by Winnifred Thomas, was thoroughly summarized by Mrs. L. Ashley, having assistance from Mesdames McBain, Ferguson, E. Burnside, G. Adams, Demorest, Fox and Fleming. The splendid contrast in living conditions and moral standards in portions of India, both rural and urban, that have been ministered upon by missionaries to that of sections non-Christianized, is indeed a tribute to their labour. A poem, "The Indian Road," read by Mrs. Jack, completed the story. A hymn and prayer earnestly offered by Mrs. Fair, concluded the exercises. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. L. Ashley in a pleasant social time.

SENTIMENT SPREADS TO ALTER NEUTRALITY ACT

Widespread sentiment has developed among United States Senate members for amendment of the Administration's neutrality legislation to permit American ships to carry on normal trade with British and French possessions in the Pacific and Indian Oceans and the China Sea.

Both on and off the floor several Senators expressed belief the legislation could be amended so as to allow American ships to continue such commerce without the risk of involving the United States in war.

Shipping experts who conferred with Senators Johnson (Rep., Cal.) Downey, (Dem., Cal.) Borah, (Rep., Idaho) and others said that from one third to one half of the $500,000,000 in goods annually exchanged between the United States and possessions of the European belligerents in the Pacific and vicinity were carried in American bottoms.

As it now stands, the neutrality bill would prohibit American ships from carrying any goods to ports of warring nations.

DR. E. N. BAKER, BELLEVILLE, DIES

Dr. E. N. Baker, 87, principal emeritus of Albert College, died in hospital at Belleville Friday. He was taken ill with pneumonia at his summer home in Muskoka district and removed to hospital in Belleville after being treated for some time in hospital at Bracebridge.

He was born in Oakville and educated at Albert College, Belleville, and Victoria University, located at that time in Cobourg.

Dr. Baker was a member of the board of regents of Victoria University, secretary of the Bay of Quinte Conference in 1892, delegate to the general conference of the Methodist Church in 1894, 1898 and 1902. He held pastorates in Madoc, Wellington, Napanee, Rosehall, Port Hope, Mount Forest, Euclid Avenue Church, Toronto, Stratford, Chatham, Bridge St. Church, Belleville, Broadway Tabernacle, Toronto, and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

He assumed the principalship of Albert College in 1913, coming from Sault Ste. Marie to succeed Dr. W. P. Dyer. Dr. Baker retired in 1926. The late Dr. Baker will be remembered by a number of Madocers as he held the pastorate of Madoc Methodist church for some time.

On Friday, October 6th, Wilfred Crawford and Edith Muriel Kruger of Detlor, were united in marriage by Rev. Alfred Poulter of the United Church parsonage. They were accompanied by Mr. Charles Emigh and Miss Martha Ada Baumhour of Madoc. The bride and groom will live at Detlor.

SNATH-COURNOYER

Miss Rita Mary Cournoyer, a resident of Madoc for some time, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Cournoyer, of Tweed, and Mr. Charles Leo Smith, son of Mrs. Snath and the late William Snath, of Toronto, were married Saturday morning in Holy Rosary Church, Toronto, Rev. Father C. J. Le Sage, Smiths Falls, cousin of the bride, officiated, and Mr. Joseph Hodgson was at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore shell pink French suede lace, with matching velvet turban, and carried Sweetheart roses. Miss Gertrude Snath, sister of the groom, was her attendant in a frock of water lily green taffeta, with velvet turban and bouquet of red and white gladioli. Mr. Gleason Smith was groomsmen, and Mr. James McGinn and Mr. Norman Kasta were ushers.

A reception followed at the Old Mill, and after a wedding trip Mr. Snath and his bride will reside in Toronto.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Charles M. Snath and her daughter, Dr. Theresa Snath of Weston, West Virginia; Mr. Frank Genore of Tweed; Rev. C. J. LeSage of Smiths Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rivers of Madoc.

WILLIAMSON-RAY

The marriage took place on Sunday morning at Springbrook Manse, Rev. A. W. Harding officiating, of Stella Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ray of Springbrook and Mr. Mark Groat Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Williamson of Brampton.

The bride, who was attired in a grey suit with dark green accessories was attended by Miss Muriel Linn, of Bancroft, as bridesmaid wearing a navy taffeta suit with accessories to match.

Mr. Stanley Ray, brother of the bride, was groomsmen.

After a trip to Watertown, Mr. and Mrs. Williamson will reside in Brampton.

WORLEY-GLOVER

On Thanksgiving Day, at the home of the bride's parents, the marriage took place of Norma Blanche, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Glover of Belleville, to Mr. Harold George Worley, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Worley of Trenton. Rev. John E. Glover, B.A., Hastings, uncle of the bride, officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of Royal blue lace, with navy accessories and white lace gloves. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds and fern.

Miss Mildred Worley of Toronto, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, wearing a japonica gown with matching accessories and a corsage of bronze baby mums and fern.

Mr. Alex. Glover of Belleville, brother of the bride, supported the groom. Wedding music was played by Mrs. J. E. Glover, aunt of the bride, while Miss Helen E. Glover sang very sweetly "O Perfect Love," during the signing of the register.

After the reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Worley left on a motor trip to Oshawa, Toronto and London.

The bride travelled in a navy pin-striped suit with navy shoes and hat, white gloves and white satin blouse.

LABOR SHORTAGE CAUSED BY WAR

Faced with a shortage of labor due to young men enlisting, many farmers near Brockville are turning to machinery.

As a result a million-dollar exhibit of farm machinery at the International Plowing Matches is attracting unusually keen attention from farmers.

The machine exhibit covers nearly an acre of ground and contains every conceivable kind of mechanical aid for the farm.

Most farmers have only skeleton staffs of hired help and P. F. Love of the Department of Agriculture, said Tuesday night many farmers were asking his advice in connection with the labor shortage.

newspaper is generally kept for days, and often referred to for information on dates and prices. This is something that our advertisers should keep in mind.

SCORNS NAZI TERMS

Premier Daladier Tuesday night scorned Adolf Hitler's "peace proposals" by declaring that the "German peace" would not prevent preparation for new conquests.

In a nation wide broadcast the French Premier made the first formal reply to the Friday Reichstag speech of Hitler by declaring France and Britain would "continue to fight" until they force Germany to give definite guarantees of security for a "lasting peace in Europe." He spoke after consulting his British allies.

Speaking at his desk in the War Ministry, Daladier left no doubt that unsupported promises such as Hitler had given in the past would be unacceptable as a basis for peace negotiations.

He characterized the peace offered by Hitler as one "which would only consecrate conquests by deceit or violence and would not prevent preparation for new ones."

What, in fact, did the latest speech before the Reichstag amount to he demanded.

"This: 'I have annihilated Poland. I am satisfied; let us stop the fight. Let us hold a conference to consecrate my conquests and arrange peace.'"

The Premier suggested that if France accepted Hitler's present proposals and demobilized under vain promises, in a few months' time she would have to face "abrupt aggression."

"It is said that the fate of Poland concerns only two powers (Germany and Russia); we reply that it also primarily concerns the Poles," he declared, adding:

"Attempts are being made to draw up a map of Europe without taking into account those living realities which are the people, their traditions their needs. We reply that this would thereby lead Europe to revolutions and wars which would drench them in blood for centuries."

France and Britain, he said, were obliged to fight because Germany wanted to impose on them her domination over Europe.

CRUSH HITLER BEFORE PEACE, BRITISH WISH, SAYS SPEAKER

The man in the street in England will never permit the British government to negotiate peace with Germany until Hitler is crushed, B. Ward Perkins, for many years a civil servant in India, and recently arrived from France and England, said at a special meeting of the Canadian Club in Toronto Monday.

He said that the ordinary citizen of Great Britain had no trust of the German Chancellor and believed nothing he said. The spirit of service to the Motherland was prevalent in England and the people were prepared to face any hardships in order to win the war.

ONE POT SUNDAY IN GERMANY NOW SACRIFICE DAY

Propaganda Minister Goebbels announced Tuesday that Germany's "one pot Sunday" would become "sacrifice Sunday."

The reason, he said, was that the "one pot meal already has become a regular fare of the German people." He did not explain what the Germans would have to "sacrifice" in addition on the designated Sundays.

During past campaigns one Sunday was set aside monthly when restaurants served only simple stew or a similar dish, with a percentage of the price paid to the winter relief fund.

FARMER KILLED BY OWN AUTO

Injured when his own automobile ran over him Sunday morning, Elias Anderson, 64, died Monday night in hospital at Port Arthur.

Mr. Anderson was driving out of the laneway at his farm in Jacques Township and stopped his car to close the gate. He was in the act of shutting the gate when the automobile rolled backward and struck him.

Mr. Anderson was a resident of the district for thirty-nine years. Mrs. S. Nyberg of Toronto, mother of George and Alfred Nyberg, Canadian boxers, is a daughter.

OIL SOLD BUT FEW SHIPS

An informed source in Mexico City said Tuesday that transportation problems brought on by the war had caused the accumulation in Houston, Texas, of $1,000,000 worth of petroleum products owned by the Mexican Government and consigned to Europe. The same source said Mexico has sold all the oil she could produce this year but "is having trouble getting tank ships to move it to Europe."

Hundreds of pounds of milk were reported stolen from Belleville district farmers over the holiday weekend, the can containing the milk being taken along with the produce. Large quantities of gasoline were stolen in the vicinity of Belleville from which the milk was stolen also which prompted investigating Provincial Police to draw the natural conclusion that the milk thieves were travelling presumably in a motor truck. Cans of milk from the vicinity of Rednersville and on the third concession of Thurlow were reported stolen on Saturday and Sunday nights respectively.

On Saturday night in Ameliasburg Township, one hundred and sixty pounds of milk left for cheese factory delivery, was stolen; 80 pounds respectively from the milk stands of Harry Allison and Charles Brickman. Robert Dempsey, Rednersville, also reported the theft of between 40 and 50 gallons of gasoline taken from his gas pumps. No undue disturbances were heard during the night. Provincial Police Wm. McBrien stated after investigations.

The following night, two cans of milk weighing 140 pounds each, were stolen from the milk stand on the farm of John Juby, third concession of Thurlow, and the same night an attempt to break into Stewarts' service station was unsuccessful as was an effort to obtain gasoline at Hopkins' garage at Foxboro, Monday night. Provincial Constable McBrien revealed Tuesday.

The persecution of the Catholic clergy in the Russian-occupied Poland has now begun, according to authoritative Vatican sources. A semi-official Vatican statement Monday prints a report that there have been "large-scale executions of priests, proprietors, etc." Your correspondent hears from another Vatican source that twenty bishops and high ecclesiastical authorities have been sent to Siberia.

It is noteworthy however, that the Osservatore Romano has not yet printed these reports.

TO SERVE SIX MONTHS FOR WIFE SWAPPING

Clarence June, 39, and Mrs. Mildred Davis, 26, two of the principals in Lapeer County's "wife swapping" case, Tuesday were starting to serve six months at Lapeer, Mich.

June's wife, Edith, 39, was placed on probation and Mrs. Davis' husband George, 37, was fined $150 and ordered to pay $100 court costs Saturday.

It was charged they traded mates and divided their fourteen children. Mrs. June has started suit for divorce. She and June have ten children.

Maritime authorities announced on Monday that the 3,670 ton German freighter Borkum had sailed secretly from the outer harbor of Montevideo, Uruguay, without a permit, an act which makes the vessel a pirate under international law.

Five German merchant vessels laden with Argentine grains are being concentrated at Montevideo to await definite sailing orders.

There is considerable conjecturing in diplomatic and shipping circles whether they are planning to make a dash for it at some moment when they learn that the cruisers of the British South Atlantic squadron are occupied elsewhere.

SCARCITY OF FOOD DESIRE FOR PEACE

BUSY CHECKING BLACK- OUT, POLICE LEAVE LIGHTS ON

As could be expected, there were a few isolated instances of carelessness in the first blackout of Saint John, N. B., and defence authorities agreed that there must be 100 per cent co-operation the next time.

The night selected for the second test. The signal was given, without previous warning, to make the test more realistic. Special guards swung into action along with police, to check up, in particular, on careless citizens. Everything went perfectly. Police headquarters smiled happily, then their chief's phone rang. "Is this chief of police?"

"Yes."

"Is there a blackout in the north end of the city?"

"Yes. Absolutely. All lights should be extinguished."

"Well, the district police station is all lit up."

The chief checked hurriedly. The entire district force was out busily checking lights.

CANADA TO GET $37.5 MILLIONS TO BUILD SHIPS

The first industry in this country to feel the direct stimulation of war will be shipbuilding, reports The Financial Post.

The British Government has decided to build as many ships as possible in this country, to offset losses caused by the U-boat campaign. A standardized type will be built, blue prints of which are now available here. The cost of each ship is placed at about $1,250,000 and the initial order, it is learned, is for 30 ships.

No actual orders for such construction, however, have yet been awarded.

Canadian shipyards are to be extended as rapidly as possible, having in mind the British Government's opinion that the war will last for three years. Only such extensions as can be made productive within this time limit will be approved.

SOUTH BAY FARMER EXPIRES WHILE WORK CUTTING GRAIN

Arrival of a team of galloping frightened horses at the barn, led relatives of James Bodborough, South Bay farmer, to investigate the whereabouts of their owner, who had been mowing buckwheat in a field at the rear of the farm.

They found his body, with life extinct, lying in the field where it is believed he had fallen from the seat of the machine following a heart seizure. Discovery was made by Colin Hulglin.

Coroner Dr. D. S. Lighthall was called and after investigating the circumstances decided an inquest unnecessary.

The late Mr. Bodborough was in his 54th year, and leaves two sons and his widow.

THE FRIENDLY PHILOSOPHER

The trouble with the country, I says to the creamery man, is that everybody thinks about his own troubles instead of the other fellows.

You might try mixing up a good batch of butter out of that old cream o'youns, says the creameryman, then mebbe you'd see what troubles I've got.

Speaking of butter, I says, reminds me of freshness, and speaking of freshness reminds me of the time I was getting water for the kitchen. I dropped my flashlight and it dropped down into the well. I pulled over a couple of boards, and I could see the blamed thing shining down there just as bright as could be, in fifteen feet of water. That's because the batteries had a date on them showing they were fresh.

HAVELOCK EDITOR WEDS

A quiet wedding was solemnized in the Centre Street United Church parsonage, at Oshawa, when Alma Hagerman, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hagerman, Havelock, became the bride of Mr. Fred MacKenzie, son of Mrs. Thomas Adley of Havelock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. A. Kemp, formerly of town. The bride attired in a sand travelling suit, with matching accessories and corsage of pink roses and lilies of the valley, was attended by her sister, Miss Irene Hagerman of Whitby. The groom was attended by Mr. Harold Hunter of Havelock.

Following a honeymoon trip to points in Eastern Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie will reside in Havelock, where the groom is owner and editor of the local weekly newspaper, The Havelock Standard.

COUNTY ROAD SYSTEM BEING PREPARED FOR COMING OF WINTER

With the county road system in fairly good condition for the coming winter, active operations will cease in the near future, Road Superintendent W. L. Langlois stated last week. Some stone crushing is being done in various parts of the county while parts of the roads that are subject to spring floods are being filled. Principal among these is the Black Creek road between Tweed and Sulphide, where generous amounts of fill have been placed in an attempt to halt the spring waters that annually impede traffic in this particular part of the county system.

MRS. MORLEY MOY IN BELLEVILLE HOSPITAL CRITICALLY INJURED

Victim of a shooting accident, Mrs. Morley Moy, of Mountain View, lies in the Belleville General Hospital in a critical condition.

According to reports from the scene of the accident, Clayton Moy, a cousin of Mr. Morley Moy, husband of the injured woman, had returned from duck hunting and was unloading his shot gun in the kitchen, when the weapon exploded. The charge struck Mrs. Moy in the abdomen, inflicting severe injuries.

Doctors Stobie and Anderson, of Belleville, physicians are attending Mrs. Moy.

U. S. ARMY WILL BE EXPANDED TO PEACE-TIME LIMIT

The United States War Department announced Saturday its intention to expand the United States army to its full peace time limit of 280,000 men and at the same time ordered mass training this winter of seven new streamlined divisions.

Five divisions and additional units comprising more than 65,000 troops will be concentrated first at scattered southern points and then at Fort Benning, Ga., for large scale training as an army corps. Two cavalry divisions will be concentrated at Fort Bliss, El Paso, Texas.

CHILD FALLS FROM WINDOW

Crashing heavily to the sidewalk of Picton's main street last week, two year old Douglas Werden was rushed to Prince Edward County Hospital in a critical condition.

The baby, whose parents were away at the time, crawled to the ledge of its second storey home window above Walmsley's Machine Implement Store, lost its footing and fell. A son of the owner of the store picked the child up and rushed it to the hospital. It is believed that the child suffered severe head injuries besides concussion.

NEED FOR UNIFORMS IS BOON TO AUSTRALIAN WOOL CROP

Australia, the world's principal wool producer, is beginning to feel the effects of a world's demand for war uniforms. The wool season closed with a stronger market than for many months, and with a very small carry-over of wool.

Apart from British buying, Germany, France and Japan dominated the market. In three weeks, Japan bought 10,000 bales or about 3,000,000 pounds.

HOSPITAL SERVICES ARE HONOURED

At the annual meeting of the Women's Hospital Aids Association, held at Toronto last week, Mrs. W. C. Mikel of Belleville, was elected Honorary Life Member of the Association. Mrs. Mikel has long been an ardent and distinguished hospital worker and received her appointment for such services. A number of Belleville persons attended the continent-wide meeting of the Women's Hospital Aids Association.

POOR SERVICE

While fishing on the lake this summer with mother and daddy, Patsy Anne suddenly threw her fishing pole into the bottom of the boat and exclaimed: "I quit."

"Why, Patsy, what is the matter?" asked mother.

"Well, mother," she answered, "I just can't seem to get waited on."

The Greys of Rednersville commenced the operation of their cider mill last week with Mrs. Grey assisting her husband as she has done for nearly 45 years. Mrs. Grey now in her 93rd year is as active and feels just as well, she says, as she did the first time she made cider.

IS PATRIOTIC DUTY TO DESTROY WEEDS

Many late fall weeds should receive attention at this time of the year. Wild Carrot might be mentioned particularly. Seeds are retained until late fall when they may be distributed by various agencies including wind, water, animals, birds and man, thereby infesting new areas, says J. D. MacLeod, weed expert, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The wind carries some weed seeds long distances in drifting soil also over frozen ground and snow. An experiment conducted in Saskatchewan proved this fact when it was found that six ounces of surface soil taken from a spot along a road fence, contained the following seeds: Stickweed 330; Wild Mustard 267; Hare's Ear Mustard 99; Stinkweed 3; Black Bindweed 150; Lamb's Quarters 15 and Ragweed 9. Another experiment conducted some years ago showed the presence of many weed seeds in snow — thirty-two seeds of nine species of weeds having been found in two square feet of a snowdrift.

Many weed seeds are eaten by birds during the late fall and early winter when other food is not plentiful. These seeds will not lose their vitality and may be carried long distances in this way.

Neglected fall weeds will spread plant disease, gather and hold snow clog ditches and thus hinder the flow of water. They are dangerous from a fire standpoint and are a source of infestation to the entire community.

Many Ontario fields are infested now with Wild Carrot, Toad Flax, Ragweed, etc. They should be mown at once, raked up and burned and the infested area brought into the crop rotation.

Seeds of the neglected weeds growing in vacant lots, around buildings, fence lines and on banks of rivers, small streams and ditches may be carried long distances by spring floods.

By cleaning up and burning all neglected weeds at this time the appearance of property is greatly improved. Whether you live in the city, town, or country, you can do your bit to cut down crop losses due to weeds, states Mr. MacLeod. It is a patriotic duty to clean up the weed menace.

YOUNG FARM BOYS TO JUDGE AT O. A. C.

The best farm boy judges in Ontario of live stock, swine, horses, poultry, grain and potatoes will gather at the O. A. C., Guelph, on Friday, October 20th to take part in provincial inter-club competitions. Last year 128 teams totalling 256 boys took part in the judging and a larger entry is expected this year, according to R. S. Duncan, Director of Agricultural Representatives Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, who is in direct charge of boys and junior farmer work.

In previous years the winners have represented Ontario in Interprovincial competitions at the Royal Winter Fair. This year the fair has been cancelled owing to war-time need of the buildings by the Canadian militia.

The work of training farm boys and girls to become expert farmers and homemakers respectively, has been pushed rapidly and successfully by Hon. P. M. Dewar, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, each year seeing a substantial increase in number of clubs and members. This year 7,363 boys and girls are enrolled in 764 clubs. Last year there were 655 clubs with 6,657 members.

Hon. P. M. Dewar will be the special speaker at a banquet to all contestants at O. A. C., following the judging competitions October 20th. The Farmers' Magazine will present trophies to the winners in dairy, beef and swine judging while the Ontario Horse Breeders' Association trophy will go to the winning foal club team. Grain winners will receive the Ontario Field Crop and Seed Growers' trophy while the J. T. Cassin trophy will go to the high boys in potato judging. In addition there are fifteen team prizes for each class ranging from $12. to $2.

PREPARES FOR SKI BUSINESS

With the Autumn season at hand, the Green Mountain winter resort centre of Stowe, Vt., is already actively engaged in making preparations for the annual influx of skiers and other winter sports which are brought here from Montreal and other Canadian points, also from New York and southern New England centres, on the ski trains of the Canadian National Railways. Snow comes early to the verdant peaks of the Green Mountains and frequently there is good skiing in October on the higher peaks of lofty Mount Mansfield.

TREE IS SHATTERED BY BOLT OF LIGHTNING

A huge pine tree was shattered by a bolt of lightning near the home of Elroy Pendleton at Woodruss on Friday. The bolt apparently followed the tree from the top and when 20 feet from the ground went through the centre where there was some decay. The top was broken off and several large slabs were broken off. These were almost too heavy for a man to lift. About fifteen feet of the trunk remained upright but torn to pieces. Those who have seen the tree state they have never seen lightning damage a tree so badly.

Mr. Pendleton stated that the tree is 100 yards from his home, where the house shook and dishes rattled.

RED CROSS GIFTS GET BIG TAX CUT

Reports to the effect that the Income Tax department will grant a 50 per cent exemption on all donations to the Red Cross fund are based upon section one of the amendment to the Income War Tax Act as passed at the special war session of Parliament.

This statute enlarged the existing list of exemptions by adding this one: "Not more than 50 per cent of the net taxable income of any taxpayer, which has been paid, actually within the taxation period to, and receipted for as such by, any patriotic organization or institution in Canada which hereafter receives the written approval of the Secretary of State of the Dominion of Canada."

COLEBROOK RESIDENT CELEBRATES HIS 100th BIRTHDAY

One of the district's oldest residents Henry Purcell of Colebrook, recently observed the 100th anniversary of his birth, the recipient of many congratulatory and good-will messages from his friends.

Mr. Purcell still takes an active interest in affairs of his homestead and was about his daily duties as usual last week. He was looking forward to his birthday party which was featured by a cake decorated with 100 candles.

He was born in Camden East in 1839, and joined the Orange Lodge at Tweed in 1857. Since then he had not missed a Twelfth of July "walk" in 82 years it is his proud boast.

SIXTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

St. Paul's Church, Marmora, will celebrate its 65th anniversary on Sunday, October 15th with special services. At the morning service at 11 a.m. the special preacher will be Ven. Archdeacon R. J. Dumbrell, rector of Napanee. At 7.30 p.m. Rev. G. Wright, L.Th., Rector of Christ Church, Belleville, will conduct Evening Prayer and preach the special sermon.

During the sixty-five years of its history St. Paul's Church has only had three Rectors. The late Canon Charles Mountain Harris was the first resident clergyman and he was Rector for 44 years, passing away on March 13th, 1923. Rev. P. Calger Watson was appointed successor to Canon Harris, but resigned after three years. In December, 1926, the present Rector, Rev. A. B. Caldwell, was appointed by Bishop Seager, coming to Marmora from Wyebridge.

All berths in the sleeping cars of the Canadian National Railways are now loosely made, so that the covers do not bind. This permits more easy entry into the bed and allows the passenger to sit up straight or in a reclining position for reading without being hampered in any way.

CANADIAN TAXES LOOK SMALL COMPARED TO BRITAIN'S

The income tax and other new tax demands made upon the Canadian people in the war budget a few weeks ago now look small compared with those announced in the British House of Commons last week.

According to the announcement, the British income tax assessment will, for the next full fiscal year, be 37.5 per cent, with the exemptions much lower than in Canada.

As an example it is stated that when a Canadian married couple, without children and with a $4,000 income will pay $84.00 tax, a British couple with equal income and no children will pay approximately $1200.

The Jupp Construction Company of Toronto, completed the work on the stone crushing operations here on Saturday last after crushing 10,000 tons of rock from T. J. Crowley's gravel pit. This rock has been placed on No. 45 Highway from Roseneath to Norwood, a distance of 15 miles. A number of reserve piles of this rock have been placed along the highway. —Hastings Star.

ENGINEER KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

A collision of two Canadian Pacific Railway freight trains a mile east of Chatham in a dense fog early Saturday brought death to Engineer Harold Brache of London, and injury to three others.

Freight No. 903 driven by Brache ploughed into the rear of No. 915 which was standing taking water outside the city limits about 7.15 a. m. Five cars were wrecked and telegraph poles knocked down.

The injured are:
J. J. Robinson of London, brakeman, brain concussion and head cuts; Harold French of London, fireman, fractured ribs and bruises.

An unidentified transient who was riding the rods.

The transient was thrown clear of the wreck. He suffered minor cuts and bruises, according to a woman at a nearby farmhouse where he stopped for treatment. The woman said the transient told her he was from Galt, but she had no more information.

A carload of cattle destined to Chatham was in the moving freight train. The impact of the crash set them loose and they ran at large in fields bordering the track. None was injured.

C. P. R. Telegraph and railway communications between London and Windsor were disrupted as a result of the collision.

Harold McCullough, of London, conductor of the moving freight, was uninjured. The engineer of 915 is Jas. Grassick and the conductor Wm. R. Cushing both of London.

It is believed that a signal to the oncoming freight warning of the one halted taking water was unnoticed in the fog, although an official statement on the cause of the accident was not immediately available.

Canadian Pacific Railway officials at Toronto said the cause of the train wreck at Chatham would not be determined until later date. A locomotive engineer was killed in the collision between two freight trains and three other men were injured.

Disruption of communication services in the Chatham area is hampering the investigation, officials said.

PROVINCES PLEDGE SUPPORT IN EFFORTS FOR FOOD SUPPLIES

At a conference between Ministers, Deputy Ministers and other officials of the Provincial Departments of Agriculture and members of the recently formed Agricultural Supplies Committee, held in Ottawa September 27, and 28, the fullest co-operation of the provinces with the Committee in any effort to promote the production of essential food products to meet the needs of Britain and her allies and the people of Canada, was pledged.

Hon. James G. Gardiner, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, at the opening session of the conference said it had been called with a view to getting co-operation in an effort to insure that food supplies are available for the Allies and the people of Canada. He explained that the fact should be kept in mind that the war will end some time and consequently it would not be advisable to plan now on definite lines of production, but so that the industry of agriculture should not be thrown out of gear when the war does end.

Dr. G. S. H. Barton, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, said that it was the hope that the Agricultural Supplies Committee would act as a clearing house for co-ordinating the various agricultural services that are assigned to do special duties in connection with the war. He explained that as yet the fullest information was not available as just what food products would be required. All that the Conference could hope to do for the time being is to shape a tentative program. One of the biggest contributions to the war efforts that can be made, he said, is by sending of supplies for the Allies. While it will be necessary to concentrate in this direction, the organization must be prepared to be readily adjusted in the light of needs and conditions as they develop, but the plans can nevertheless be prepared on a sound and efficient basis.

Dr. Barton said it was plainly apparent that the temper of people of Canada is that this war shall not be one of great profit to anyone.

An outline of the present position of production in relation to supplies of essential food products was given to the Conference by different officials of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

A. M. Shaw, Director, Marketing Service, who is Chairman of the Agricultural Supplies Committee, presided at the sessions of the Conference.

CANADA PLANNING TO IMPROVE ACCOMMODA- TION FOR PLANES

Canada is planning to improve accommodations for military airplanes on both the Atlantic and the Pacific extend winter training facilities at Camp Borden and build a new wireless station at Point Grey, Vancouver, it was disclosed recently in the current issue of the Canada Gazette.

The Gazette, the Government's official publication, carried announcements by the Defence Purchasing Board concerning tenders to be let for various military projects in several parts of the Dominion.

At three points on Nova Scotia's coast additional accommodation is to be provided for Royal Canadian Air Force war planes. Tenders have been called for seaplane hangars and three land plane hangars at Dartmouth. Sydney will get two landplane hangars and Yarmouth three landplane hangars.

At Saint John a landplane hangar is planned for the Air Force.

Additional accommodation for landplanes is to be provided by two hangars at Patricia Bay, B. C. Here also will be built an apron, slipway and wharf for R.C.A.F. seaplanes and a torpedo repair and maintenance building.

For the Point Grey wireless station tenders are being called for an operating station, living quarters, steel masts, roads and fences.

It was made known that fuller use is to be made of winter training facilities at the Camp Borden, Ont., station of the R.C.A.F. and tenders are being called for the steam heating of hangars.

At the Patawawa Military Reserve tenders are being called for the construction of wood hutments at Centre Lake, in the heart of the 100 square mile reserve.

TRIO ROB BANK UNDER THREAT

Three desperadoes revived Oklahoma's bank banditry days with a sensational threat to blow up a Picher bank with nitroglycerine after kidnapping a salesman and holding him more than forty hours.

The $1,195 holdup of the First State Bank at Picher and another at Wubbers Falls were the first in 19 months in Oklahoma—once the scene of almost daily raids by such dare-devils as Pretty Boy Floyd.

The nitroglycerine bandits started their raids Monday night with the kidnapping of Raymond Quirk, 49 year old Tulsa salesman, at Vinita. Tuesday they robbed a Miami filling station for "cigarette money."

Saturday they sent their leader, a blond youth, to rob the Picher Bank while a second stood guard outside and a third held Quirk hostage 17 miles away.

The blond youth flourished a bottle of colorless fluid before Clarence Miller, bank employee, Constable Clarence McLanahan, who had just walked in, and three customers and demanded $5,000 from Cashier W. A. Brewer "or I'll blow this place sky high."

Brewer shoved out a stack of bills, meantime pushing $4,000 in currency into a wastebasket.

Quirk said on his release he had been kidnapped for his car.

WELLAND WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH

Imprisoned in her automobile when it overturned and caught fire, Mrs. Ivan McCoombs, 25, of Welland, was burned to death on Friday.

Police said the car struck the side railing of a wooden bridge at Beaverdams near Welland, careened back on the road, turned over and burst into flames. Part of the bridge railing was jammed against the car door preventing the escape of Mrs. McCoombs.

Surviving are her husband, Ivan McCoombs; a six year old daughter, Dorothy, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Dilts of Fonthill, and a brother and sister.

ARRESTED FOR DISLOYAL TALK

First in Huron County to be arrested under the War Measures Act, Frank Edward Eickmeyer, 19 year old Logan Township youth, is in Goderich jail. The young man, who was arrested at Seaforth last week, was taken to the jail at Goderich. It is charged that he was speaking in a seditious manner outside the town hall at Seaforth where a dance was being held as the final item on the Fall Fair program Friday. He is alleged to have stated that if there were any way of getting to Germany, he would immediately go there and fight for Hitler.

OBITUARY GUSTAV EDWARD BEHM

The funeral of Gustav Edward Behm, who died at the Hastings County Home on Tuesday of last week, took place from the Pinkston Funeral Home, Belleville, on Thursday afternoon. The service in the chapel and at the graveside in Belleville cemetery was conducted by the Rev. A. L. Geen.

The deceased, who was 53 years of age, was born at Palmer Rapids in Renfrew County. For some time he lived in Wicklow Township in Hastings County and for the past four years has been an inmate of the Hastings County Home.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Emil Behm, and several brothers, all residing at Maynooth.

ROBERT M. CLARE

The funeral of Robert McCamon Clare, late postmaster at Roslin, took place from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Belleville, on Thursday afternoon. The service in the chapel and at the graveside in Tweed cemetery was conducted by Rev. F. C. Beazer, Rector of the Anglican Church, Roslin, assisted by the Rev. J. W. McDonald, minister of the Presbyterian Church at Roslin, and the Rev. Dr. James Semple, Minister of Bridge Street United Church, Belleville.

The late Mr. Clare was a member of the Masonic Order and the last rites of the Order were conducted at the graveside by Past Master T. S. Rath.

The bearers were Messrs. D. Leslie, W. White, C. Sills, N. Alexander, A. Bates and C. Chapman.

WILLIAM GUFFIN

The death occurred at the Belleville General Hospital on Thursday, October 5th, of William Guffin of Holloway. He was a farmer and was 66 years of age and unmarried. He was a patient in the hospital since August 28th.

MRS. ELVA VINCENT

A tragic accident occurred in Brighton early Thursday evening, when Mrs. Elva Vincent drove her car on to the C. N. R. tracks and was instantly killed by a through freight train. Another freight train standing on a siding and an approaching car are thought to have caused her mistake.

Mrs. Vincent, who was in her 69th year, had lived in Brighton all her life and was well and favorably known. A member of various women's organizations in Brighton, she was a member of the Brighton United Church, and of the Order of Eastern Star. Her husband, William Vincent, died about ten years ago.

The funeral service took place on Saturday afternoon, from Brintnell's Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. J. E. Anderson, of Brighton United Church, and burial will be made in Mount Hope Cemetery.

Two sisters, Mrs. O. R. Denyes, of Belleville, and Mrs. S. J. Phillips, of St. Petersburg, Florida, formerly of Madoc, and three brothers, Clarence Maybee, of Smithfield; Manley Maybee, of Frankford and Ezra Maybee of Wellington survive.

An inquest was ordered Friday on the death of Mrs. A. Vincent, 50, of Brighton, whose automobile was struck by the locomotive of a Canadian National Railway freight train and carried 100 feet.

Mrs. Vincent was alone in her car at the time.

G. ROWE CONVICTED ... UNDER WAR ACT

Convicted under the War Measures Act of 1939 of making defamatory remarks leading to the disaffection to His Majesty the King, Gerald Rowe, Prince Edward County, was remanded for sentence by Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C., in Trenton police court recently. Rowe is the third person to have been convicted in Magistrate Butlers' courts since the declaration of war.

In prosecuting the case, Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C., stated that Rowe had entered into conversation with soldiers of the Canadian Army and had allegedly intimidated they had not joined the forces through patriotism but purely for monetary reasons. Rowe also was alleged to have said he was not proud of being a Canadian and that "this country could get along very nicely without a King."

The prosecution also introduced soldier witnesses who testified that Rowe had given the German salute of the upraised right arm and had said "Heil Hitler."

In defence, Rowe stated he had merely said "Hi-ya Hitler," and he also denied making other defamatory statements. His Worship registered a conviction and remanded the accused for sentence.

Invite Them All

Many a non-advertising retailer refrains from advertising because he feels that it is necessary to advertise in a big way and that he is not ready to do that.

Pull of a Small Advertisement

Beginners in every form of enterprise should go warily; until experience, practice and growing ability warrant their attempting larger things they should proceed in a cautious manner.

Begin with a Small Space

It would pay some retailers to use the Classified Advertisements and small spaces of two or three inches.

Make the Small Advertisements quote Special Merchandise. Change them frequently. A quick succession of little advertisements, every one of which is alive, will effect sales and attract new customers. The great thing to be afraid of is inertness—a retail store which does not talk to the public by means of newspaper advertisements misses a whole lot of business.

SAW TWO NAZI U-BOATS SUNK

Eyewitness accounts of the sinking of two German submarines by British destroyers were given Tuesday by the crew of a British freighter which loaded 240,000 bushels of wheat after a perilous Atlantic crossing.

The crew also described the torpedoing by a submarine of a British tanker.

"We left England after the war was declared," one sailor said. "For the first four days of our twenty-five-day trip across, we were convoyed by British destroyers. There were several other ships in our convoy."

"In those first four days, three German submarines attempted to attack us. From the decks of our ship we saw two of the subs sent to the bottom. One of them was only about 100 yards off our port rail when the depth bomb got it."

"Evidently the sub was not far below the surface, because, when the depth bomb exploded, a great geyser of oil, water and wreckage spewed above the surface. The second sub was farther away, but it left a big splash of oil on the water after the destroyers bombed it."

The destroyers, the sailors said, reported they had sunk a third U-boat, the crew members did not witness this battle.

"We did see a British tanker sent to the bottom, however," the sailor added. "We were some distance from her, and she was heading toward our convoy when the torpedo struck. It was just one big explosion and the ship vanished."

HOOVER WOULD BAN
SALE OF BOMBERS

Former President Herbert Hoover Tuesday night urged the United States to "raise a standard against barbarism" in warfare by prohibiting the sale of bombing planes, poison gas and submarines to any nation at any time, whether neutral or warring.

I do not like to think of the day when bombing planes, engaged in the killing of women and children, on both or either side in this war, will be identified as the product of manufacture," he said in a statement which he described as a response to requests for advice on the neutrality bill from several Senators and Congressmen.

"Whichever country it may be, the news will be transmitted to the American people that this killing has been done with the products of American industry."

Equally important, and from exactly the same reasoning, I am convinced that we should permit nations to buy from us the instruments by which they can defend themselves from such barbarities," the statement continued.

"We should therefore permit 'the sale of pursuit planes, light observation planes, anti-aircraft guns, and any other instrument of defense against attacks on civilians.'"

KITCHENER HITCHHIKER
LATE FOR WEDDING,
BLAMES DRUG

Case of the missing bridegroom was cleared up Tuesday when W. J. McCarvell of Kitchener arrived at Stratford for his wedding to a Stratford girl a bit late.

Kitchener and Stratford police had been asked to search for McCarvell when he failed to arrive on time, but it was learned he had missed a bus from Kitchener to Stratford and started to hitch-hike.

McCarvell said he got a lift as far as Petersburg, when he and the car driver stopped for a beer. He said he believed he was drugged.

"I felt terribly groggy and sleepy after drinking the beer," McCarvell said, "but I don't remember much after that." He said his money was missing, but he would not reveal the amount he had been carrying.

When found by members of the bride's family Tuesday McCarvell still had the wedding ring but carried no bags. They later were found in a hotel at Stratford with the contents intact.

STRUCK BY SWING

Lois Maines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Maines, a pupil of Tweed Consolidated School, was painfully hurt when struck on the head by the swing seat during the noon recess on Thursday. It was first feared she had suffered a fractured skull, but such, fortunately, was not the case.

evening the bear was seen up the tree but made a quick getaway, so finally, the next evening Mr. Ruckstuhl managed to shoot Brula. It is thought the bear would weigh over two hundred pounds.

HORSE, NEGRO CAPTURES AWARD

Dr. George Washington Carver, a son of negro slaves, who as a boy was bartered for a racehorse, has won a Theodore Roosevelt memorial medal for distinguished service in agricultural chemistry.

Two other Roosevelt medals were awarded Sunday to Carl Sandburg, poet, for his biography "Abraham Lincoln—The Prairie Years," and to Major-General Frank R. McCoy, retired, for his administration of public office and in behalf of national defense.

MAMA OF C. E. F.
DIES IN BRUSSELS

Mme. Eugene Urbain Gaucquier, 88, who was known as "The Mama of the Canadians," because of her work in the Mons region during the first Great War, died at Brussels Sunday.

During the 1918 offensive Mme. Urbain Gaucquier with her own hands buried seventeen Canadian soldiers who fell in battle.

RENOVATE OLD DESTROYERS

The United States Navy Department reported Monday that 28 more old destroyers of the Great War period had been ordered recommissioned bringing the total to 38. Plans for recommissioning old destroyers, announced recently, called for a total of 40. The destroyers eventually will join the neutrality patrol.

FLIER SUICIDES TO KILL 67 NAZIS

The newspaper Paris-Soir reported Monday in a despatch from Zurich, that a Czech flier, feigning willingness to reveal positions of secret mines in an air field near Prague, touched off a mine and blew himself and sixty-seven German policemen, soldiers and aviators to bits.

A Fulham, Eng., old-age pensioner is going to let his beard grow until the war ends.

Ordinarily he would get four shaves a week, each costing sixpence.

He is going to save his sixpence and send the money to the Red Cross Fund for war-time sick and wounded.

WEDDINGS

FOBERT-O'CARROLL

A pretty autumn wedding was celebrated on October 3rd at St. Michael's Church, when Mary Agnes, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. O'Carroll of Thurlow, was united in marriage to Joseph Patrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fobert of Queensboro. Rev. Father J. J. Collins, cousin of the bride, officiated. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Grant. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in navy sheer, navy felt hat and matching accessories and carried a bouquet of Lady Blanche roses. Miss Lena Fobert, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, attired in navy sheer with matching hat and accessories. Mr. Bernard O'Carroll, brother of the bride, attended the groom. After the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, a sumptuous repast was served to the immediate relatives. The bride was recipient of many lovely gifts. The happy couple left on a short trip. On their return they will reside in Madoc.

Sister Stocklosar thanked the Lodge for the gift and wished them every success for the coming year. Oakdale Lodge was welcomed to Belleville by Sister Annie Phillips and Sister Annie Rose, former Madocers. At the conclusion of the meeting a banquet was given in the dining hall and a social hour spent.

FOUR WEEKS' SHORT COURSE TO BE HELD IN MADOC

The Ontario Department of Agriculture is sponsoring a four weeks' Short Course in Madoc from November 21st to December 15th. This course will be divided so that both boys and girls may attend. The four weeks' course under the supervision of the Women's Institute Branch, is on Home Economics and Home Nursing. This is a splendid course and has proven very popular with the young women where these courses have been held in previous years. There will be a four weeks' course in Agriculture for the boys. This will be a general course on farm management, judging livestock, soils and fertilizers, crops and crop rotations and many other interesting topics. It is ten years since there was a short course of this kind in Madoc and the Department of Agriculture feels that the boys and girls of Madoc district should be given another opportunity to attend a Course in Home Economics or Agriculture.

MEETING OF JUNIOR W. A. OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

A delightful supper meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Major on Monday evening, October 16th. After a delicious meal the business part of the meeting was conducted when plans were made for the Rummage Sale on Saturday, October 21st. Devotions were led by Rev. Pepper. The next meeting is to take place at the home of Mrs. J. H. Davies on Monday, November 6th.

FATALITY TOLL OVER WEEK-END IN ONTARIO, 16

Ontario's week-end fatality toll stood Monday at 16 with the possibility an airplane tragedy would add still another victim to the list. A Royal Canadian Air Force plane, missing from Trenton Airport since early Saturday, crashed at Snowroad, 20 miles north of Sharbot Lake, in Kingston district. The body of one man was reported found in the wreckage. The plane carried Pilot Officer H. K. Corbett of Fredericton, N. B., and G. J. Olstead, of Belleville. The known victim is unidentified; the fate of his companion unknown. Automobile accidents took nine lives, a quadruple fatality snuffing out the lives of two young couples on the LaSalle causeway near Kingston. Howard Leggett, 30, Kingston, driver, and Bombardier W. Bruce, 23, Port Hope, were instantly killed. Their wives died later in hospital. Four fatal crashes occurred in the Toronto area. Amery Alcott, 45, Bolton, died after struck by an automobile; E. F. Robinson, 33, Richmond Hill, was killed and two others seriously hurt when his car crashed a heavy truck; Harry Taxy, 44, King, was knocked from his bicycle and fatally hurt; and Samuel Castor, 72, Toronto, died of injuries after stepping in front of an automobile.

ARMED MAN STEALS PLANE AT SUDBURY; GAS TANKS FULL

A nationwide police alarm was broadcast Monday following theft of a silver-winged Aeronca plane from the Austin Airways base at Lake Ramsay, near Sudbury. The robbery was effected in pulp magazine fiction style by an armed man, who first held up, tied and gagged the watchman at the base, Fred Seugin. He then passed the sitting in the office of the company, sitting quietly drinking stolen rum beside the helpless watchman. In the morning he took off with full tanks and about twenty extra gallons of gas. Police at Sudbury expressed the opinion that the plane might have been stolen to expedite a bank robbery or some other crime the gunman had planned for the immediate future. It bears the red letters CF-BLO on the wings.

TWO RESCUED FROM BLAZE

John Burkitt, 40, and his aunt were rescued by Napanee firemen on Friday after fire of undetermined origin caused $2,000 damage to the upstairs radio repair shop and dwelling of Burkitt. Equipment and interior of a barber shop on the main floor suffered heavy water damage. Burkitt and his aunt were trapped in the front part of the building and were taken down ladders by firemen. Approximately twenty-five radios were destroyed. Mr. John Burkitt, and his aunt, Miss Emma Sanderson, were formerly residents of Madoc.

ARMED BANDITS HOLD UP AND ROB L. GEROW, GILEAD

Held up at the point of a revolver by two armed highway bandits, Leo Gerow, Gilead, was robbed when his automobile was stopped by the armed highwaymen on Highway No. 14 at Gilbert's Corners, 15 miles south of Belleville early Sunday evening. Gerow later informed Provincial Police the robbers had taken $5.00 from his purse, which he had hidden beneath the seat of his car when he was stopped. Mr. Gerow said there was a small sum in his wallet also.

The British war office said Monday some German troops captured in France did not know a war was on until weeks after it started. A statement asserted the Germans were "absolutely flabbergasted when they found out by being shot at and surrounded that there was a real war."

CONSTRUCTION OF RADIO BEAM STATION GIVES WORK TO SEVERAL MEN

The farm of Mr. John Johnson, Mount Pleasant, on the Iroquois Trail, between Hoards and Stirling, is a busy place these days as a radio range station is being built on twenty acres of property which has been purchased by the Department of Transport, Ottawa. When this station is completed it will be a short cut for direct air mail service between Ottawa and Toronto as well as for Trans-Atlantic flights. The contractor in charge is Mr. E. Wills, with Mr. E. Palmer, engineer and Mr. William Lukanuk as supervisor, all of Ottawa.

WOMEN'S TRINITY CLUB

The opening meeting of the Women's Club was held on October 11th. The president, Mrs. Cummings, opened the meeting with Miss Ferguson calling the roll. Devotional period was in charge of Mrs. A. Smith. Hymn No. 148 was sung. Mrs. L. Ashley read the Psalm and Mrs. Hulin gave the lesson. This period was closed with hymn No. 154. Business was then discussed. A hearty vote of thanks was given Miss MacDermid for her work in directing the play which was such a success. Miss Smythe was guest speaker of the evening and rendered a most interesting talk of her experience during the last war, through which she worked in the W. A. C. Lunch was served and an enjoyable time was had by all.

ANNUAL SUPPER SUCCESSFUL EVENT

A large number attended the St. John's Anglican annual supper which was held under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild in their rooms on Thursday, October 12th. The tables were prettily decorated with French marigolds and Hallowe'en colours, while those assisting wore caps and aprons to match.

Mrs. J. A. Buchanan and Mrs. R. Conder, of Belleville, were Tuesday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wovles.

HERE AND THERE

While it is as useless as it is uncertain to attempt to predict the events of the war from time to time, it is none the less interesting to study the record of the struggle from day to day and draw one's own references as to what may happen next. One sometimes realizes that John Bull is a pretty good chess-player.—Annapolis Royal, N. S.

Assurances by the Federal Government that profiteering will not be allowed, should result in an end of the run on grocery stores to obtain quantities of sugar and other foodstuffs. According to reliable sources, there is no danger of any shortages of foodstuffs in Canada. Canadians can show their patriotism by refusing to allow themselves to be stampeded into a panic, resulting in hoarding.—Picton Gazette.

SURRENDER NOTHING

With France and all other nations who will march forward in defence of freedom, we fear nothing. We surrender nothing. We fight for the liberty of mankind. No allies ever went into battle for a finer or more splendid cause. Our resolution and strength are limitless. Again and the nations have tried their might against us, again and again we have brought them to the dust before our feet. And Britain is Britain yet.—London Sunday Express.

GOOD MONEY AND BAD

The money in your pocket is good because of the weight of public opinion which, in other words, is faith in the nation and its people. That public opinion must be kept unimpaired if this country is to avoid the awful inflation that has paralyzed other nations. Bad money can cause more misery and harm than bad men in office. An enlightened body of citizens who know enough to recognize dangerous financial policies as they appear, is a necessary safeguard to insure sound money, the finest flower of a healthy government.—Lee S. Trimble in Inspection News, Atlanta, Ga.

REASON FOR HOME BUYING

Out of every 100 American home owners, 50 buy their first house "to have a better place to bring up the children." The next greatest motive is just a sentimental longing "for a home of our own." Investment runs a poor third as a reason for home ownership. The average American couple buy their first home when they have been married five years, when the husband is 32 and the wife is 29. The average price paid by the families studied was $4,899, almost exactly two years' salary, the average annual income reported being $2,452. New homes were built by 31 per cent of the families questioned. Sixty-nine per cent purchased older houses, and there were children in 61 per cent of the families at the time their first home was purchased.

THE PRICE OF WAR

With the perusal of the provisions of the war budget we can see that the public will begin immediately to pay for the costs of war. From now on we will pay more for some necessities and a great deal more for luxuries. This is as it should be and every loyal citizen is ready to do his part and will not be found wanting when called upon for many sacrifices. The call will not be for men and money alone, but for stability and steadfastness in purpose.

In the last Great War there was much profiteering and the people of Canada and all other democracies will not tolerate the repetition of such selfishness. Surely those of us who cannot serve in uniform on the battle fields of Europe should be satisfied and thankful to make a decent living, and not try to accumulate fortunes while others are suffering and dying to preserve democracy so we can be free to earn and use our daily wage. Those who have more than they need can surely use the surplus now for the cause of humanity.—Forest Standard.

INDOMITABLE CANADIAN LOYALTY

From everywhere in Canada, from coast to coast, some stories of young men determined to serve their King and Country, and to do their bit to rid the world of the tin-pot Napoleon Adolf Hitler, and his despotism. The Sun has already printed stories of men having persisted, in face of obstacles and disappointments, in their determination to serve in the fighting forces of Canada for the Empire. Still the stories come.

From the far off rocky North, comes the following reprinted from the Northern News at Kirkland Lake:

"While there has as yet been no word of local recruiting for any branch of the services for overseas, yet there is a continual trickle of northern boys down country to enlist. Just last week six young fellows from Timmins, all likely looking lads about 20 years of age, were seen on the south edge of the town, hitchhiking their way to Toronto to join up with some of the units there. And they did not wait long for a ride."

From Orillia comes the report that demands have been made for the opening of a recruiting office there by the Simcoe-Gray Regiment, but pending such action by the Department of National Defence, it is said some hundred and fifty members of that regiment which is, as yet, not designated as part of the Canadian Active Service Force, will present themselves for enlistment in a Toronto Regiment.

On Saturday last, the Irish Regiment of Toronto, chagrined because it was not included in the first Canadian Division to cross the Atlantic to Europe, wired the Minister of Defence pleading to be included and to be permitted to help in the "mopping up" of Germany.—The Quinte Sun, Trenton.

NO BLACKOUT FOR BUSINESS

Someone started us thinking the other day with the question "why conduct a better business campaign now that we are at war?" There can be nothing more harmful to the country than the thought expressed in that question. It is true Canada is at war with Germany and that we all must gird ourselves for another gigantic struggle but there is absolutely no cause for panic. There is no reason why any of us should become victims of war hysteria. We must keep cool, hold firm and go ahead with our business and other plans just as if there were no war. Each of us must do his or her job as usual and as well as possible until the call comes for us to do something else.

We are not responsible for the war which has been thrust upon us. The whole of the enlightened world has placed the blame on one man and that one man is Hitler. Our conscience and our duty are clear. Canada and the other democracies must fight until Hitlerism is driven from the face of the earth and so crushed that never again will it raise its ugly head to threatened humanity.

Everyone must be willing to do his or her part. What is needed in Canada now is stability. Courage is required of business and professional people just as much as of our soldiers in uniform. There should be no unnecessary retrenchment, no needless hoarding, no panic for storing up supplies, no curtailment which will throw people out of work. Economic chaos would be just as fatal as military chaos. Fear must be kept from the homes of our people as it only would weaken our battle for human freedom.—Richmond Hill Liberal.

OBITUARY

FREDERIC W. H. LEAL

Following a lengthy illness the death occurred here yesterday of Frederic William Herbert Leal, Great War Veteran, and highly respected resident of Smiths Falls for the past 32 years. The late Mr. Leal was born in Madoc 54 years ago a son of the late William E. H. Leal and his wife, Mary Jane Holy. He came to Smiths Falls 32 years ago and had resided here ever since, being employed as a moulder at the Smiths Falls Malleable Castings Company for many years. Mr. Leal enlisted in the Great War and served overseas and his death resulted from ailments contracted during his army service. He had been ill for the past 12 years. Possessed of many sterling qualities he was held in general esteem and his passing will be deeply and sincerely mourned. In religion he was an Anglican and a member of St. John's Church congregation and was also a member of the Canadian Legion.

Left to mourn his loss, in addition to his mother, Mrs. W. E. Leal, of Tweed, are his widow, the former Ethelene Barrie, of Smiths Falls; three daughters, Mrs. Jack Hathaway, Toronto; Mrs. Gordon Cable, Carleton Place, and Miss Winnifred at home; two sons, William and Douglas at home; three brothers, Ernest of Oswego, N. Y.; Harold of Roseland, Ont.; and Frank of Deloro, Ont.

Four of Mr. Leal's brothers went overseas with him and one was killed in France. The funeral, under military auspices, was held on Friday afternoon at 1.45 p.m. from his late residence, 7 Aberdeen Avenue, to St. John's Church, thence to Hillcrest Cemetery where the remains were laid to rest.—Smiths Falls Record-News.

LATE MRS. SINE

Mrs. Nancy Ellen Dafoe, widow of the late Stephen Sine, highly respected resident of Sidney Township, passed away at the home of her daughter Mrs. Howard Dafoe, Monday afternoon. She was born in Sidney township and resided there all her life except for twelve years when she and her husband lived in the village of Frankford. She is survived by one daughter Lena, (Mrs. Howard Dafoe) and one son Perry, of Frankford. She was predeceased by her husband and three daughters, Emma, Lilly Beatrice, and Elva Irene (Mrs. Emerson Lott) and one son Raymond.

The funeral was held at the home of her daughter Mrs. Howard Dafoe, Wednesday, October 11th. The bearers were two grandchildren, Grant and Ross, both of Plainfield, and Carman Frost, a step-grandchild, and Vernon Bush and Wilfred Badgley, whose wives are step-grandchildren. Interment was made in the Sine cemetery.

FIRST DIVISION TO SPEND WINTER IN BRITISH ISLES

Canada's first overseas Division will proceed to England within the next two months to complete its training there and receive service equipment.

Like the first contingent in the first Great War, the probability is the Division of about 16,000 men will spend the winter or a large part of it in England.

Lack of facilities for concentrating a large body of troops in Canada under winter conditions makes the final training of the Division impracticable in Canada.

Although there are a large number of military training grounds in Canada none of them has sufficient all-weather buildings to house a Division although they can accommodate considerable numbers of troops during the summer, when tents may be used.

Valcartier, Petawawa, Niagara on the Lake, and Camp Borden in Ontario and Dundurn, Sask., would be suitable for summer training. Before another year passes it is expected one or more of these camps will be made into a winter establishment but the task of erecting huts, installing sewage works and heating systems for upwards of 15,000 men requires time.

TWEEDSMUIR PLOWS IN MUD AT BIG CONTEST

Canada's Governor General, Lord Tweedsmuir, slipped and slithered around the muddy grounds of the International Plowing matches at Brockville Thursday afternoon and refused to ride in his car while making a tour of the matches.

The grounds were wet throughout the week, but Thursday's downpour caused the ground to be exceptionally muddy. Churned by hundreds of passing feet early in the afternoon, the ground was covered with nearly two inches of slippy mud by the time Lord

SATURDAY

Egg prices shot up sharply on the Belleville market Saturday morning noting a five-cent rise to forty cents per dozen for "A" selects as against the top prices of 35 cents a week ago.

Mediums and pullets sold at 38c and 37c with stocks on the whole being considerably less than those of the previous Saturday.

Chicken prices likewise maintained the high levels of the previous week with choice young birds selling generally at 23 cents the pound, although in some cases the top price of 25 cents was demanded. Farmers' butter prices were steady at 30 cents for singles and 60 cents for two pound rolls.

In contrast, potato prices noted a slight increase as the late crops made their debut on the market. Seventy-five pound bags were quoted on Saturday at $1.25, a drop of 15 cents from the previous week's quotations. Bushels were offered at 90 cents and pecks at 25 cents and 30 cents for extra stock. Vendors stated that the quality of the late yield is of high calibre with little or none of the blight that ravaged last year's crops being in evidence.

Home grown tomatoes, not yet the victims of damaging frosts, were fairly plentiful with bushel lots offered at 60 cents and 75 cents each. Baskets were available at 20 cents. Little sweet corn was offered, the few dozen present going at 15 cents each. Vegetables moved briskly at steady prices.

Imported grapes at 20 cents the basket were a feature of the fruit offering. Blue Damson plums sold at 40 cents the basket.

Choice winter apples at the lowest prices quoted in years were plentiful. Northern Spies of excellent quality, were offered at $1. the hamper, with a slightly inferior grade quoted at 75c. Talman Sweeties, Macintosh Reds, Snows, Crimson Pippins and other high grades of fruit were offered at a flat price of $1.00 the bushel.

Fresh lake trout at 25 cents the pound, headed the fish offering with whitefish at 22 cents, pickerel at 20 cents and a few mudcats at two pounds for 25 cents rounding out the offering.

FIRST ROYAL OAK BURNED IN 1667 BY DUTCH FLEET

British sailors have attached an ill omen to the name Royal Oak ever since the Dutch sailed up the Medway in 1667 and burned the first of the line.

The battleship sunk Saturday was the eleventh Royal Oak in the Royal Navy—a commemoration of the Oak tree at Boscombe, Shropshire, in which the fugitive King Charles II hid after the battle of Worcester in 1651.

Within a month of being commissioned in 1916, the vessel was in action at Jutland, next in line after the Iron Duke, flagship of the British fleet in that battle.

Other Royal Oaks have been unfortunate in war.

In 1778 a Royal Oak was one of the heaviest sufferers in a battle with American revolutionaries and the French.

The recent Spanish civil war brought misfortune to the battleship just sunk. Five of her crew were injured when an anti-aircraft shell fell on her deck during a Spanish Nationalist bombardment of Valencia, on Feb. 24, 1937.

Eleven years ago the Royal Oak was the scene of a social scandal which resulted in the conviction of two senior officers by court martial and retirement on half pay of Rear-Admiral Bernard St. George Collard. The officers were punished for violating naval regulations in protesting the conduct of the admiral, who was accused of "uncontrollable fits of temper" and of insulting members of the ship's company who were not in a position to reply.

In December 1935, a sabotage attempt was discovered during the refitting of the Royal Oak.

Failure of her electric system caused a short circuit. A sail pin one-eighth of an inch in diameter had pierced a two-inch cable connecting the control tower of the battleship and the dockyard station.

Tweedsmuir arrived.

Walking around the fields, the Governor General often stopped to speak to the plowmen and displayed his broad knowledge of agriculture and a keen interest in the plowing competition. Lady Tweedsmuir, who accompanied His Excellency, also displayed a keen interest in the plowing.

The Governor General showed he knew what he was talking about when he took over a plow and handled it with expert ease. "You're a good plowman, Lord Tweedsmuir," remarked Charles Maclean, a hardy

IMPRISONED IN GERMANY, PRISONERS ASK WORK

Dr. Marcel Junod, international Red Cross official visitor to German prison camps, said in a report released in Geneva Sunday night, that all Polish prisoners in three camps he inspected had asked for work.

Dr. Junod added that many prisoners already had been released for work on farms in Germany.

The first camp visited, Dr. Junod said, was Itzehoe, thirty-five miles from Hamburg, where he said he found 900 Polish officers, 200 orderlies, two British and two French aviators.

The second was at Bromberg, with 32 officers, 600 soldiers, and 2,500 civilians, all Polish. The third was at Harmentstein, near Neustettin, with 1,500 Polish prisoners of various ranks.

GUN ACCIDENT

CAUSED BOY'S DEATH

Miss Florence Blainey, a member of the staff of Tweed Consolidated School, was called to her home at Maxville on Monday night of last week when word was received that her nephew, Stanley Weedmark, 16, was accidentally shot during a hunting expedition. Weedmark who had no rifle, had accompanied three other youths. Something happened to a gun held by Ralph Stoddard and as he attempted to adjust it, the weapon discharged and the bullet entered Weedmark's right side. He died within a short time. Miss Blainey had just reached Tweed after spending the holiday at her home when the message was received advising her of the unfortunate affair, and she returned immediately.

farmer from Woodville, as he peated his Excellency on the back. "Just look at that furrow, straight as a die."

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF CENTRE OF TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Over one hundred teachers representing schools throughout the central portion of the Hastings County, were in attendance at the annual convention of the Centre Teachers' Institute held on Friday, October 6, at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Stirling.

Speakers of the day included Rev. W. H. V. Walker, of St. Andrew's Church, Stirling; Reeve W. C. West of Stirling, who welcomed the visitors; Public School Inspector A. W. McGuire, B.A., Mr. J. L. Good, Principal of Stirling High School; C. A. Wells, Principal of Stirling Public School; Mr. H. L. Fair, B.S.A., Hastings County representative of the Provincial Department of Agriculture; Mr. H. K. Carleton, President of the organization; Miss Mary Cochran; Mr. Allan Gay. Leaders in discussion groups included John Coukell, Charles Young, Miss Margaret Hopkins, Miss Kate Ross, Miss Thelma Fenwick and Miss Nora Nayler. With these speakers and leaders giving leadership to the day's activities the program continued from one session to another in flawless fashion due largely to the previously arranged schedule prepared by the program committee.

At the noon hour dinner was served in the church parlors by the members of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid, to whom suitable gratitude was extended by the visiting teachers. It was an appreciated holiday for school children but another day's work for the teachers.

President H. K. Carleton, presiding over the sessions, introduced Rev. W. H. V. Walker, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, who conducted an inspirational period of devotion to mark the beginning of the day's activities. Reeve W. C. West of Stirling, then addressed the gathering voicing a hearty welcome on behalf of the municipality of the visitors.

Speaking on the subject, "Education of the gifted child," Mr. H. K. Carleton, President of the Institute, expressed the belief that too much time spent in educating the dull child causes neglect in developing the superior intelligence of the faster thinking bright students. Herein is found need for auxiliary teachers to prevent the class of students being discriminated against the advantage of the other. A child should be taught to produce that which he is most capable of doing. "A bright child is a source of profit and pleasure of activities when properly directed." Intelligence of the child is greatly influenced by his or her natural environments, and in this respect pupils of rural schools have an advantage. The bright, intelligent student of one grade is enabled to listen in to the teaching of other grades.

Closing his most interesting address, Mr. Carleton stated "The important part of the teacher's work is to keep curiosity active within the mind and make the things of his life lively, attractive and interesting so that the boy or girl is caused to think."

Mr. Allan Gay was the next speaker, and speaking on the development of art, he displayed several exhibits to illustrate his belief in the correlation between art, agriculture and social study.

Following a short period of community singing under the leadership of Mr. Morris, Miss Catherine McQuarrie, delegate to O.E.A., gave a detailed report of the proceedings transacted at the convention. The report was well prepared and presented in a most interesting fashion. Miss Mary Cochran gave a talk and demonstration of printing size, space development and letters as a result of combination of straight and round lines.

Mr. J. L. Good, Principal of Stirling High School, also pointed to the excellent opportunities offered to teachers of the lower grade in developing the minds of pupils. They have the testing period of the child in hand and can in early years do much to give the child the correct attitude toward school work. He also made several constructive suggestions for improving examination papers and stressed the fact that the child should always feel free to inquire especially in cases of explained problems. Pupils in the higher grades should have frequent practice in the use of geometrical sets.

Public School Inspector A. W. McGuire explained clearly the purpose of the Department Agricultural grants mentioning the presentation of reading diplomas and attendance forms made available to all teachers, also urging greater attention to fire prevention week.

Shortly after the dinner hour sessions were re-opened with Mr. C. A. Wells, Principal of Stirling Public School, giving a talk on the value of experimental science in public schools and after pointing to its outcome being the creating of questioning from

ASSURED OF WORLD'S BEST AIRMEN

The British press was unanimous Wednesday in praising the scheme of Sir Kingsley Wood, Air Secretary, to make Canada the air centre of the Empire.

The London Daily Mail described the plan as of "truly grand conception," while the Times proclaimed: "Here is Imperial co-operation of the highest and largest scale."

The Mail said that Great Britain would now be assured a continuous flow of the world's best airmen and the world's best machines.

"Thought of these endless reserves might well dismay the enemy, the newspaper said."

The Times said:

"No action of the enemy now can prevent the air forces of the Empire from gathering, and from maintaining overwhelming strength. He (the enemy) knew already he could do no damage except at fearful cost to himself; he will know now that whatever damage he will inflict he will still have to cope with an inexhaustible source of skilled, freshly equipped reserves, uninjured and beyond injury."

"A vast new weight has been thrown on the side of the Allies into the already fairly evenly balanced scales of air power."

The Daily Herald said the most reassuring part of the air secretary's speech was his reference to the Dominions production and training plan. The Daily Express said the plan "arms us with invincible might to confound the devices of our foes."

The News Chronicle said: "In particular the scheme for co-operation with the Dominions, notably Canada, in training personnel and in airplane production gives promise that we shall have an air force of overwhelming strength."

The Daily Telegraph called the scheme the "most important of all" air developments, adding "such a manifold union of Imperial effort has never before been devised. The scheme has been inspired by a far-sighted judgment of conditions and of the world potentiality of the Empire."

$60,000 RADIO BEAM STATION BEING BUILT WEST OF STIRLING

Construction of a $60,000 radio beam station at Hubbell's Hill, six miles west of Stirling has been started by contractors working under the Department of Transport.

Twenty acres of ground have been purchased at this spot, which is almost exactly halfway between Ottawa and Toronto on the Trans-Canada Airway.

According to Rorke Ferguson, M.P. for Hastings-Peterborough, an emergency landing field will be constructed as well as the radio beam station. Two residences for the radio and field staff are also to be built.

the classes he demonstrated several simple experiments that could be of value in the schoolroom.

The next speaker was Mr. H. L. Fair, local representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, who spoke on the value and purpose of the township rural school fairs. The first of such fairs took place in 1909 and had a total of three schools in competition. In 1938, 525 schools took part totalling more than 111,000 individual exhibitors. For thirty years the department through this medium has raised the standard in growing roots and vegetables, grains and seeds by the annual distribution of seed for school fair purposes. Children are educated in the comparison of good and poor specimens in all competitive classes. Mr. Fair also presented a display of stock taken from a recently held school fair and pointed out the basis upon which judging is executed.

At this point the gathering was dismissed into several group meetings at which teachers were invited to present their problems. The group assembled according to grades in the following manner:

Grades 7 and 8, John Coukell and Charles Young; Grades 3 and 4, Miss Edith Wallace and Lorne Johnson; Grades 1 and 2, Misses Thelma Fenwick and Nora Nayler.

With this part of the day's activity completed, the final session including reports of the committees, the auditors' report and the organization of the township units was brief, climaxing a most interesting and constructive convention which closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The following group of officers and committee workers were responsible for the program of the day: Mr. A. W. McGuire, B.A., I.P.S., President.

Mr. H. K. Carleton; Sec.-Treas. Mr. S. H. Connor; Executive, Miss M. Mutton, Mrs. C. A. Wells, Mr. C. Holmes; Delegate to O.E.A., Miss C. McQuarrie; Auditors, Mr. Ralph Armstrong, and Miss Nora Nayler.

MAKING PLANES

Aircraft manufacturing and air training schools in Canada will be called upon to play a larger part in the Empire's war effort, in light of the announcement at Ottawa, that training will be centralized in Canada and steps will be taken to speed plane production.

The announcement that Empire fliers from the United Kingdom, Australia, and New Zealand will be given advanced training in Canada is interpreted in aviation circles as a tribute to the efficiency of the Canadian training.

The statement issued at Ottawa by Prime Minister Mackenzie King indicates the completion of long-considered plans for mobilizing the Canadian aircraft industry and air training facilities for the service of the empire in the war.

Following two visits by British Air Missions to Canada last year the Canadian Associated Aircraft Limited was formed with a view to coordinating the aircraft manufacturing facilities of Canada. The company is capitalized at $3,750,000 and its formation followed conferences of representatives of the leading Canadian aircraft manufacturers.

An order for large bombing planes placed by the British Air Ministry with the company last November was one of a number of concrete propositions which set Canadian aircraft manufacturers preparing their plants for increased production. At that time it was announced the Canadian aircraft firms had agreed to hold their plants available for the execution of further orders within the next ten years.

Aircraft manufacturing plants are located at Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Malton, Ont., Hamilton, Fort Erie, Ont., Fort William and Vancouver.

In connection with training Canada is one of the most advanced countries in the world in so far as civil aviation is concerned and the facilities for training civilian pilots may be utilized in the war scheme.

Already the Royal Canadian Air Force is using 22 Canadian flying clubs to provide the preliminary training for its fliers. The intermediate training is given at Camp Borden and the advanced training at Trenton.

Evidently the Royal Air Force has a good opinion of this work which they have been able to observe as many Canadian flyers are now in the R. A. F.

The rush of young Canadians to join the Royal Canadian Air Force has been so great that a halt had to be called for a time to give the inspectors who pass on the qualifications of the recruits time to catch up with the list of applicants.

In addition to the government sponsored clubs there are 20 private school where flyers are trained and as the demand for preliminary training increases, these may also be taken into the scheme.

SAYS WHAT HE THINKS — PAYS FOR IT

It needed to be said and a native of Canada, now a citizen of the United States said it in a paid advertisement in a Pasadena, Calif., paper. It was a declaration against isolation and it read like this:

"For twelve months past we have called Great Britain coward, traitor, dolt, because she did not jump into the war. We chalked her down a third rate power, we pilloried appeasement, we covered her with lavish scorn—too old and dead to fight; and when at last she draws the sword we turn our backs. . . ."

As we say that thought needed to be expressed. If Britain hadn't entered the war sometime or other against the aggression of Germany, she would have been abused as a coward, as delinquent in her responsibilities to the small nations of Europe. Now that she is in there isn't the same eagerness to give her a helping hand, at least there are many fault finders though the back patters are increasing.

The Canadian born citizen of Pasadena, who was bold enough to say what he thought was James Smellie Macdonnell, son of a once noted Presbyterian minister in Toronto. Rev. D. J. Macdonnell. His poetical effusions are widely quoted; he also works them into the advertising of the First Trust and Savings Bank of Pasadena, of which he is president. Advertising so original and oftentimes plain spoken on public affairs grips attention.—Lethbridge Herald.

The first practice blackout of the Panama Canal Zone apparently was successful although there was no official comment.

The only lights allowed were the electrically controlled buoy lights in the channel of the canal. Observers watched the blackout from airplanes.

AS GIRL KILLED

Mary Medwid, 22, Ukrainian waitress of Port Arthur, was killed in Nipigon when she stepped from a fast-moving automobile in Nipigon village about three o'clock Tuesday morning, police believe. A detachment of Provincial Police is combing the village of Nipigon seeking to learn the facts of the accident.

Police said George Downey, an employee on road construction operations north of Nipigon, is being questioned as to whether he was driving the automobile. No charge has been laid against him.

Mary had been a waitress in the Nipigon Inn for more than four years. She was working until about 2 o'clock, and then, it is believed, went for an automobile ride. Her body was found on the roadside of the trans-Canada highway near the new highway bridge over the Nipigon River.

Indications were she died instantly of a broken neck. A preliminary inquest was opened Tuesday afternoon at Nipigon.

GET ON WITH WAR GROWING DESIRE OF BRITISH PRESS

Detectives tried to track down sources of "defeatist propaganda" on the home front last week while British press comment indicated a growing desire to "get on with the war."

Scotland Yard submitted to the Home Office a report on pamphlets, attributed to pacifist, Fascist and Communist elements, urging Britain to "make peace with Hitler."

Legal experts who have received complaints that such literature has been distributed from door to door and through the mails, studied means of combating this form of propaganda.

Public opinion in general remained insistent on flat rejection of proposals from Adolf Hitler for peace at his own price—the partition of Poland.

Typical reaction of the London man in the street was the assertion that "if we don't do the job now, we'll have a worse time six months from now."

The war has made it possible for German boys to play "trains" with grown-up engines, because of the "exceptional circumstances," the Reich Communications Ministry decreed on Tuesday night. "Men" aged 14 or more are henceforth eligible to serve as railroad engineers, provided their trains do not exceed an average speed of 12 1-2 miles an hour.

GERMAN CLAIMS

BRITISH WARSHIP

REPULSE DAMAGED

The German Supreme Army Command Monday claimed the British battle cruiser Repulse had been torpedoed and put out of commission by the same German submarine that sank the Battleship Royal Oak.

Nazis claimed the submarine had reached the safety of German waters and a report from her commander was expected soon.

The Repulse, commissioned in 1916 and reconstructed in 1936 at a cost of about $5,500,000, displaces 32,000 tons and has a complement of 1,181 to 1,205 men.

Heavier than the 29,150 ton Royal Oak, which was sunk Saturday, the Repulse carries six 15 inch guns, 20 four-inch guns, including eight for anti-aircraft, and eight torpedo tubes among lesser armaments. She carries four aircraft with catapults.

The German command apparently was preparing to close its book on the Polish campaign. Its communique Monday announced that the completion of occupation of the German zone in Poland, it would cease reporting from the east.

The war in the west, it said, still was inactive.

The communique said the French had been forced by floods to abandon a small fortification along the Rhine River.

French reports said communications had been hampered in the Lorraine region because of overflows from the Meuse, Mouzon and Saône rivers.

These reports said French artillery had opened up along the entire western front.

Following is the text of the communique.

After troop movements for occupation of the German region of influence in Poland are completed, the Supreme Army Command no longer will report from the east.

"In the west, there were only minor skirmishes, and artillery fire designed to annoy. On the Rhine, southwest of Rastatt, the French were forced by floods to evacuate one bunker.

"In the air, there was little activity of our own and enemy planes in the frontier region."

British navy circles Monday denied Berlin reports that a German submarine had torpedoed and crippled the battle cruiser Repulse.

POCKET U-BOATS

USED IN ATTACKS?

British fighting planes beat off an attack by German bombers Monday on the coast of Scotland, whose shipyards are working at top speed to keep Britain mistress of the seas.

The Air Ministry announced that the German attack had been repulsed with "some casualties" and promised additional details later.

Advices direct from Edinburgh said anti-aircraft guns were in action there and told of British planes in pursuit of other craft. The attack came amid predictions of military observers that Germany would strike at British shipyards, harbors and merchant vessels and while afternoon newspaper posters thundered that a German offensive on the western front was imminent.

The Ministry of Home Security said Monday night "reports received to date indicate there were no civilian casualties and no damage to property as a result of enemy action."

Three German bombers unofficially were reported shot down in the Edinburgh area, one in the Firth of Forth and two on land.

No report of any damage in the first German raid on British soil was received although several bombs were dropped in the vicinity of the Forth Bridge.

The German planes approached from the North Sea at a high altitude. Coastal anti-aircraft batteries fired on them but they kept on their way in the direction of the Forth Bridge.

Several bombs were dropped, all striking the water.

FROM DROWNING

What might have been a fatal accident happened on Saturday morning when little Maureen Bowler, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bowler, of Point Anne, was rescued from drowning by Mr. Roy MacDonald, Maureen was playing with Mr. MacDonald's daughter, Mariene, on the dock near which Mr. MacDonald was working with his nets. On hearing a splash, Mr. MacDonald turned and seeing only one child ran immediately to the dock and leaped into the Bay, and brought Maureen to shore none the worse for her soaking.

ROBERT M. MITCHELL, FORMER WARDEN OF COUNTY DIES

Robert M. Mitchell, tax collector for the township of Thurlow for many years, passed away at the family residence in the second concession of Thurlow, late on Sunday, October 15, after an illness of several months' duration.

In the passing of Robert Manly Mitchell, the County of Hastings has lost a prominent resident, one who had at all times the good of his township and county at heart and whose life was a life of service to the people of the county as a whole. He was a man of fine character and possessed a pleasing personality and friendly disposition which attracted and held many friendships. Throughout the county the announcement of his death will bring sincere feelings of regret.

The late Robert Manly Mitchell, who was in his 68th year, was born in Murray Township, Northumberland County, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. S. Mitchell. After residing in the township where he was born for some years, he moved to Thurlow Township in the County of Hastings thirty-six years ago.

After a time he commenced to take an active interest in the affairs of the Township and served as a member of the Township Council. During the years 1925 and 1926 he acted as Deputy Reeve, and from 1927 to 1932 he filled the office of Reeve and in 1932 he was elected to the important office of Warden of the County. He was a good councillor and a capable and popular presiding officer. Since the latter part of the year 1934 and up until recently when illness made necessary his retirement, Mr. Mitchell served as tax collector for Thurlow Township. For a time he was pre-warden of the Thurlow Cheese Factory and at one time filled most acceptably the position of President of the Belleville Cheese Board.

G. B. S. SAYS BRITAIN NEEDS ORATOR TO MATCH DICTATORS

Critical of Prime Minister Chamberlain's oratorical ability, Bernard Shaw thinks Great Britain needs a war time leader to match what he calls the "very able speeches" of Adolf Hitler and Joseph Stalin.

The 83 year old playwright's criticism was contained in a letter read Saturday at the opening of a conference on war aims by the Fabian Society, a Socialist group, of which Shaw was one of the founders years ago.

The conference, Shaw said, should rule out of order "all meaningless words like Hitlerism, totalitarianism, aggression, security, liberty, democracy and the general all parliamentary language."

Shaw said Chamberlain's conclusion in speeches was that it was for Germany to "make her choice and added:

"We have had enough of leaving the initiative to Herr Hitler. He invariably takes it."

GERMANS WANT TO OVERTHROW HITLER

An article saying the German people want to overthrow Adolf Hitler to secure a democratic peace was published Monday in a new monthly magazine issued by the "Friends of the German Peoples' Front" in London and the "Committee of German Opposition."

"Hitlers peace offer," it said, on the basis of reports from numerous German cities "is not the offer of the German people—just as Hitler's war is not the war of the German people."

"Our people want peace, but they want a just peace, a democratic peace. The German people also know that such a peace can only come after Hitler has been overthrown. And for this purpose they gather their strength, they work hour by hour for the overthrow of Hitler."

POLISH ARMY UNITS RESIST GERMANS

The armed bands which the Germans officially admit they are still fighting here and there in Poland are regular Polish army units, the Polish Embassy in Paris said Monday.

These regular army forces are still giving fierce resistance to the Germans and Russians, the Embassy said, especially in the Suwalki district and in the Carpathians, and in the Pripiet marshes.

Enrolment in the McGill University contingent of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps has passed the 1000 mark, it was reported Saturday. This figure includes 461 graduates of McGill and other Canadian universities.

NUMBER OF ENTRIES FOR CHEESE EXHIBIT

Despite the fact that the war will have some effect on the exhibition of overseas cheese products, the forthcoming British Empire Cheese Exhibition, scheduled for Belleville on December 4th, 5th and 6th, will compare favorably with any of preceding years. Mr. James Irwin, Dairy Grader, stated Monday morning.

Communications have been received from various nations of the British Commonwealth relative to entries for the Exhibition, but in view of present conditions it is extremely doubtful if such entries will be made possible.

To offset this, however, entries from all provinces of the Dominion have been received, and the list, if anything, notes a slight increase over that of last year, Mr. Irwin said.

An array of distinguished speakers including high ranking officials of the Departments of Agriculture has been secured for the Exhibition. Prominent among them are J. F. Singleton, assistant director of Marketing Services, Ottawa; W. R. Reek, Deputy Minister of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto; L. C. Roy, Superintendent of Agriculture for the Canadian National Railways, Montreal; Joseph Burgess, Chief of Grading and Dairy Products, Inspection Services, Ottawa, and C. E. Lackner, Director of Dairying, Toronto.

TONS OF PEAS PAILED IN DITCH

Ten tons of canned peas, about 17,000 cans, were spilled in the ditch along the roadside of No. 2 Highway, near Princeton, Saturday night, after a heavy transport truck driven by C. Gravestock of Hamilton, was forced off the road by an unidentified cut-in driver.

The truck knocked down a hydro pole and a transformer fell into the load with the current still connected. The driver escaped injury.

Provincial Traffic Officers Clarence Parmenter, Paris, Ont.; Robert Dukes, Brantford, and Leslie Barker, St. George, were on the scene from 6.30 p.m. until 2.30 a.m. assisting to right the truck and return it to the highway and reload it. In spite of three warning flares, Kenneth C. Green of London, driving west about the time the reloading was completed, sideswiped the truck, ripping out the entire right side of his car, police say. Green was not injured.

ATHENIA OWNERS CONTRIBUTE $23,500 TO PASSAGE HOME

United States Ambassador Joseph Kennedy announced Monday that the owners of the torpedoed liner Athenia had contributed the equivalent of $23,500 toward the cost of returning home American survivors.

The Athenia was sunk in the Atlantic September 3 a few hours after Great Britain declared war on Germany.

"The cheque which I have just received is a splendid gesture taken without regard to any immunity from legal responsibility which the company (Donaldson-Atlantic Line) might have enjoyed under the special circumstances of the Athenia sinking the Ambassador's statement said.

OUTPUT OF FOOTWEAR HITS PEAK IN AUGUST

Canada's August production of leather footwear at 2,453,000 pairs was the largest output recorded for any one month for which statistics are available, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports. Production was an increase of 274,867 pairs, or 13 per cent over August, 1938.

TYPHUS, CHOLERA RAGE IN WARSAW

Typhus and cholera have broken out in Warsaw, the Amsterdam Telegraph reported in a Berlin despatch Monday, and there is indescribable suffering among the 80,000 war wounded housed in emergency hospitals there. The despatch said the hospitals in the ruined Polish capital were little more than shacks. It said an official German estimate was that 80 per cent of Warsaw was destroyed in the Nazi invasion, and added that it is doubtful the city will be rebuilt.

NO USE HUNTING AS BIRD COMES TO HIM

Clarence Loucks of Lindsay, tramped miles through the bush hunting partridge Thursday, but didn't get a shot. Friday one flew through his office window and fell dead at his feet.

In England they are fortifying houses with sandbags. In Canada, some people believe a well fortified home is one filled with bags of sugar.

SECTIONAL RALLY FOR W. M. S. AT BETHEL CHURCH, THOMASBURG

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Madoc section of the Women's Missionary Society was held in Bethel United Church, Thomasburg, on Friday, October 13th.

Mrs. W. S. Gordon of Tweed, president of Madoc section, presided, opening the session by the singing of the Doxology and the Lord's prayer. The morning worship service was in charge of Madoc Auxiliary with Bible readings by Mrs. Manley Fox and explanations by Mrs. Frank Dafoe. Hymn, "The Morning Light is Breaking," closed the worship.

Committees were appointed. Mrs. Barnett of Tweed, acted as secretary. Mrs. W. Grills welcomed the many delegates and friends who were in attendance.

Mrs. Barnett, secretary, gave her report of last year's Rally at Hazard's, also a meeting of workers at Mrs. Dafoe's at Moira Lake last summer. A roll call of Auxiliaries followed. Reports were read from each showing a very optimistic spirit. Madoc reported all monies raised by systematic giving. Cooper, Remington and Eldorado each reported a new life member. All use the Study Book and subscribe to Missionary Monthly. Pot luck dinners and quiltings, were used in home societies to swell the funds. Thomasburg reported having a family party at Christmas.

Each reported a generous bale sent in the fall to the Supply Secretary in Nanapanee, and a great interest felt in the Temperance, it having its place at each meeting.

Great interest was shown in the Mission Band department. Reports were read from Cooper, Eldorado, Hazard's, Union, Ivanhoe, Thomasburg, Madoc, Remington, Queensboro, and Tweed. They all use the Good Neighbour study book, subscribe to World Friends. Tweed reported money raised with sunshine bags. Many are doing handicraft. An exhibition of this was shown on one side of the church, where many articles were on view. An Indian village, a moving picture machine, showing views of India, quilts and many useful articles for a bazaar. An increase in Bands and membership was also reported. A report from Tweed evening Auxiliary was given. Two C. G. I. T. groups, Thomasburg and the Senior and Junior Group at Madoc.

Mrs. E. Tummson sang "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Sager of Tweed. The offering was taken and Miss Lucille Herrington of Thomasburg, dedicated it.

Mrs. Gordon introduced the speakers, Miss Day of the Literature Department, Mrs. Osborne, Mrs. C. Holmes, Presbyterian C. G. I. T. secretary, Mrs. George Crabbe, of Eldorado, Mrs. W. P. Fletcher of Marmora, also were introduced.

Mrs. C. Holmes of Belleville made her appeal for C. G. I. T. work, stating the movement was promoted by the National Girls' Work Board of Canada. Its object is religious education for teen-age girls to assist them in ways of living in the present and in the future. Recruits should be trained by studying the literature, and by ways of prayer.

Mrs. A. McCreary, acting as literature secretary, introduced the Study Books for W. M. S. and Mission Band.

Mrs. Albert Enpey, Presbyterian Missionary Monthly Secretary, appeared dressed in a gown made of covers of World Friends and Missionary Monthly magazines. She made her appeal for subscriptions as now was the time to renew, and to have money ready for the subscription. A lamp shade was shown made of World Friends covers.

The quiet half hour was conducted by Mrs. George Harris of Hazard's and Mrs. F. J. Nickle of Eldorado, with Miss Lucille Herrington at the organ. Quiet music was played. Mrs. Nickle read three verses of the hymns: Jerusalem the Golden. Mrs. Harris led in prayer, John, 14th chapter, was read by Mrs. Nickle, after which tribute was paid to the two deceased members, Miss Agnes Tumelty and Mrs. Victoria Tumelty. The last part of hymn 463 was sung and closed with prayer by Mrs. Harris.

At the noon hour the ladies of Bethel served a hot dinner to the delegates and ladies. During this hour many viewed the Mission Band exhibit and visited the Literature table.

The afternoon session opened with Mrs. Hicks of Tweed leading in the worship service. "I gave my life for Thee" was sung. A short address on Unity, taking her text from Corinthians, closing with a short prayer. Mrs. W. S. Gordon then took charge. Mrs. Manley Fox spoke on the temperance department deploring the increase in crime to all time high. Liberty in temperance is wanted but what does it lead to? A poster showing a garden gate which was called the first drink, but what did it lead to. Mrs. H. L. Morrison of Tweed, gave meeting held at Lindsay, where 185 delegates met together in missionary endeavour. A slight decrease in membership was noted in the Branch and she urged constantly to increase our membership. Mission Circles were on the decrease and in this case where do our new members come from if not from Junior organizations.

An increase in the literature department showed an interest in the new books on missions, and some place in every missionary program for the temperance department.

Three hundred and fourteen bales were sent in the Bay of Quinte branch which was very gratifying. Quiet music and worship service undisturbed was a helpful suggestion, showing how a worship service properly conducted can regulate the spirit of worship in the meetings. Mrs. Morrison mentioned Miss Patrick. Missionary at large, working on a mission field north of No. 7 highway.

She is working in the sparsely settled field but the people are so interested and willing. In 1938 she held a vocational school among the younger folk on her field of labour.

Mrs. Morrison closed her fine address by saying the church must always be on the march and not to wait. It is not the big things of life that count. We must be calm, serene and gentle.

Mrs. W. J. Osborne, secretary for Christian Stewardship, opened her address by quoting from Henry Van Dyke's book, "The Source". Everything has a source and when in doubt go back in prayer to the source.

A poster was shown illustrating how happy were those who had some to share and how sad was the one who had none to spare for the Heavenly Father had sent these offerings to both and so God sends to us these good things we so enjoy and to enjoy them we must share.

The law of the circle is world wide so many things of nature are circular. "Life starts in the sea and ends in the sea." Even God loved us, then we love one another, giving our love back to God. Another circle, our missionaries, leave their home to bring others back to God.

A few pennies put on the plate pays for some blessing on our mission field. God gave us that we might give to others, God came from his Father, then when His work was done went back to His father to make intercession for us, that we may also go to our Father.

Mesdames DeClair and Spencer sang as a duet "Come Let Us Sing of a Wonderful Love," accompanied by Mrs. Sager at the organ.

In our section a special object fund has been raised. A committee with Mrs. Nickle as leader, brought the suggestion that we help Miss Patrick and a special collection be taken up in our Auxiliary for same. The afternoon offering was dedicated by the Ivanhoe Auxiliary.

The next item was an address by Miss Helen Day, Literature Secretary of the Dominion Board, whose personality had an appeal all its own. She chose as her theme also the title of a book in her library, "Craftsmen All". A very unusual topic but it held the attention of the audience. Her first thought, why not call the book "Workers All," bringing out the difference between workers and craftsmen, bringing to us a mental picture of workmanship in which all could do something, even not gifted along the line which would bring us joy. This led up to our tasks in W. M. S. work and these we find great joy in having something made by a craftsman. We feel very proud of our community plate, which was started by a community of craftsmen who shared their ideas, and so created our beautiful community plate. What could we in our W. M. S. working together as craftsmen of God accomplish? Working together means so much. We must check up on our winter program.

As craftsmen what are we seeking to create? What materials are we using? What Skill and Tools.

What is our aim and object? Isn't it to build up a fellowship—a common word but a precious one, which tends to disappear and needs an atmosphere to thrive? It is used on the extension of God's kingdom.

Can we go forward without our fellowship? We do so need more diligent craftsmen to work for the Kingdom of God. What materials are we using? We could use our women of our churches, who must send the Gospel to other lands through the missionary, sale of literature was before the war, and while the Chinese people are crying for it, the transportation is extremely difficult. Jesus valued the material. Great skill in leadership is needed. Needs strength and different skill for different crafts. Some are bewildered and need a leader and leaders, while carrying the responsibility, should feel the organization is just a company of friends and should

MOTOR MECHANICS

Twenty-four Kingston young women have registered for the motor mechanics course at the vocational school, with the idea of serving as drivers either at home or overseas. The course is one night a week for twenty weeks, and the girls expect to be proficient with engines and the operation of a motor car at the end of the lessons. Many of the young women are college graduates.

Latest of the animal freaks to be born on a district farm, a Holstein calf with only three legs is the latest addition to the livestock on the farm of David Hannah of Bonarlaw. The little animal which is as lively as any normal calf has been viewed by many visitors to the farm.

40 GARTER SNAKES SEEN ON HIGHWAY

An unusual sight was observed on Friday by a motorist travelling on the Picton-Belleville highway when a band of slippery garter snakes, some forty in all, were seen wriggling their way along the shoulder of the road.

Dead bodies of other members of the wiggly nomads were apparent in the roadway where passing traffic had taken its toll.

be able to share the work and have ability to participate in worship and prayer. Group work enriches your organization and becomes a company of friends. Leadership needs also enthusiasm. Lastly, the tools the W. M. S. have to work with will be found within the church. Do our old tools do for us in this day? We must use the tools suitable for our work.

Our work must go on and we must pray without ceasing in the interests of the work. Federation campaigns, Red Cross, and spread of literature are our tools.

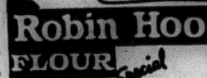

Miss Day's closing words were: "We must labour on as a workman who is not ashamed."

Mrs. Stanley Rollins read the report from the Courtesy Committee, thanking those in charge for their kindness of the day.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

On Thursday evening one hundred and twenty-five guests gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Connell to honor their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fobert, whose marriage took place recently. The newlyweds were presented with a miscellaneous shower after which dancing was enjoyed.

R. R. No. 6, Belleville, Ont., October 12, 1939.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fobert.

Dear Agnes and Joe: We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered here tonight to honor this great event of your marriage. We wish to express our heartiest congratulations and best wishes in some tangible way.

You, Agnes, have been with us since childhood, we have always found you to be a good sport and ready to assist in any way whenever the occasion demanded it. We also may be sure that your hearty laugh and cheery smile will bring happiness to you both as the years pass by.

We have not known you, Joe, as long as we have Agnes, but we will welcome you as a friend for the sake of one we have always respected. We congratulate you heartily upon your choice of a helpmate for life.

As this is an occasion when everyone has some advice to offer, good or otherwise, we would add our bit to which you doubtless have already received.

When everything goes crooked, And seems inclined to rife, Don't kick, nor fuss nor fidget, Just you smile.

When someone tries to do you By taking more than half, Be patient, firm and pleasant, Just you laugh.

It's hard to learn the lesson, But learn it if you'd win, When people tease and pester, Just you grin.

But if you find your stuffy (Sometimes of course you will) And cannot smile, nor laugh, nor grin, Just keep still.

You will meet new opportunities That will demand of you your best, You will face responsibilities That will put you to the test; Never doubt, nor fear, or falter, If you find the way grows hard, God has promised He will strengthen, If His way you will regard.

Please accept these small tokens of ours, and remember chiefly the hopes and wishes that lie behind them. We hope that you will use them in your everyday life, and may they remind you of the pleasant relationships and old friends of the Third and Fourth Lines.

Signed on behalf of the community: Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Fall, Gordon Clapp.

SIX ARE INJURED IN HEAD-ON CRASH

Six people suffered minor injuries early Friday night when two automobiles met in a head-on collision on Highway No. 2 near Melody Inn east of Brighton.

Miss Elizabeth Alexander and Mrs. Mabel MacDonald, Smithfield, were taken to Belleville General Hospital suffering with severe facial lacerations and shock, while Kenneth Pound, five year old Louise Farrow, James Hales and Robert Austin, all of Brighton were taken to their homes after receiving medical attention.

All sustained facial and body lacerations from flying glass.

According to Provincial Officers Shannon and Caldwell, who investigated the accident, the car driven by Pound was proceeding in an easterly direction.

According to the investigation, wet slippery pavements caused cars driven by Pound and Clayton Farrow to skid, resulting in the cars meeting head-on.

Dr. G. H. Stobie of Belleville, attended the injured people and intimated that Mrs. MacDonald and Miss Alexander will be able to leave hospital within a few days.

SUCCUMBS TO BURNS

Mrs. Henry Williams, 19, died in hospital at Owen Sound of burns suffered when a can containing kerosene exploded in her home at Markdale. Mrs. Williams was using the fuel to light a fire.

Richard Moody, father of the woman, threw clothing about Mrs. Williams as she rushed out of the house a living torch.

Northern University in Boston intends to fly into the teeth of superstition Friday the 13th. The 13th, 113th, 213th and 313th couples will be admitted free to a dance and a 13-piece orchestra has been engaged.

MEETING OF IVANHOE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Mrs. J. E. Hagerman was hostess to the members of the Ivanhoe Women's Institute on Tuesday, October 10th. The president, Mrs. T. E. Fleming, was in charge of the meeting. There was a very large attendance of members and visitors. The meeting was opened by singing the Institute Ode and repeating the Lord's prayer in unison. Every member present responded to the roll call by giving a first aid remedy. During the business period bills were paid and correspondence was dealt with. Letters of thanks were read from Mrs. George Prest, Mrs. A. Ashley and Mrs. S. Donnan, for fruit and cards received during illness. A menu was planned for the dinner which is to be served the officers who attend the rally to be held in the Ivanhoe town hall on November 3rd. Definite plans were made for the annual Halloween party and committees appointed to look after prizes, program, etc. It was decided to begin Red Cross work at once. Mrs. T. E. Fleming was appointed delegate to attend the area convention to be held in Belleville on October 19th and 20th.

The main feature of the program was an address by Mrs. J. C. Sills on "Bathing a Patient." Mrs. Sills also gave a demonstration on bandaging. Miss Ethel Hagerman read a humorous poem; Mrs. V. Hagerman provided special music and O Canada was sung.

A vote of thanks was moved to Mrs. Sills by Mrs. L. Tanner for her very instructive address and demonstration and the president thanked Mrs. V. Hagerman who so capably acted as pianist in the absence of Mrs. M. Shaw.

Collection was taken and the meeting was closed by singing the National Anthem. Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants. The assistant hostesses were Mrs. S. Reid, Mrs. E. Saries, Mrs. J. Wallace and Mrs. A. Hagerman.

COOPER AND REMINGTON W. M. S.

Cooper and Remington W. M. S. were entertained at the home of Mrs. E. Moore on Thursday, October 5th, with a good attendance of 20 members and visitors. Mrs. F. Reynolds, vice-president, opened the meeting with hymn No. 28, followed by prayer. The roll call, "Any Favorite Text" was well answered. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Reports of the Treasurer and Finance Committee were given with very satisfactory results. Correspondence was read stating that Mrs. Aitken declines giving cooking instructions at present time owing to war conditions. It was decided to have a pound sale as well as election of officers at the November meeting.

Miss M. Taylor gave a portion of the Blue Book dealing with donations to mission hospitals. Collection was taken and all joined in singing hymn No. 669. Mrs. R. Doughty then took charge, all singing hymn No. 259. A reading, "The New Canadian," by Mrs. O. Taylor. A very fine guitar solo was given by Miss Grace Irwin. A temperance paper was given by Mrs. R. Greenly; instrumental by Mrs. A. Parks; Thanksgiving reading by Mrs. J. Woods; instrumental by Miss Fernie Rollins.

The meeting was closed with hymn No. 249, followed by prayer. A dairy lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants and all enjoyed a social half hour.

DUKE'S JEWELRY

FOUND IN HOLE

Diamond studded valuables stolen from the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough last April were found hidden in a rabbit burrow two miles from the Duke's hereditary residence at Blenheim by a London country boy, the Duke's secretary announced on Monday.

The astonished finder took a watch, snuff box and two valuable miniatures, all crusted with diamonds to the police. Authorities returned to the spot, deep in the woods of Blenheim Park, and dug up two more miniatures.

Among objects still missing was part of the equestrian uniform worn by the first Duke of Marlborough in the days of Louis XIV. The thief was believed to be an art connoisseur, since he took nothing but jewelry and valuable objects of art.

CCC TO BUILD REFUGE FOR WATER FOWL IN N. J.

Civilian Conservation Corps workers will begin next month at Atlantic City on an 8,000 acre Federal refuge near there for migratory water fowl. The tract is in the salt tide marshes between Brigantine Island and the mainland, less than ten miles north of Atlantic City and directly in the life of migration flights.

GEORGE PEPPER WITH GENERAL AIRCRAFT

The present state of war in which we find ourselves proved rather discouraging to Belleville's George Pepper. George is not complaining, however, as he has a position as a skilled mechanic with the General Aircraft. However, prior to the war George was leading second division rider in English motorcycle racing. Pepper has amassed a total of 402 points in comparison to the 297 of the rider next in line, which is undoubtedly a wide margin. Some weeks ago George was summoned to London where he interviewed motorcycle racing officials regarding his elevation to first division racing, but along came the war and of course that will not be possible now as all professional sports in England have been abandoned. From April to August George had 20 "maximums" which means he won all events in twenty different meets, in the game, according to a Newcastle newspaper report. In his last race at Sheffield Pepper gained a maximum, that is, he won all races on the card, this being the first time this feat was accomplished in over two years.—Ontario-Intelligencer.

MEETING OF

ST. PETER'S W. M. S.

The October meeting of the W. M. S. of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church was held at the home of Mrs. Finch on Thursday afternoon. The president occupied the chair and the program was in charge of Mrs. Sharpe. A hymn was sung. Mrs. Johnston gave the scripture reading followed by a selected prayer by Mrs. McCaffrey. The treasurer reported the September collection. Mrs. Armstrong gave the report of the sale. Eleven visits were made to newcomers, sick and shut-ins. Arrangements were made for the thank offering meeting in the church to be addressed by Miss Irene Stringer of India. Miss Mary Finch was appointed Mission Band assistant to Mrs. K. Nicol.

Mrs. Sharpe then took up the lesson for the meeting, "India's Rural Millions." She gave an interesting account of the village life and the homes. Mrs. O'Hara gave a fine description of the caste system and Mrs. Sharpe told of the changes that have taken place in India by the introduction of motor buses, power engines, telephones, etc., and of the advance in agriculture by irrigation and by broadcasting information suitable to farm life.

The collection was taken and a hymn sung and Mrs. Watson closed the meeting with prayer. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. O'Hara and Mrs. Hailstone.

TWO SUFFOCATED

BY GAS FUMES

The shiny new gas stove Angelo Micheli bought in New York to surprise his immigrant wife brought death to her and their four year old son the same day they arrived from Italy.

Micheli, a hotel cook, who had been in New York three years, diligently saved his money to bring out his family, and they arrived Saturday on the liner Rex.

A host of relatives helped Micheli welcome his wife, Amelia, 31, and his son, Bruno, to their small newly-furnished apartment on the east side.

Then Micheli left for work after explaining to his wife how to operate the new stove that had thrilled and delighted her.

When he returned shortly before midnight, he found the apartment full of gas fumes—Bruno lying on the kitchen floor, the body of his wife slumped over a bed in an adjoining room.

A pot of coffee was on the stove from which gas poured from an open jet. Police said the coffee had boiled over, extinguishing the flame.

Mrs. Micheli had not known she must turn off the jet.

UNEMPLOYMENT FIGURES SHOW SLIGHT INCREASE

While a large number of placements have been made during the summer just passed, registrations of unemployed for the district show a slight increase over figures of a year ago. Superintendent W. D. Ross of the Belleville Employment Bureau stated Monday.

"Ordinarily, with the number of people placed in employment this year, registrations should be well below what they are," he said, attributing the increase to the fact that applications for skilled and other labor on the part of such firms as the Bata Shoe Company resulted in the heavier registration.

Lists at present contain not only the names of city unemployed but from practically every community in the county, Mr. Ross said.

OBITUARY

The funeral of the late Emma Jane Price, relict of the late James Callery, was held on Wednesday, October 11th, from her late residence on St. Lawrence street to Sacred Heart Church. Rev. Father Hyland sang Requiem High Mass with interment in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

The late Mrs. Callery was highly respected by all who knew her, and with the exception of a few years spent in Hungerford Township, had dwelt in Madoc her entire life. Born in Madoc seventy-six years ago, she was beloved for her charitable and benign disposition. She was an ardent and active church worker until failing health left her incapable some four years ago. Since then she has been in failing health. Her late husband predeceased her eighteen years ago.

She leaves to mourn her loss, one son, Thomas, of Windsor, and three daughters, Celina, Mrs. W. E. McNevin, Pamour, Ont.; Mary, Mrs. T. Forestell, Campbellford, and Celestine, Mrs. L. Mulrooney, Madoc, and one sister, Mrs. D. L. McKinnon, and two brothers, Harry and C. V. Price, all of Sudbury.

The pall bearers were: Robert O'Riordan, Wm. McBain, John McCaffrey, Will Stewart, George Wright and George Walsh, old and esteemed friends of the deceased.

MEETING OF

HAZZARD'S W. M. S.

Hazzard's W. M. S. held an open meeting on Friday evening in the church, with Miss F. Keene in charge. The meeting opened with the hymn "O Lord of Heaven and Earth and Sea," the first stanza being used as a prayer.

The business period followed with the minutes of the last meeting and the roll call. It was decided that Mrs. Stanley Moorcroft would be the delegate to the W. M. S. Rally.

Miss Jennie Burris gave an outline of her trip to the W. M. S. Leadership Training School, which was held in Whitby. This was followed by a duet by Misses Jean Love and Dorothea Harris. Reports were given of the Conference held in Belleville, by Mrs. S. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Blair and Miss F. Keene. A quartette was then sung by Miss Alma Keene, Mrs. F. Keene, Mrs. George Moorcroft and Mrs. Stanley Moorcroft.

The meeting closed with a hymn and the benediction after which lunch was served.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. L. Mulrooney and family wish to thank their many friends and relatives for the kindness and sympathy shown during the illness and death of their mother.

PILOT LOCATES LOST HUNTERS

An airplane pilot located and rescued Lawrence Bresnahan and Kathleen Enright, two young partridge hunters who had been lost in the bush near Sudbury since Thanksgiving Day.

Phil Sauve, veteran northland flier, set out and spotted the couple beside a campfire on the shore of Lake Wabigoon.

Sauve settled on the lake with his plane, picked them up and flew them back to the city, where he learned that an aunt of Miss Enright had posted a reward of $200 for her rescue.

Bresnahan, office worker in the Falconbridge Nickel Mines, and Miss Enright had passed two nights in the bush but suffered little. The temperature Wednesday night dropped to 40 degrees Fahrenheit and they were chilled but otherwise unharmed.

Airplane flights were made over the district and 15 huge bonfires were lighted at night to guide them, but they were of no avail. Hundreds took part in the search on land.

MOTHER OF COLORED CHILDREN PROVIDES FUNDS FOR THEIR KEEP

In vain the billeting officer went from house to house in normally hospitable Rickmansworth, Herts., seeking a home for two colored children. But nobody seemed to want them.

"This colored line is unfair," he told himself. "Dashed if I won't take them home myself."

His wife was charmed with her little charges. And as she undressed the girl of the pair that night she found an envelope pinned to her petticoat. It was addressed "To the woman who undresses my children to-night, with thanks for looking after them. God bless you." Enclosed was £50 (about $240).

The money will be used for the children's food, clothes and schooling.

It is just one of the stories beginning to reach London after the greatest mass migration of women and children in Britain's history—this trek of evacuees from a city that authorities wanted emptied of youngsters because of the fear of air raids.

To grasp the immensity of London's problem, think of taking all the children in Halifax, Saint John, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver to the country.

The migration is a story of humor and pathos. It is a story of how in the great country houses and pleasant cottages Englishmen are really beginning to learn how the "other half" lives.

The story is told of three little Cockneys given a pleasant bedroom in a Yorkshire House, when their hostess went upstairs to see them safely tucked in bed, there was no sign of them. They were found sleeping under the bed.

"We always do," they told her. "Mum and dad have the bed at home."

FATHER ADMITS "MERCY KILLING"

A 13-year-old boy, blind and crippled since birth, was found chloroformed to death in New York on Thursday in his parents' home in the Bronx.

The victim was Raymond Repouille son of Louis Repouille, 38, an elevator operator, Police, who took the father into custody for questioning said Repouille told them he had taken the boy's life "as an act of mercy."

Police said the case closely paralleled the "mercy killing" last January of 17-year-old Jerry Greenfield, an imbecile since birth, whose father killed him with a chloroform-saturated handkerchief while the youth was semi-conscious during a seizure of paralysis.

Greenfield was acquitted after he told a jury he had been unbearably tortured for years by the spectacle of his son's affliction.

Detectives found young Repouille's body neatly laid out in a double bed with chloroform soaked rag on the floor nearby.

Police quoted the father as saying: "He was just like dead all the time. He couldn't see or talk or walk."

The detectives said Repouille told them that he had spent $500 five years ago for an operation for the boy and that he had been spending money ever since for medical attention.

CANADA BORROWS $200,000,000 FOR TWO-YEAR PERIOD

Bolstering the treasury to meet expenses connected with Canada's part in the war, the Government has announced a $200,000,000 issue of two year two per cent notes have been sold to the Canadian chartered banks at par.

In announcing issuance of the war loan, Finance Minister Ralston said Friday night the major portion of the proceeds will be used for refunding purposes while about $80,000,000 will be used for general purposes of the government.

Mr. Ralston said the notes will be dated and bear interest from October 16, 1939, will mature October 16, 1941, and will be subject to redemption in whole or in part at par at the option of the government on or after October 16, 1940, on 30 days' notice.

Issuance of the loan followed the policy announced in the budget speech during the special war session of parliament in September of avoiding going into the public loan market "until the initial effects of war expenditures and purchase by other governments in this country had begun to stimulate production and expand the volume of public savings."

BURNED BY BLAST IN SPEED BOAT

Lloyd Merritt, Chatham, was painfully burned about the face, arms and legs in a gasoline explosion which occurred on his 25-foot speed boat in the Chenal Ecarte recently.

Partly blinded by flames, he was rescued from the water by Wesley St. Pierre as the burning boat went to the bottom. Merritt had poured gasoline into the tank, and had placed the can on the floor of the boat when the blast occurred, sending a shower of sparks in all directions.

He could not recall whether he was blown out of the boat by the explosion or whether he leaped into the water to escape the flames. He was with a party of men who had gone to Whitney's Point to fish and hunt ducks.

MAY FOOTPRINT CANADIAN TROOPS

The Defence Department is considering a proposal for the footprinting of all troops so that their shoe requirements may be known and foot faults detected, the Dominion Council of Health was told Saturday as it considered the health side of Canada's war effort.

The question arose when Mrs. Helen D. Smith, M.L.A., Vancouver, asked if defence authorities would consider having new lasts made for army footwear. She had heard numerous complaints about ill-fitting boots.

Defence Department representative said many of the foot troubles might be those ordinarily experienced by recruits as well as civilians, in breaking in new footwear.

Dr. Jean Gregoire, Quebec, arrived for Friday's sitting, completing the representation of the provinces.

The Council agreed with Mrs. Smith's suggestion that should large-scale recruiting be undertaken in Canada, special badges or other insignia be given those prevented from enlisting by reason of the useful and essential nature of the work they were doing at home.

Dr. F. S. Burke, chief of the Pensions and Health Department's Medical Investigation Division, urged that a uniform system of recording medical disabilities of troops, and of those rejected on application for enlistment, be started at once. Council agreed that some such system was necessary.

ROYAL OAK SUNK BY SUBMARINE

The Admiralty announced Saturday afternoon that approximately 370 men thus far had been saved from the sunken battleship Royal Oak. The warships complement, it said, was approximately 1,200 men.

This left 830 still to be accounted for. When the aircraft carrier Courageous was torpedoed by a German submarine September 15, 515 men were lost.

First announcement of the disaster by the Admiralty expressed belief the heavily-armored warship was the victim of "U-boat action."

A second Admiralty communique issued Saturday afternoon said:

"The Secretary of the Admiralty announces that so far as is at present known the number of survivors from H. M. S. Royal Oak is approximately 370.

"As already stated, lists of survivors will be published as soon as the names have been received. The complement of the ship was approximately 1,200. The above figures include both officers and men."

During the first six weeks of the last war no battleship was sunk, although the navy lost three cruisers, two destroyers and a mine-sweeping gunboat.

BATA SHOE COMPANY MAKES OWN BRICKS FOR NEW PLANT

On Thursday last a cement-brick-making machine began turning its wheels for the mixing and blocking of cement bricks which will be used in the construction of Bata factory unit number one, the ground floor of which is already laid.

The machine, when geared to full operation, will turn out about eight thousand bricks per day. The product will be used for filling in walls between the pillars and below the glass on each of the five floors of the 85 feet by 225 feet factory now in process of erection on the site of the new Bata city a mile or so south of Frankford.

Mr. Anthony Cekota, who conducted The Sun on a tour of the property, explained the system under which factories are erected in other Bata cities. "It is customary for a crew of twenty-one men with the machinery unit of our standard eighty-ery we have, to complete a floor of a five by two hundred and twenty-five feet size each week," said Mr. Cekota. —Quinte Sun.

MAN KILLED IN FALL, COMPANION IS HELD

Held for questioning in connection with the death in Almonte Wednesday of last week of Donald Gillis, Francis McGillivray, 28, was remanded a week when he appeared in court at Smiths Falls on a trespassing charge. Gillis died in hospital at Smiths Falls as result of injuries received when he fell from a Canadian Pacific Railway box car.

McGillivray told police they boarded the box car at Arnprior and as the train neared Almonte an argument developed during which they fell to the ground. McGillivray was not injured, but Gillis suffered head injuries and a fractured hip.

GERMAN ATTACKS NOW BEING LED BY SUICIDE SQUADS

Bad weather hampered operations on the western front last week as the French general staff announced fresh attacks by "strong enemy patrols" been repulsed south of Saarbrücken and Pirmasens.

The attacks apparently were a continuation of thrusts which the Germans launched Sunday on a 35 mile front east of the Moselle River.

Reference to fighting in the region of Pirmasens, 55 miles east of the Moselle, was taken as an indication of the increasing scope of the German assaults.

The German attacks, French sources said, were led by "suicide squads" of hand grenade throwers supported by companies employing automatic rifles.

ONE DIES, NINE HURT IN COLLISION

One person was reported killed and nine injured in a collision of a passenger trolley car and a mail car on the Niagara Falls, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway line at Thorold last week.

Police said the collision was head-on. The mail car was leaving St. Catharines for Niagara Falls and the passenger car was travelling in the opposite direction.

The injured were taken to St. Catharines General Hospital.

The one fatality was W. B. King, 73, a retired employee of the railway company.

Six of these persons admitted to hospital were:

Mrs. Alice Sims, 51; Albert Taube, Thomas Tierney, 34, and Walter Pierce, all of St. Catharines; Mrs. Ella Townsend, 58, Niagara Falls; and a Hungarian priest not immediately identified.

Two St. Catharines men were treated in the outpatient department of the General Hospital for minor hurts. They were Joseph Small, 26, and Ted Drake, 23.

German high command spokesmen claimed recently that German planes dropped two bombs on a British warship in a clash in the North Sea off the Norwegian Coast.

In London, naval experts said attacks by German bombers on the British North Sea patrol had failed to inflict damage.

WEATHER TOO FINE FOR GOOD SHOOTING

With the weather man apparently having signed a non-aggression pact with the wild duck legions, hunters of the district are bemoaning light bags and anything but good sport in the better known shooting spots of the district.

Disappointment was registered in many cases over the week-end when the looked for cold snap failed to materialize. "It's too doggone quiet, and too nice fine weather for shooting ducks," one prominent Belleville nimrod lamented. "The usual blustery weather that drives the ducks inshore has been noticeably conspicuous by its absence. The ducks are staying well out of range with the exception, of course, of isolated cases."

Failure of the large flocks of black ducks to arrive on their annual fall trek from the northern feeding grounds has been another factor in the light bags thus far, it was stated. "but in no quantities like those that generally arrive at this time of the year."

A decided change in the weather, and a few strong inshore breezes are what is necessary before the boys will be able to boast about excellent bags, was his opinion.

You feel like screaming—but you can't—your throat is dry—you feel as if you were choking with apprehension—your heart is pounding, pounding, pounding—what, how—when? Then from the burning chaos of your mind springs a clear, sparkling thought: "I've got to telephone for help". Night raiders continue to terrify farmers in all directions out of Belleville. Several robberies have been reported to Provincial Police, the latest being the theft of three barrels of choice apples, taken from the orchard of W. C. Maguire, Murray Township, recently. Provincial Constable William McBrien investigated the theft and was informed that two barrels of Northern Spies and one barrel of McIntosh apples had been taken. The apples were freshly picked and the barrels sealed and left in the orchard for shipment next day. Farmers throughout the district surrounding Belleville have reported the wholesale theft of milk and other farm products of late as night marauders have been pilfering such articles with regularity. The night raiders do not operate in the same section of the countryside on successive nights, police stated after several reports have been received this week.

WAR EXPENSE TO BE CURBED

Out of a conference held recently with Premier Hepburn and Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Municipal Affairs, London municipal officials, it is believed will develop a policy toward civic employees who enlist similar to that adopted for the Ontario Civil Service.

Mayor Johnston, J. S. Bell, treasurer, and K. G. Crawford, clerk, conferred with the Premier and Minister and were advised, it is stated, that the Government would not countenance civic expenditures for patriotic purposes except as defined in the Municipal Amendment Act passed at the special war emergency session of the Legislature.

While members of the delegation declined to forecast the city's ultimate decision, it is believed men enlisting will be granted leave of absence with one month's pay.

Frightened off by an employer, two armed men fled from the Gourdier Fur Store in Kingston in a stolen automobile Thursday night leaving behind a bundle of furs valued at approximately $5,000.

J. E. Marcoux told police he found the door open as he was about to enter the premises and that at the same time a youth carrying a revolver came out of the store and told him it was a hold-up.

"You wouldn't be fooling me," Marcoux said as the armed man advanced. Marcoux backed up to the street and the man jumped into a car in which sat another youth, also armed with a revolver.

Marcoux found the furs stacked in a bundle inside the store. The bandits entered the store through a rear door.

AIR RAID SHELTERS AT WINDSOR CASTLE

Complete changes of clothing for the royal family, books, games, radio, and preserved foods have been placed in the underground air-raid shelters at Windsor Castle.

Everything is ready for the reception of the entire royal household, numbering more than 100.

The shelters have been constructed out of deep tunnelings in the rock on which the castle is built — ancient rooms that were originally dungeons and vaults.

There is also a special underground shelter at Buckingham Palace, blast and splinter proof, from which the King could, if necessary, conduct state business in safety.

RAILROAD PORTER LEADS DOUBLE LIFE

Porter by day and stellar inside wing by day is the "double life" led by Bob Jackson, Canadian National Railways sleeping car porter and line-man with the Regina "Roughriders" rugby team. From the realm of grid-iron punts and passes, Jackson steps into the role of C. N. R. porter, earning his daily bread on occasions when travelling with his team mates to play a match. Frequently he makes up their berth to the accompaniment of good humored chaff.

LADY ASTOR ASKS BAN ON CHAMPAGNE

Viscountess Astor wants less champagne imported into Britain during the war.

Speaking in the House of Commons recently, she tried to impress on the Board of Trade that champagne was a non-essential commodity which, in her opinion, could well be excluded during the emergency.

The United States army has demonstrated publicly for the first time the fire power of its electrically aimed anti-aircraft guns, only to revive speculation over their effectiveness against bombing planes at extreme altitudes.

Targets towed by bombers at 10,000 feet, before an audience composed of army ordnance association members, were centred now and then in bursting three-inch shells Friday, but a large proportion of the projectiles trailed the targets by several hundred feet.

Army bombers consistently practice on targets from altitudes of 20,000 feet and above. What accuracy the guns, operated in batteries of four and firing en masse 100 shots a minute would be able to attain at that height, army officers at the proving ground declined to estimate. The maximum range of the guns is about 30,000 feet.

Less question met the performance of bombers dropping 2,000 pound projectiles from 10,000 feet. Two planes within minutes of each other planted their bombs at almost the same spot on the target range.

LINER REPAINTED AND RENAMED

The British Admiralty announced Saturday that when the 13-615 ton German liner Cap Norte was captured in the South Atlantic it had been completely repainted.

The name "Ancona" had been substituted for its own name on the hull. A Swedish flag had also been painted on its side.

The vessel had a cargo of 5,641 tons, the main items of which were: 2,893 tons of wheat, 178 tons of wool, 147 tons of skins, 595 cases of packing material, six tons of rock crystal, 157 tons of bran, four tons of horsehair, 73 tons of tallow, two tons of wax, five tons of clothes. There were also 60 tons of tobacco, 175 tons of cocoa, 18 tons of honey, 1,102 tons of coffee. In the refrigerator was found 440 barrels of horsemeat, three boxes of caviar, and 500 cases of lemons.

DOCTOR GIVEN NAVAL POST

Dr. Gordon L. Bell, physician and surgeon of Sioux Lookout, 250 miles east of Winnipeg, has been advised by the British Admiralty in London that he has been appointed surgeon-Lieutenant commander of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve. Dr. Bell expects to leave shortly to take over his new duties.

The appointment is a sea-going office. As a young medical student Dr. Bell served with the Royal Navy for two years during the first Great War.

He was born at Oro, near Barrie, Ont., where he received his early schooling. Later he attended the University of Toronto from which he graduated in 1920.

11,968,905 TOURISTS FROM U. S. ENTER CANADA TO AUG. 31

Tourists entering Canada from the United States during the first eight months of 1939 totalled 11,968,905 compared with 11,838,379 in the same period last year, the Mines and Resources Department reported Saturday.

While declines were registered during the first five months of the year, these were more than offset by the increased movement in June, July and August. The tourist traffic reached its peak in July and August when 6,082,257 tourists from the United States entered Canada compared with 5,740,512 in the same two months last year.

FUGITIVE FROM KINGSTON IS CAPTURED NEAR PERTH

George Laprade, escaped convict from Kingston Penitentiary, was captured Monday at Mud Lake railway bridge near Perth, when he attempted to cross the structure. Laprade escaped Sunday night from the piggery, about a mile from the institution. Constables Lawrence Carr and Jas. Driscoll took Laprade back to the penitentiary, where he was serving a three-year sentence for chicken theft.

GOLFER USES "RICKSHA" FOR RESTFUL GAME

Take a tip from Lyman Beecher of Asheville, N. C. He travels from green to green on a two-caddy-drawn rubber-tired "Ricksha" which has a rumble seat for clubs.

Lord Marley, Deputy Speaker in the British House of Lords, expressed belief the war would be a long one with the British "determined to fight to the end."

NEW PLAN WOULD ASSIGN JOBS TO MEN WITHOUT FAMILIES

The more children a man has, the less risk he would be asked to take in wartime under a plan the Hungarian Government was disclosed Friday to be studying.

The plan drawn up by Stefan Gyorffy, University of Budapest professor, and president of the Hungarian Ethnographic Society who, just before his death last week, offered it to Premier Count Paul Teleky.

It was proposed that bachelors childless husbands and fathers of one child be assigned to front lines and other hazardous posts; fathers of two and three children to second lines; fathers of four and five to third lines and fathers of six or more to be exempt.

BOY IS WHIRLED ABOUT SHAFT

Four year old Douglas Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kemp, cheesemaker at Shannonville, was climbing over the roof of a low shed in the cheese factory when his clothing caught in a coupling of the line shaft. He was whirled around at a speed of 60 revolutions a minute and it was only the banging of his feet on the ceiling at each revolution that brought factory employees to his rescue.

The child was badly bruised and his sweater was choking him, but he was conscious when the shaft was stopped.

GIRL SAVED BY DARING FIREMAN

A 16 year old runaway New Jersey girl who had threatened to leap from a window ledge three floors above a concrete hotel courtyard was saved early Saturday by a daring New York fireman.

The girl, who identified herself as Helen Kawalek of Bayonne, N. J., had stood for half an hour on a rear window ledge of the Hotel Martini while police and firemen sought to dissuade her from jumping.

Finally, Fireman Richard Oliver, dropped suddenly from the floor above by a rope, pushed the hysterical girl backward into the room.

TRAINS IN WRECK IN BLACKOUT, RAIN

The first serious train wreck in Great Britain's war time blackout sent air raid precaution forces into action Saturday.

At least four persons were killed and 24 others injured in the accident Friday night when the second section of the Scottish Express from London ran into the first at Bletchley Station 45 miles north of London in blackout darkness deepened by a heavy rain.

Rescuers worked in the rain, smoke and steam, aided only by dim blue lights, until authorities lifted the blackout restrictions in the vicinity of the wreck.

RHINE BRIDGES ARE DYNAMITED

The German high command announced Friday that French forces had dynamited Rhine river bridges at Wintersdorf, Dreisach and Nuremberg.

A communique said the bridges, leading from the Alsace-Lorraine sector into southern Germany, were blown up Thursday.

Otherwise, there was little war activity in the west while in the east, German troop movements toward the new German-Soviet Russian border in partitioning Poland were reported nearing completion.

Hon. Colin A. Campbell, Minister of Public Works for Ontario, is the first member of the Hepburn Cabinet to be accepted for Overseas service. Hon. Mr. Campbell who now makes his home at Sault Ste. Marie, as a member for that riding, has joined the Royal Canadian Engineers.

Invite Them All

Many a non-advertising retailer refrains from advertising because he feels that it is necessary to advertise in a big way and that he is not ready to do that.

Pull of a Small Advertisement

Beginners in every form of enterprise should go warily; until experience, practice and growing ability warrant their attempting larger things they should proceed in a cautious manner.

Begin with a Small Space

It would pay some retailers to use the Classified Advertisements and small spaces of two or three inches.

Make the Small Advertisements quote Special Merchandise. Change them frequently. A quick succession of little advertisements, every one of which is alive, will effect sales and attract new customers. The great thing to be afraid of is inertness—a retail store which does not talk to the public by means of newspaper advertisements misses a whole lot of business.

COE HILL

A wedding of much interest to Coe Hill took place at the parsonage of Grace United Church, Trenton, at 2.30 p.m., October 7th, when Miss Reta Garrett, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Garrett of Gilroy, became the bride of Mr. Aubrey Hennessy of Coe Hill. Rev. Mr. Campbell officiated. The bride, who was attired in a white suit with black accessories, was attended by Miss Edna Moore of The Ridge as bridesmaid, while the groom was supported by Mr. Robert McCaw of Coe Hill. The wedding party left immediately for Campbellford where a wedding dinner was served at the home of groom's sister, Mrs. Thomson. Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Hennessy spent the following week visiting relatives at Wellington, Foxboro, Belleville and Bancroft, returning on Saturday evening to Coe Hill where they will reside, accompanied by the best wishes of numerous friends.

Mrs. Philip Embury of St. Ola, spent a week recently at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herb. Moore, of The Ridge.

AT MARMORA

For being the last rural Fair of Central Ontario, Marmora Fair suffered somewhat through climatic conditions on Tuesday, yet a crowd of fifteen hundred persons or more gathered for the annual event which has become the great get-together of the district for so many years, and saw a fine array of agricultural exhibits. The slight fall of snow and hail at intervals in the morning caused some persons to call it "The Winter Fair" but a sunny sky kept pace with the cool wind in the afternoon to improve conditions and with no mishaps to report, the directors feel that the enterprise could have been much worse off than it was.

GERMANY LOSES EIGHT PLANES IN RAIDS ON BASES

British military observers, surveying the effects of sharp German air attacks on Great Britain's naval units Wednesday were satisfied the bombing plane is no effective match for war ships with anti-aircraft protection.

The loss of at least eight German planes in raids on two British naval bases in the last few days was declared to be out of all proportion to the small amount of damage which was inflicted on the British ships.

But there was no attempt to minimize the menace of the submarine torpedo, used by a Nazi U-boat to sink the battleship Royal Oak in the famous Scapa Flow naval base last Saturday.

$15,000 REGIMENTAL PAY DAY DELIGHTS

Picton business men are wearing broad smiles these days. For the other day they had a taste of good old pre-depression business when the Department of National Defence, through Captain Paymaster Lance Nethery, held the first regimental pay day of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment since its training period as a regiment.

Approximately $15,000 was distributed among all ranks, according to a Picton estimate, and as a consequence local business soared to heights not experienced in many a year.

Many merchants reported record turnovers as the troops went shopping.

JOINT DEFENCE TO MEET ATTACKS NOW DRAWN UP

A joint defence plan to meet the attacks to which Canada is exposed has been drawn up by the three fighting services—army, navy and air force. Since the start of the war the services have operated in accordance with the plan.

Outline of the work of the navy, army and air force and explanation of the joint plan was made in an address Tuesday night by a spokesman for the Department of National Defence over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Name of the spokesman, an officer in the Department, was not given.

Despite Canada's favorable geographic position there was a definite problem of local defence, said the spokesman. Aircraft had already flown twice the width of the Atlantic non-stop and Canadians could not overlook the report that an enemy warship equipped with aircraft was on the high seas.

Ships of the Canadian navy were prepared for immediate action at the outbreak of war, he said. Ammunition was made ready and war heads fitted to torpedoes. Crews were strengthened.

R. C. A. F. PLANE

The bodies of two Royal Air Force officers were found in the bush at Snow Road in the wreckage of their plane which crashed Saturday.

The plane, carrying Pilot Officer H. K. Corbett of Fredericton, N. B., and Pilot Officer G. L. Olstead of Winnipeg, came down in the bush about six miles north of Kingston.

Thirty men led by R. C. A. F. officers from Trenton, Ont., Air Station began the search when the camouflaged monoplane failed to return to the air base after a navigation flight over Eastern Ontario and was reported down in the Snow Road area.

The search was carried on all day Sunday and the wreckage of the plane was found Monday morning. The badly mangled bodies were taken out to Snow Road and taken by plane to Trenton.

A high wind whipped the district most of Saturday and at times there were snow flurries. It was believed that these factors might possibly have caused the crash.

The pilots joined the Air Force about ten months ago and were undergoing advanced training. They received preliminary training at Camp Borden and were recently transferred to Trenton. The navigation flight was part of the training course.

They took off at 9.50 a.m. on a flight to Carleton Place then to Elgin and return to Trenton, the plane was last sighted an hour later flying over Kingston.

Next word came about noon on Sunday when reports reached Snow Road that a plane had been seen falling into the bush. William Sergeant and Fred Tremblay, familiar with the dense bush and rough terrain started a search and came on the wreckage near Crotch Lake.

They said the nose and part of the engine were buried in the dirt. They made a hasty examination and believed they had seen a body in the twisted heap.

The men returned immediately to Snow Road and word of the discovery was flashed to Trenton Air Port. An officer of the air force flew to Snow Road and assisted by Constable Stewart Patterson of Sharbot Lake organized a search. The party set out after dark Sunday night and had not returned early Monday.

ROYAL OAK LOSS STRENGTHENS BRITISH RESOLVE

The British press said Monday that the torpedoing of the Battleship Royal Oak will only strengthen Great Britain's determination to fight to final victory.

The Daily Express asserted that loss of the warship emphasized the urgency for relaxing news censorship.

"The loss of the Royal Oak and the loss of the lives of 800 brave men is a disaster," the newspaper said. "There is no reason for denying it. But there is no reason why it should dishearten us. We must be prepared for great shocks in wartime. This is one of them."

"Exactly when was the ship sunk? Where? How? Does the sinking disprove the widely held view that capital ships with their immense armor protection, are safe from torpedoes? Or was it just a lucky chance for Hitler that cannot be repeated."

"These are questions on men's lips and only rumour makes reply. That is why official replies must be given soon. Only truth kills rumors."

"While we wait let us mourn our dead, and avenge them by pressing forward with added resolution to final victory."

The Daily Telegraph said: "The effect on Britain of such losses has always been to confirm her resolution and inspire her men to fresh efforts that their comrades shall not have died in vain."

"For the second time since the war broke out," the paper said, "the nation has to face the news that a great vessel has been sunk and that hundreds of brave men have been drowned."

"As a maritime people we have been taught in the course of our long history to bear such blows with fortitude. What must be, must be. "Though we shall not fail to bear our grief like men, we shall also claim the right, in the words of the noble line uttered by MacDuff at the extremity of his grief, to 'feel it like men.'"

"The number of those dead in the disaster must be little less than 800 officers and men," the paper said. "We mourn their deaths bitterly, but we shall see to it that neither their lives nor the lives of the French soldiers who have fallen on the Saar front shall have been wasted."

KILLED IN CRASH

The body of Mrs. Laura Snarr of Stirling, was recovered from the Trent River, four miles north of Trenton Sunday afternoon, following a two-day search by Provincial Police and relatives.

Mrs. Snarr is thought to have fallen accidentally into the Trent River about ten o'clock Friday evening while walking along the bank.

She was a passenger in a car with Mrs. A. Akers of Stirling, H. Smith, Belleville, and E. Bunnett, Belleville. The party had been driving north on Highway No. 33 from Trenton and stopped at Glen Miller while one of the men transacted business with a transport company. While the car was stopped Mrs. Snarr had gone for a walk.

When she failed to return the trio made a careful search of the district, but failed to find any sign of her.

Provincial Constables E. Smith and W. French of Belleville organized a posse to drag the river. Later Monday afternoon W. Cleveland, a cousin and Joseph Dunning, brother-in-law, found the body on the east shore about a mile south of where she is believed to have fallen in to the river.

Chief Coroner Dr. J. J. Robertson stated it was probable an inquest would be held.

TWINS IN TWO STATES

Twin daughters were born in two States on Saturday to the Connelly Dudleys. The first, Jean Anne, arrived at the Dudley home in Waite Sulphur Springs, Va. The doctor ordered Mrs. Dudley to a hospital twenty miles away and there the other twin, Joan Anne, was born.

ESKIMOS BUY ICE BOXES SAYS TRADER

Harlof Olsen says there's nothing tough about selling an ice box to an Eskimo. In fact, he said, he and his brother sell them at their Bethel, Alaska, trading post. The former Clarinda man visiting at Clarinda, Iowa, explained there actually is a demand among Eskimos for ice boxes since supplies are received in the summer and perishables must be kept cool.

An advertisement in The Review won't wear off in the rain.

Full military honors were accorded the late Pilot Officers H. K. Corbett, Fredericton, N. B., and G. L. Olstead, Neepawa, Man., killed when their plane crashed at Crotch Lake, north of Kingston on Saturday, at the Trenton base of the Royal Canadian Air Force Tuesday afternoon.

Victims of the first air fatality at the Trenton base since the beginning of hostilities, the young officers were given the last rites in the Auditorium of the Administration Building in the presence of Group Captain C. E. McEwen, officer commanding the base, his staff officers, fellow officers of the class in which the late flyers were receiving special training, and commissioned officers of army regiments.

Immediately following the service, conducted by Rev. Mr. Coulter, Presbyterian minister of St. Catharines, Ont., personal friend of the family of the late Pilot Officer Olstead, and the Rev. F. A. Smith, Anglican minister of Trenton, the flag-draped caskets were taken to a funeral home in Trenton. Tuesday night the bodies of the late officers were entrained for their homes in the widely separated parts of the Dominion.

LEVI COURNEYEA, TWEED, KILLED

Plunging sixteen feet to a rock pile while working on construction of the new Separate School in Tweed, Levi Courneyea, fifty year old carpenter, of that village met instant death shortly after eight o'clock Thursday morning.

Coroner M. G. Dales decided no inquest would be held after investigating circumstances surrounding the tragedy.

Courneyea was assisting in the placing of a heavy steel beam when he slipped and fell from the scaffold, crashing head first on a pile of rock sixteen feet below.

Doctors George and Doyle were summoned immediately but death was instantaneous from multiple fractures of the skull.

The deceased had been a lifelong resident of Tweed, and was a bachelor. Chief of Police Clare Hayes conducted the official investigation of the accident.

MEETING OF MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

The regular monthly meeting of the Centre Hastings Ministerial Association was held in Thomasburg on Monday, October 16th. The Ministers met in the Sunday school rooms of the United Church with Rev. W. J. Scott, president, in charge. An address was given by Rev. W. C. Beazer on "Experiences at McDonald College this summer." The minister's wives met in the parsonage under the leadership of Mrs. H. L. Morrison who led in a discussion on "What a Missionary's wife should do."

The two groups met for lunch at the home of Rev. W. J. and Mrs. Herrington, where lunch was served and a social hour spent. At the close of the meeting expression of thanks were extended to Rev. and Mrs. Herrington and Lucille for their hospitality.

The next meeting will be held at Tweed. Among those present were: Rev. Canon and Mrs. Swayne, Bonarlaw; Rev. A. W. and Mrs. Harding, Springbrook; Rev. A. E. and Mrs. Pepper, Tweed; Rev. H. L. and Mrs. Morrison, Tweed; Rev. F. C. and Mrs. Beazer, Roslin; Rev. W. J. and Mrs. Scott, Rev. and Mrs. A. S. McConnell, Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Beckel, Stirling; Rev. S. A. R. Delve, Ivanhoe; Rev. W. R. and Mrs. Fletcher, Marmora; Rev. E. M. Cook, Foxboro.

SHIPPER IS HEAVY LOSER

An outbreak of cholera among the seven hundred hogs quartered at the premises of W. L. Ketcheson on the Crookston Road, west of Tweed, last week has resulted in a considerable loss for the owner. The disease spread so rapidly that over one hundred hogs died within four days. Mr. Ketcheson had purchased a number of swine on the Toronto livestock market and it is believed that the cholera had developed among the imported shipment. Mrs. Held and Wood of the Federal Department of Agriculture, along with Dr. P. T. Bolby, made an examination of the carcasses on Saturday when the disease was discovered. The ranch was immediately placed under quarantine and another two hundred animals had to be slaughtered. Fortunately, cholera had not spread in one section and a portion of the animals were shipped. Dr. Wood, who was in charge, announced that all hogs within a two-mile area would be examined for traces of the disease, and this will take some time. The loss will be a severe one for Mr. Ketcheson, who had invested heavily in hogs over the past several weeks. —Tweed News.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. George Huffman wish to thank their friends for their many acts of kindness and sympathy shown during the illness and death of their mother, also for floral tributes.

PASSENGERS AND CREW HURLED AGAINST FURNITURE BY STORM

After weathering a "lost" hurricane, the United States liner President Harding ploughed through subsiding seas Saturday with 73 persons under treatment for injuries.

Twenty-three had broken bones. Paul Johnson, a cabin waiter, was lost overboard.

Henry Hennoth, engine room storekeeper, underwent an emergency appendicitis operation at the height of the storm, while a 75 mile an hour gale bowled passengers and crew about and knocked them against furniture.

Among those less seriously injured was Paul Van Zealand, former Belgian premier, who suffered bruises. The storm toll was the highest aboard a modern liner in North Atlantic waters in several years.

The sturdy 13,869-ton vessel, carrying 330 Americans among the 537 passengers it was bringing to New York from the war zones, was tossed in heavy seas by a wandering hurricane that had swept northward from Bermuda.

I. O. D. E. TEA

Favored by bright Autumn sunshine and blue skies, the tea held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Grant Fraser, and sponsored by the Order of the Daughters of the Empire, was an unqualified success.

The many guests from the village and outside points were graciously received by the hostess, Mrs. Fraser, and the Regent, Miss J. Aylesworth, while the members of the executive with the assistance of some friends of the Order, passed dainty refreshments.

The thanks of the Order is extended to all those who by their attendance and interest, helped to make the occasion pleasant and remunerative.

Mrs. J. M. Brown of Oshawa, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McMechan.

WEDDINGS

MOORE—KELLY

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized on Saturday, October 14th, by Rev. Mr. Winters, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelly, when their second eldest daughter, Eva Alma, became the bride of Mr. John Wesley Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moore of Crookston.

Miss Hazel Kelly, sister of the bride was bridesmaid, and Mr. Burton Moore, brother of the groom, was groomsmen.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charmingly gowned in a street length navy blue triple sheer with matching accessories. The bridesmaid was dressed in beautiful printedorgette. The bride's mother wore navy blue crepe.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a silver bracelet and locket and to the groomsmen, a tie.

Immediately after the wedding ceremony, a sumptuous wedding dinner was served to thirty-five guests. The decorations were in pink and white and a large wedding cake completed the arrangements.

Mrs. F. Kelly, mother of the bride, assisted by Mrs. W. Howard, received the guests.

The many lovely gifts received by the happy couple showed the esteem in which they are held.

CROMWELL—WEST

On Friday, September 22nd, Century United Church, New Toronto, decorated with gladioli, fern and chrysanthemums, was the scene of a pretty wedding when Jessie Rowena West, daughter of Mrs. Maurice C. Hutt, and the late Jerry H. West of Madoc, became the bride of Mr. Ollie Edward Cromwell, son of Mrs. Cromwell and the late Edward Cromwell.

Rev. C. E. Dyer, officiated with Miss Audrey Kinsman at the organ. Mr. Stewart West gave his sister in marriage. The bride looked lovely in a graceful gown of white faille taffeta with bustle back and circular train. Her finger-tip veil was held with a coronet of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of Better Times roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Iris Wing, her attendant, was gowned in turquoise blue taffeta with matching heart shaped hat, and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of Briarcliffe roses. Mr. Ross Cromwell, was his brothers' groomsmen, and the ushers were Mr. James Grosset and Mr. Norman West.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Old Colonial Inn, Port Credit, where Mrs. Hutt received in a wine crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. Cromwell, mother of the groom, received in an ensemble of navy blue sheer with matching accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

The happy couple left for a short trip to Windsor and Detroit. On their return they will reside on the Kingsway.

McCOY—TOMPKINS

At St. Andrew's United Church parsonage, on Saturday, October 14, by Rev. W. P. Fletcher, Vera Ellen Tompkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Arthur Tompkins, Malone, was united in marriage to Wilbur Richard McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Albert McCoy of Eldorado. Miss Verna Tompkins, twin sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mr. Kenneth Post of Belleville, assisted the groom.

FRANKS—PIGDEN

On Tuesday, October 24th, at 2.30 p.m., in Bolton, a quiet wedding took place when Lillian Mildred, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pigden was married to John Stanley, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Franks, both of Madoc Township. Rev. G. W. Rivers officiated. The bride was attractively gowned in a street length dress of teal blue crepe with beige opposum jacket and black suede accessories. The couple were unattended. After the ceremony they left on a trip to Niagara and points west. They will reside in Madoc township.

SAGER HOLMES

A very pretty autumn wedding was solemnized at Queensboro United Church parsonage on Wednesday, October 18th, at eleven a.m. when Isabella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. Holmes, became the bride of Allan Raymond Sager, only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Sager, Queensboro.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. D. Snelgrove in the presence of the immediate relatives.

The bride was lovely in her floor-length gown of white satin made on princess lines with tulle veil and bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried pink asters and fern.

The bridesmaid, Miss Jennie Sager, sister of the groom, was dressed in Roman Rose taffeta, also made in floor-length. The groom was assisted by his cousin, Mr. Gordon Sager.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Later Mr. and Mrs. Sager left on a motor trip through Western Ontario. The bride travelled in a wine coat and wine accessories.

They returned on Sunday night. On Monday night Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Sager gave a dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sager, entertaining about thirty-five guests, aunts and uncles of the bride and groom. On the same night the young people of the community gave the bride and groom a charivari. They will reside on the groom's farm near Queensboro.

HERE AND THERE

Well, well! What next? asks the Farmers' Advocate. When a hen lives a decent, normal life picking up her food in the fields, the trade says the color of the egg-content is not right. She must be properly rationed for nature no longer knows the fine points of nutrition. It's a crazy world when people will eat sausages and hot dogs made from the intestines of animals chew tobacco and drink rum, and then raise a fuss about the color of an egg!

SOLDIERS' SOCKS AND PYJAMAS

Women who make pyjamas for soldiers, unless the pyjamas are for hospital use, are wasting their time. A veteran was saying last week that the boys have enough to carry around with them now without adding further to their load. In his opinion pyjamas would be torn up for rifle cleaning rags or to clean boots. The veteran also had a word to say about socks, socks that are either too small or too big and are quickly discarded. Socks should be of uniform sizes and knitted without seams. We hope this information is given in the spirit in which it is written—to save materials and work and yet help the boys when they need extras.—Trenton Courier-Advocate.

TENDING TOWARDS TREELESS CANADA?

An average of a million trees a week were planted in Great Britain last year, the Forestry Commission have more than a million acres under control with a staff definitely looking after it, says the Niagara Falls Review.

In the handling of our forest resources Canadians will be classed as fools by future generations. We cut and burn, and make practically no effort to replace. Nature, given a half chance, does pretty well, but there is the rub. We don't give nature a break. We by carelessness or vicious intent send fire through young and old forests and burn more than we use.

Canada will be compelled to take an advanced step in forest protection and development. Otherwise we head for conditions in China—a land of floods, drought and poverty. With China's example before us we have little excuse.

THE COMMUNICATIVE RETAILER

Retailers who are continually informing the consumers of their trading area, about new goods, new services, new fashions, new conveniences and so on, get a good return for all their informative labor. It is the communicative retailer who attracts most customers.

It is bad for a retailer and for a community when the consuming public is left uninformed and unurged. The public is willing to slow up its ways and its purchases if it is left uninformed and unsolicited. Yet the public responds to stimulation and pressure. Good store windows, good newspaper advertising, good interior store service—all, tender to keep the public alert and responsive.

The more the retailers of our community singly and collectively, inform our community and rouse it to be perceptive and desirous of better ways of living, the more business will they get.—Carleton Place Retailer.

WOMEN OF CANADA MUST GUARD YOUTH

Women of Canada have a tremendous task in looking after the morals, the health and the food of the children of the Dominion at the present time, in the opinion of Mrs. F. G. Miller, of Hamilton, the president of the Ontario Provincial Council of Women.

In an address, "Women and War," at London recently, she endeavored to give a brief view of the responsibilities laid upon women during a war. "We cannot afford to let these prime time needs be forgotten, for the sake of the future they must not be neglected," the provincial president stated. She felt that in the last war the material needs had been met, and spiritual needs too often neglected. The young people of this period, who will be the adults of tomorrow, must be kept fit, morally and physically, for the task of rebuilding that which will fall to them.

NEARLY 12 MILLION TOURISTS

Nearly twelve million tourists from United States visited Canada this year in the first eight months, a larger number than last year. The figure of 11,968,905 is as large as the population of Canada. That fact shows the importance of Canada as a country in which people of another land may tour and enjoy themselves.

Canada has welcomed this great peaceful army of citizens from the great Republic and knows that they are good friends of hers and that they express the spirit of goodwill which exists on the borders.

What their tour has meant in interest and entertainment to them, what it has meant financially to Canada and what it means to the future kindly relations of the two countries is beyond computation.

Canadians who have toured the United States realize what a good neighbor Uncle Sam's people are. Canada is a good trader with the Republic. Cementing their good relations are peace and confidence.—Ontario-Intelligencer.

A WAR PROBLEM

Whatever part Canada may be destined to play in the war now raging between Germany on the one hand and Great Britain, Canada, France, and Poland, on the other, the fact that Western Canadian agriculture will be charged with the highly important duty of assisting in the task of supplying food commodities to the allied belligerent nations and their armies is quite clear.

What is not clear, however, is the extent to which and for how long Western Canada will be called upon or will be able to render this duty as part of its contribution towards the winning of the war. That is dependent upon many factors, such as the length of the war, the bountifulness, or otherwise, of the crop yields while the war is in progress; the extent to which the sea lanes can be kept open for the conveyance of foodstuffs and the arrangements which the allies can make, or may be forced to make by the exigencies or warfare, to ensure an uninterrupted flow of food supplies to their nationals and their fighting forces.

It would be a bold prophet who would venture to predict specific answers, to some of the questions involved in these at present unknown factors. The war, for instance, may be a lengthy conflict, as protracted or more so than the "unpleasantness of 1914-18. On the other hand it may be of very short duration. There are those who are making predictions of the length of the war, ranging all the way from twenty weeks to twenty years. The most that can be said of them is that they are only guesses, and one man's guess is as good as another's.

This being the case, it is impossible for the individual farmer, or even for those in charge of the nation's affairs to devise a long range program of production and distribution of agricultural products for the entire duration of the war. All that can be done at the present time, is to so order the distribution of the crop just harvested in such manner as to ensure its delivery at such times and such places as to furnish maximum assistance in the prosecution of the war and to lay plans for production next year on an adequate scale with a similar objective in view. The former is now the problem of the government, and the Canada Wheat Board with the assistance and co-operation of the wheat pools and other marketing agencies.—Sioux Lookout.

CARMEL FARMER INSTANTLY KILLED AS BRICKS FALL

Wallace Simmons, 61 year old Carmel farmer, was instantly killed when buried beneath the debris of brick when the long-standing chimney of his home, which had been burned to the ground late Tuesday of last week, hurtled upon him Thursday morning at his home on the fifth concession of Thurlow.

Mr. Simmons was standing with his wife gazing at the ruins of their home, which had been burned to the ground during their absence at the Marmora fair on Tuesday, when suddenly and without warning the brick chimney which had been left standing after the fire, crashed to the ground burying Mr. Simmons. Loose bricks also struck Mrs. Simmons knocking her unconscious. Death was instantaneous and no inquest was necessary. Coroner Dr. H. Welsh, M.P.P., announced after being called to the scene of the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Simmons returned to their Carmel home late Tuesday night, after attending the Marmora Fair, only to find it had been burned to the ground and in complete ruins. Everything in the home was lost and only the brick chimney was left standing. Thursday morning Mr. and Mrs. Simmons were standing looking at what once had been their lifetime home and were awaiting the arrival of an insurance adjuster when it is believed the standing brick chimney became dislodged by the morning's heavy winds and toppled over, without warning, upon the unsuspecting pair. Fortunately Mrs. Simmons was standing a few feet back of her husband and was only struck by flying bricks and knocked unconscious. Upon regaining consciousness however she courageously made her way to neighbours, who notified Dr. Welsh and assisted in the excavating of Mr. Simmons' body, which was completely buried beneath a pile of brick and debris, that had once been a chimney.

Mrs. Simmons was formerly Miss Victoria Bronson of Madoc.

ROBERT M. MITCHELL

The funeral of the late Robert Manly Mitchell, late Collector of Taxes for Thurlow Township, and a former Warden of Hastings County, took place from the family residence in the second concession of Thurlow on Wednesday afternoon, October 18th, and was largely attended. The service in the home was conducted by the Rev. William Stirling, pastor of the United Church at Shannonville, assisted by the Rev. R. E. Newman, pastor of Holloway Street United Church, in Belleville, and the Rev. E. Farnsworth of Belleville.

Interment was made in Belleville cemetery; the service at the graveside was conducted by the Rev. E. Farnsworth.

The late Mr. Mitchell was a prominent member of the Orange Order and the last rites of the Order were performed at the graveside by Mr. Percy Moore, Master of the L. O. L. at Shannonville, assisted by Mr. C. Clarke, Deputy Master; Mr. Arthur Clazie, Chaplain, and Mr. E. K. Whitman, Director of Ceremonies.

The honorary bearers were all former Wardens of Hastings County and Prince Edward County and were as follows: Messrs. Wesley Gray, Geo. E. Thompson, George A. Bailey, H. Larkin, William C. West, J. G. Sills, J. V. Walsh, S. B. Rollins, Earl Bonter, James Barber, Erle Denyes and Col. R. Vandewater.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Geo. Arnott, James Haggerty, Wesley Henderson, Frank Bennett, Daniel Hagerman and Thomas Leslie.

PEMMICAN FOR ADMIRAL BYRD GIVEN ROAST BEEF FLAVOR

A Massachusetts Institute of Technology scientist said Saturday he had packed a new energy wallop into the pemmican of Admiral Byrd's explorers—and made the old Indian trail food as tasty as something mother used to bake.

Back from recent explorations through the cook book, Dr. Robert S. Harris reported he had developed a new formula, giving more calories per ounce of the concentrated human ration than anything in that line that has yet hit the rail in polar regions.

The new pemmican—three tons of which will be shipped for the Admiral and his men on their coming Antarctic trek—has the further advantage, Harris said, of being pre-cooked and of having a "nicer flavor" than previous trail dishes eaten by the adventurers.

To whip up a quick meal of pemmican while they are sashaying over the ice far from their base camps, the explorers will simply take a cake

SAYS HEPBURN WILL NOT OPPOSE WATERWAY PLAN

The Financial Post on Thursday published a copyright despatch from Ottawa stating Premier Hepburn of Ontario, stout opponent of the St. Lawrence waterway development plan, has withdrawn his objection.

"When Premier Hepburn visited Prime Minister King recently to offer Ontario's cooperation in the nation's war effort, it is understood he told the Prime Minister frankly that he was now prepared to co-operate in completing the seaway project," the Financial Post story said.

The despatch said completion of the $500,000,000 seaway and power project as an immediate undertaking had become a distinct possibility with Premier Hepburn's decision. The Ontario Premier repeated many times in the last four years his assertion that the Ontario Government would strenuously oppose the development. He said Ontario did not require power from the St. Lawrence.

EXACT EPICENTRE OF RECENT QUAKE TO BE LOCATED

If an accurate estimate of the epicentre of the earthquake which shook Eastern Canada and the New England States is obtained, Dr. E. A. Hodgson, Dominion seismologist, said Saturday that he would lead an expedition to find the exact epicentre.

Dr. Hodgson said he believed the epicentre to lie in the wilderness between Quebec City and the Saguenay River 125 miles to the north.

The seismograph at the Dominion observatory at Ottawa showed that the quake started Thursday at 6.55 a.m. and continued for about 30 minutes.

Decision to make the trip will depend on reports regarding the severity of the quake and how accurate an estimate can be obtained from other observatories as to the epicentre.

Location of the epicentre is necessary for scientific investigations, Dr. Hodgson said. The investigations throw light on the constitution and structure of the upper crust of the earth.

POLISH FLIERS HURL

DISABLED MACHINES INTO NAZI PLANES

The British foreign office announced Friday that a "reliable neutral source" had informed it "there was every reason to believe that German losses in men and material during the Polish campaign were much heavier than appeared from German official sources."

"It is said that tanks and mechanized vehicles in particular suffered severely and of those which survived a large number are in need of repair and will not be fit for service again for some months."

"According to the same source Polish air force acquitted itself with quite remarkable courage. Pilots whose planes were disabled hardly ever attempted to escape by parachute, but deliberately crashed into one of the German machines, attacking them so that both might be destroyed together."

REFUSES TO HALT

ON GUARD'S ORDER

For neglecting the order of a military sentry to stop, Arthur Reddick of Sheek Island was brought into court at Cornwall on Friday, placed on suspended sentence for six months and assessed court costs.

Reddick, driving an automobile, pleaded guilty to neglecting to stop when a soldier on guard duty on the Cornwall canal ordered him to stop October 7.

Magistrate P. C. Bergeron told the accused that he exposed himself to a chance of being shot when he ignored the order because sentries are under orders to shoot when their commands are not obeyed by anyone trespassing on government property.

The charge was laid under section 153A of the Army Act, in operation now by virtue of section 69 of the Militia Act.

of the stuff in some melted snow, and warm the mixture just enough to make it into a gruel-like dish.

Pre-cooking the various ingredients said Harris, would eliminate the need of carrying large supplies of cooking fuel on long treks.

"The pemmican tastes like roast beef," smiled Harris.

CITY FINES ITSELF FOR BLTCKOUT SLIP

The City of Plymouth was ordered to pay a fine of two pounds (about $8.) to itself last week for failure to blackout the Guild Hall.

The Magistrate who imposed the fine said it was merely taking money out of one pocket and putting it in another, but the conviction would be on the record at any rate.

Police had complained that the Guild Hall, while being used for coal rationing purposes, was brilliantly lighted. The city replied that the police had arrived only a few minutes after blackout time and that the work was nearly finished.

R. C. A. F. TO USE HOSPITAL AS BASE

Premier Hepburn announced Monday night that the Federal Government had accepted Ontario's rent-free offer of the new $8,500,000 mental hospital at St. Thomas for an R.C.A.F. training station, and that every attempt will be made to have the 1,200 patients evacuated by the end of the week and the buildings ready for occupation by the air force next Monday.

Word of Ottawa's decision on the nearly two weeks old offer came to the Premier in a wire late Saturday from Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Defence, who said the property was required immediately.

BOAT CAPSIZES, 450 DROWNED

Authorities estimated 450 Chinese men and women laborers drowned on Tuesday when the overloaded 160-ton river vessel Hsin Taiku Maru capsized in the storm-swept Yangtze Estuary 12 miles from Woosung.

The only freighter aboard, a Japanese captain, was believed lost with his ship.

Several vessels in the vicinity reported rough water made rescue attempts almost impossible.

The passengers aboard were employed in Japanese-dominated areas along the banks of the Yangtze.

ONLY 10 GALLONS GAS PER MONTH

Rationing of gasoline has swept motor traffic from the streets of London and other British cities and threatened an acute shortage of taxicabs.

For the ordinary motorist, the new regulations meant a driving range of from 100 to 200 miles a month. For instance, the owner of a small, popular Canadian car of 60 horsepower is allowed 10 gallons a month.

The drivers of London's high antique looking taxicabs are all but desperate.

TOO MANY DUTCH

SOLDIERS MARRYING

Netherlands authorities disclosed on Tuesday they were considering measures to stop an increase in marriages attributed to the fact married soldiers receive five times as much pay as single men.

It was understood an order would provide that soldiers marrying after a certain date will not get the benefit of the pay difference. Unmarried soldiers at present get three Guilders (about $1.50) a week and married soldiers 15 Guilders (about $7.50).

POLISH ARMY UNITS

RESIST GERMANS

The armed bands which the Germans officially admit they are still fighting here and there in Poland are regular army Polish units, the Polish Embassy in Paris said Tuesday.

These regular army forces are still giving fierce resistance to the Germans and Russians, the Embassy said especially in the Suwalki district and in the Carpathians, and in the Pripiet marshes.

810 LOSE LIVES

ON ROYAL OAK

The Admiralty issued revised figures Wednesday on the sinking of the battleship Royal Oak Saturday showing 810 men were lost and 424 survivors.

The figures were based on "latest information at the Admiralty" and showed 24 officers and 198 men went down with the battleship. Survivors included 57 officers and 367 men.

These totals exceeded slightly the previous estimates. They showed a total of 1,234 were on the ship instead of the outside figure of 1,200 estimated when the sinking was announced.

SAM BROWNE BELT

WORN BY OFFICERS

TO BE ABOLISHED

The Sam Browne Belt, long one of the marks of rank in the British armies, is being abolished, at least for the duration of the war. It was worn by commissioned and warrant officers and consists of a broad leather belt around the waist with a diagonal strap passing over the right shoulder.

A new dress regulation abolishes the shoulder strap for all officers except those in mounted units. For the time being officers may wear the belt portion of the Sam Browne but new officers need not.

Instead they will wear a cloth belt of the same material as their uniforms, much like the belts worn in the Royal Air Force that they will be detachable. The Air Force cloth belts are attached to the jackets.

FEW DEER HUNTERS

A sunny day inaugurated the deer hunting season at North Bay on Monday, but there was no rush for licenses. Deer are said to be plentiful in the woods of the district and it is expected that more hunters will turn out within the next few days.

Mrs. J. Bailey of Eldorado, was re-elected chairman of the Belleville Convention of the Women's Institute at the closing session of their annual meeting Friday afternoon.

Officers for 1940 are:
Honorary Chairman—Mrs. C. Holmes, Belleville.

Chairman—Mrs. J. Bailey, Eldorado.

Registration—Mrs. M. B. Weese, Rednersville; Mrs. H. Murphy, Belleville.

Auditors—Mrs. N. Brown, Belleville and Mrs. M. Vandervoort, Stirling.

Mrs. R. Bush of Cobourg, presided at Friday morning's session of the convention meeting in St. Thomas Parish House, Belleville.

Mrs. A. Mitchell of Belleville, read the financial statement of the previous annual convention. The report of the auditor, Mrs. N. Brown, was read, showing the treasurer's report had been found correct.

Miss G. Laundry of Hillier, in her report on Community Activities and Relief, said that many branches had already organized war work.

The reports sent to her showed a year of real achievement. The branches showed they had the interests of the young people at heart by providing a large share of the social life. This took the form of field days, picnics, dances, oyster suppers, concerts and plays, banquets, "True or False" and "Ask-it-Basket" programs. For community betterment libraries were organized and local improvements completed. Prizes were given for school, fair and courses. Friendly and charitable objects received the attention of branches which attended to the needs of their own community and then extended their interests to other worthy fields. Study could be made of community needs as this side did not seem to be mentioned in the reports.

Community activities will stress war work and while all should make every effort to do their part it is essential that all that makes life normal and happy should be continued, clean amusement, aid for handicapped children, cheer and comfort given to the aged and sorrowing while the social needs of the youth and the education of adults should not be neglected. After the war will come the problem of putting Canada back to work and it is hoped that intelligent study now will bring the country through this era without the tragedy of this era without the tragedy.

What the branches are doing for Health and Child Welfare was clearly defined by Mrs. J. A. McDonald, of Hastings, convener of this subject. Papers on many health and child welfare topics were delivered at branch meetings, and demonstrations given on this work. Mrs. McDonald, in an interesting manner, discussed preventive measures and how Institute members could assist this work by spreading knowledge of health matters.

Mrs. F. J. Nickle of Eldorado, Provincial Convener of Health, led in an excellent discussion on this report.

The remainder of the morning session was devoted to girls' work under the leadership of Miss Jean M. Scott, of Lindsay. Home Economic Coach and Miss Kathleen Giles, R. R. No. 1, Mountain View, convener. Miss Scott on behalf of the girls expressed appreciation to the women for the co-operation given during the past year. The girls also were grateful to local leaders for their guiding interest in the work. This phase of Institute endeavour was toward keeping girls "happily busy." The scope of girls' activities was brought forcibly to the attention of the audience by the program which followed. The ability of the girls in taking part amazed and delighted their audience, being a conclusive proof of the value in view, demonstrated cotton accessories in the club girls' room. Upon the stage they placed miniature furniture to completely furnish a bedroom. Harmonizing cotton accessories for bed, dressing tables, screen and curtains made an economical, desirable and practical charming room that would meet any girl's demands.

Miss Velma Peterson of Warkworth, gave a talk on "The Milky Way" project undertaken by the girls of Northumberland. She explained the food value of milk and by means of a Milk Bar explained the various types of milk.

Miss Kathleen Giles reported the activities of Girls' Clubs throughout the convention area. Many projects had been taken up and brought to a successful conclusion. The Garden and Canning Clubs were enthusiastically organized while "Dressing up Home Vegetables" was a popular study.

Miss Bridges, director of the Home Economics at Kemptville Agricultural School, was a special speaker. Today, she said, the country is at war, a war for democracy. The base of the democratic state is the family, and as democracy believes in freedom of the individual so must the democratic family. A great deal of education is needed, and Home Economics is the only form of education which broadly deals with everyday living. In this course the girls learned the subject of clothing—sewing, grooming, posture, how to choose becoming clothes. They were taught how to make homes attractive and cosy, both in furnishings and home atmosphere. The study of foods since an average person eats 77,000 meals in a lifetime, was an important part of Home Economics. In all the course dealt with every phase of development that would give a girl poise, self assurance, initiative, self reliance, and a definite sphere of usefulness.

Miss Kathleen Montgomery, Rednersville, described in detail the Girls' Conference at Guelph which she had the privilege of attending.

Delicious meals for the delegates were provided Thursday and Friday by members of St. John's Mission in the basement of the Parish House. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers and an appetizing menu was served very efficiently by the ladies in charge.

Mrs. Wicks of Cobourg, was presiding officer Friday afternoon. Miss M. V. Powell of the Department of Agriculture addressed the members touching on matters brought up in previous reports and giving many helpful suggestions. Miss Powell reminded her hearers that the Women's Institute was pledged to do all in their power, and all the government asked, in war emergency work. At present, their job was to carry on conditions as usual, preparing to answer when definite call was made on their time and ability.

Mrs. J. C. Sills of West Huntingdon, gave a splendid report on Historical Research showing how through special papers and displays, interviews with older members of the community the Institute had gathered much valuable historical lore.

She told how Hastings County townships had long been familiar to her by name, introduced at a hospital behind the lines in France during the last war. Working as a nurse she was stationed in a hospital that had been converted from a schoolhouse by funds subscribed by Hastings' communities. Each room bore the name of a township. This was one of the first field hospitals and when she came to live in this district she was happy to become acquainted with the places that had subscribed at this wonderful undertaking.

That the art of transforming humble articles into objects of beauty is well known to Institute members was shown in the exhibit of articles made from sugar bags, including lovely bed spreads, everyday table cloths, shoe bags, Verandah and car cushions were made from rough bags. Other articles of home make were rugs, and kitchen dress, ensemble all showing remarkable originality.

At the conclusion of election of officers, there was a resolution of appreciation to all those who contributed to the success of the convention and suggestions were made for the 1940 gathering.

SAYS HITLER TO OFFER PEACE WITH FRANCE

Berlin correspondents of the Nationalist and the Berlingske Tidende reported Friday that Adolf Hitler soon will offer a separate peace to France and will precede his offer by suspending hostilities on the Western Front.

The war against Britain will continue, meanwhile, with "increased ferocity," these reports said.

The Edinburgh Evening News, on Saturday protested against the conduct of the funeral on Friday for two Nazi airmen killed in Monday's raid on the Firth of Forth.

"Everyone in his or her heart pays tribute to brave men, but in days like these let it rest there," the paper said.

Commenting on the presence of huge crowd lining the procession route, the paper asked "was that in accordance with the desires of the Government anxious about such large assemblages and more anxious because of the fact Edinburgh had two air raid warnings yesterday?"

"Who was to guarantee the crowd immunity yesterday afternoon?" The News asked.

The paper suggested there should be no prior publicity for the funerals.

"Let us honor the brave dead quietly and yet protect our people against any serious risk to which this city has already been subjected."

Royal Air Force men who fought the Nazi airmen laid a wreath on their grave Friday. R. A. F. officers acted as pall bearers and a guard of honor of R. A. F. officers from all parts of the United Kingdom was present. Pipers played a lament and riflemen fired a volley over the grave.

SHIPS TORPEDOED SEPARATED FROM BRITISH CONVOY

At least 67 persons lost their lives in sinking of two British steamships in the Atlantic on Tuesday, authorities estimated as they checked the stories of some 300 survivors landed at Bordeaux by a rescue ship.

Officials said that 61 apparently had gone down with the Yorkshire and six or seven with the City of Mandalay. The two vessels were sunk by a submarine within a half hour about 500 miles off the Spanish coast.

Tales of hardship and terror were told by the survivors, many of whom were taken to hospitals suffering severely from exposure. All those rescued were Britons or East Indians en route to England.

Long lines of ambulances and a corps of nurses were waiting on the dock when the rescue ship, the American freighter Independence Hall, commanded by Captain D. J. McKenzie, reached port.

DEATH OF HERO SEEN AT OSHAWA

The death of a hero was registered at Oshawa General Hospital on Saturday.

A man identified as C. J. McNamara, 60 years old, died of injuries received when he was caught between two freight cars that started suddenly in the Canadian National Railways yards Friday night.

McNamara was penniless, but papers in his pockets showed he was a member of Canada's immortal Princess Patricia Regiment of Light Infantry, that since the end of the first Great War he had saved four persons from drowning in Ontario and Quebec.

Personal papers told that on July 6, 1921, he saved Vera Baker, Night Superintendent of a Peterborough hospital; August 12, 1923, he saved an unnamed boy at Port Stanley; after that, the papers indicated he rescued a son of former Mayor McCleary of Thorold near Lock 24 of the Welland Canal; and on September 17, 1931 it was noted that he saved the life of High Moffatt on the Lachine Canal at Montreal.

Authorities are attempting to arrange with military officials for burial.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR CO-OPERATION

Military leaders of Great Britain, France and Turkey completed extensive plans Saturday for military co-operation under the new tripartite mutual assistance treaty.

The conference, which began on Wednesday, concluded as General Maxime Weygand, commander in chief of French forces in the eastern Mediterranean and Lieut. General Sir Archibald Wavell, British Middle East commander, prepared to return to their respective headquarters by plane.

Marshal Fevsi Cakmack, of the Turkish army, described the results as "highly satisfactory."

The military leaders were said to have decided on the closest cooperation and co-ordination of their staffs in Asia Minor. Britain and France were reported to have pledged large quantities of fighting planes and war equipment for quick delivery to Turkey, as well as assistance for the Turkish navy in the Black Sea.

front, the vast number of tanks that have cluttered their way to the lines will lead the attack.

Built by Britain's best engineers and manned by soldiers of a famous cavalry regiment, the blunt-nosed machines of the squadron are pointed toward the front ready to lead the infantry waves into battle when ordered. The squadron was on the alert, forbidden to go more than a half-mile from its billets.

Alongside the machines that the British launched against the Germans at Cambrai in 1916, these tanks are tiny, but their speed and effectiveness have been doubled or tripled. Each tank mounts machine gun and a rifle and is equipped to throw smoke bombs out of trigger mortars to screen an advance. The turret swivels so that the gunner can spray bullets over enemy positions.

Speed of 50 miles an hour can be made on open roads and 35 miles an hour across a ploughed field. The powerful engine does three miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Built to stop rifle and machine gun fire, the tank looks staunch and secure.

IRON CROSSES FOR OFFICERS AND CREW

Commander Prien and the crew of his submarine which sank the British battleship Royal Oak on Saturday and claimed to have torpedoed the battle cruiser Repulse, were awarded Iron Crosses Wednesday for their exploits.

It was announced they arrived on Wednesday at an unnamed harbor and that Grand Admiral Erich Raeder hurried there to extend the Reich's congratulations.

Adolf Hitler also elevated Commander Koenitz, Commander of the German Submarine Fleet, to the rank of Rear Admiral.

Winston Churchill, Britain's First Lord of the Admiralty, authorized sources said, would "in such form as the German Supreme High Command thinks desirable" be acquainted with photographs of bombing activity in the Firth of Forth taken Tuesday by German fliers.

These sources asked whether Churchill would dare deny the extent of the damage inflicted in the light of documentary proof said to be in German possession.

A Royal Red Cross book to be sold during the Christmas season for the benefit of the Lord Mayors' Red Cross Fund will be entitled, "The Queen's Book of the Red Cross," it was announced in London last week.

MRS. J. G. OSTROM CELEBRATES HER 91st BIRTHDAY

On Thursday, September 28th, the family of Mrs. J. G. Ostrom of Holloway, gathered at her home for a surprise party with well filled baskets of chicken and sweet goodies, to honor her on her ninety-first birthday.

Mrs. Ostrom, while not as strong as she used to be, is still very keen and active and loving to be out of doors. She has kept herself busy through the summer keeping her lawn and tending the flowers. Her minister brings her a copy of the book entitled "The Upper Room" every three months which she reads and enjoys very much. She also reads the daily paper with much interest.

At one o'clock all assembled in the dining room where a sumptuous repast was laid. A beautiful birthday cake with ninety candles centered the table. After all had partaken of the good things provided, Mrs. Ostrom was asked if she would like to say a few words. She replied very feelingly saying she was more happy than she could express in words to have her family all with her on the anniversary of her ninety-first birthday. Secondly, that she was glad she gave her heart to God when she was a little girl, also she was grateful to God for her long life, health and prosperity.

She wanted also to thank all her friends for the arms full of flowers, gifts, cards and letters of congratulation received. All present replied to Mrs. Ostrom's address with heartfelt thanks and appreciation, after which all joined in singing "Happy Birthday to You." Mrs. Ostrom sang in her clear, sweet voice "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," and all very heartily joined with her. Some old time hymns were sung such as "The Old Rugged Cross," "In the Sweet Bye and Bye," and "We'll all Gather Home in the Morning."

Through the course of the afternoon appreciative readings and songs were sung. Mrs. Eggleton gave memories of Mother; Mrs. Snyder, "The Song My Mother Used to Sing"; Mrs. Phillips "That Wonderful Mother of Mine"; and Mrs. Cassidy "Will the Roses Bloom in Heaven."

A jolly hour was enjoyed in jokes, comic songs, readings and patriotic songs.

"God Be With You Till We Meet Again" was then sung and all departed for their homes wishing Mrs. Ostrom many happy returns of the day and feeling they had all spent a happy time together.

QUINTE CHURCH YOUTH HOLD THREE-DAY SESSION

The eleventh annual convention of the Bay of Quinte conference, young peoples' union of the United Church, culminated in a final church service at Peterborough on Sunday night. Dr. Bert Howard, Principal of Albert College, Belleville, was guest speaker.

Nearly 300 delegates attended the three day sessions which opened on Friday afternoon in Trinity Church.

The speakers included: Rev. Gordon Domm, Bathurst United Church, Toronto; Jack Wallens, the society's national president; Rev. J. I. MacKay, superintendent, Church of All Nations, Toronto; Dr. A. E. Armstrong, secretary, foreign mission board, Toronto.

ROYAL CARPET AIRED AGAIN

The Royal carpet, which the Ingersoll, Ont., town council paid the sum of $386.31 for, is at a bit of a discount these days. The council does not know what to do with the royal carpet now that there is no royalty to tread it any more.

So one Councillor suggested that it be cut up and pieces of it sold as Christmas presents.

Councillor Smith believed the carpet might be raffled off, although he said that the anticipated strong opposition to this from people who did not believe in gambling.

After a bill was passed to pay the dealer the purchase price of the carpet, the matter was dropped to be taken up later in a special committee meeting.

BRITAIN REQUIRES DRIED APPLES

The United Kingdom Food Ministry since having requisitioned all stocks of dried fruits, is now the sole importer of this commodity. The Department of Trade and Commerce is advised by cable that present supplies of dried apples are short and the Ministry is prepared to consider immediate offers on an f.o.b. basis for November and later shipments. The maximum wholesale price irrespective of grade has been set at £3.10s. per cwt.

MEETING OF C. G. I. T.

The meeting was opened by the C. G. I. T. Purpose on October 24th. Hymn No. 384, "Can a Little Child Like Me?" was sung. The scripture lesson was read by Fay Fleming, after which the Lord's prayer was repeated by all. Hymn No. 502, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" was sung. The roll call was answered by a favourite tree. The collection was taken. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

It was planned to have a social time at the next meeting by playing games and bringing lunch. It was also planned to bring in any old toys for Christmas help.

Next week's roll call is to be answered with an article on the topic. John McArthur. A sing song was held and games were played. How do you like your neighbour, and musical chairs. Taps closed the meeting.

The newly elected officers for the C. G. I. T. are as follows:

President—Lola McCaw.
Vice-President—Betty Phillips.
Treasurer—Elaine Taylor.
Press Reporter—Iris Roberts.
Planner—Fay Fleming.
Secretary—Lillian Embury.

MEETING OF TRINITY MISSION BAND

The meeting was opened by standing and repeating the Mission Band Purpose, after which hymn No. 588 was sung. The minutes of the last meeting were read, followed by the roll call. The treasurer's report was given. The Juniors went to the other room. Worship period, "Praise ye the Lord for it is good to sing praises unto our God for it is pleasant and praise is comely. Sing unto the Lord with thanksgiving. Sing praises unto our Lord. The scripture lesson was taken from Matthew 28:18-20, by Lillian Berry. This was followed by prayer by Marjorie Whiteman. Hymn No. 289 was sung. Subject of the study period was "Sera of the Punjab." After the closing a lunch was served. The Mission Band benediction was then repeated.

NAPANEE WOMAN IN BOMBER AREA

Mrs. E. W. Edmonds, formerly Loretta Wilson, daughter of James A. Wilson of Napanee, was among the staff of United Church Mission in Tzeliutzing, Szechwan, West China, whose property was nearly all destroyed on Tuesday of last week by Japanese bombers. Word was received by the Mission Board in Toronto that Mrs. Edmonds and her children together with all the other members of the mission station were unharmed.

Almost all of the extensive property of the United Church of Canada at Tzeliutzing, in Szechwan Province was destroyed by the Japanese bombers recently, despatches reaching Toronto said.

No Canadians were injured, since they fled to the fields at the first warning of the air raid signals. Four Chinese helpers, however, suffered injuries. In the city proper many were believed killed.—Napanee Beaver.

TRUSTEES AND RATEPAYERS MEET

Trustees, ratepayers and municipal officials of Hastings County will have an opportunity to secure information, and discuss Township School areas at a meeting in Marmora Saturday, October 27th. The meeting which has been arranged through the Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association will be addressed on this subject by Mr. V. K. Greer, Chief Inspector, Department of Education. Marmora Town Hall has been selected as a place of meeting through co-operation of the municipal council and the public school inspector.

The meeting will also be addressed by Mr. M. A. Campbell, Secretary of the Ontario Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association. All persons interested in education in Hastings County are invited to attend. The meeting is called for 1.45 p.m.

JOHNSTON THE DRUGGIST

CANADA'S DESTROYERS' PART IN CONVOY SYSTEM DESCRIBED

The vigilance of Canada's sea fighters is playing a big role in smoothing the way for the almost unbroken procession of ships steaming eastward across the Atlantic with the sinews of war for Great Britain.

As the destroyer heads back to port, still another convoy has been launched safely on its way from Canada, given a flying start past the coastal waters and into the open sea. And for it, like those that have preceded it, with hundreds of thousands of tons of valuable cargo, the Canadian navy has helped take the U-boat out of the menace class.

On this voyage, for the first time in the war on this side of the ocean a newspaperman was allowed to see at first hand the working of a convoy system that has the record of having brought every ship home safely. The system is founded on watchfulness around the clock, readiness for instant action twenty-four hours a day. Through the day and night, as the sleek gray escort ships nurse the lumbering convoy craft along, men scan the sea's surface for enemy war craft—U-boats or surface ships.

Lookouts comb every foot of the heaving green through powerful glasses. Guns are manned without a break, shells stacked within reach. Sailors stand by the torpedo tubes of our destroyer. Others are at their stations beside the depth charges. As they steam away from the coast the destroyers trace an intricate pattern of manoeuvres ahead and to each side of them, designed to a view of every possible danger spot. The heavier escorting craft of the Royal navy work from another position.

Overhead, a plane swings in wide, sweeping circles supplementing the search for the water. As night falls, the lights are doused. Not a glimmer shows from the warships or their charges. Under the moonless sky, the freighters show up only as darker blobs against a dark horizon.

On the bridge of the destroyer, heaving like a bucking steer now as the tail-end of a hurricane kicks up the sea, officers peer anxiously into the murk. They must not get too far away from the convoy ships; for it is easy to lose them; they must not let the destroyer swing too close, or there is danger of collision.

On deck the torpedo tubes have been swung out to point over the sides, four to starboard and four to port. A row of electrical buttons on the bridge can loose their destructive force in a trice.

As the ship goes snorting along through the chop with everything ready for quick action, a tiny prick of light thrusts a hole through the black curtain off the port bow. Instantly, the destroyer heels around in a wide arc and darts toward the strange ship.

The spot grows into a cluster of light. We approach within a mile and the men on the bridge identify the stranger as a trawler with her crew at work. Back we veer to the convoy, our scrutiny likely unsuspected by the fishermen.

As the dawn comes up in a gray mist, with the convoy ships scattered across the horizon, another unidentified craft is seen. The destroyer races for her, challenging signals flying from the yards.

Guns are brought to bear on her while officers await her answer. Finally, she identifies herself as a freighter bound for the United States, and the warship lets her pass through the path of the convoy.

Meanwhile, the freighters have been reforming. None have strayed out of sight, and soon all are back in line and heading eastward again under the eye of the shepherd ships of war.

MONARCHS' VISIT CANADA HOUSE

The King and Queen called on Canada House in London Thursday afternoon to see how the Canadian headquarters in Britain is grappling with wartime problems. It was an informal visit.

The High Commissioner and Mrs. Massey showed their Majesties around, but the territory was already familiar to them. The Queen was seen to turn to the uniformed monarch several times, remarking on seeing pictures and exhibits: "Do you remember... that brings it back, doesn't it, dear?"

The Queen took a mother's interest in the gigantic piles of baby clothes and blankets which Mrs. Massey's team of women volunteers have collected for needy evacuated families. These women are now amassing thousands of blankets, pairs of socks and other articles of clothing which are being sent to London by Dominion women's organizations. The articles will be used for the Canadian expeditionary forces.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

On Tuesday evening of last week about one hundred friends from Remington and Eldorado gathered at the home of Mr. Fred Chambers to honor Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur McCoy (nee Vera Tompkins). The newly-weds were presented with a silver tea service, Wilbur a ring with L. O. L. emblem, and many other presents. The following address was read by Miss Carrie Bateman:

Dear Wilbur and Vera:

We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered here tonight to convey to you both our best wishes for a happy and prosperous married life.

Vera, though not as well acquainted with you, we realize you are to be commended upon choosing as your life partner one who has endeared himself to us all. Our hope is that the coming years will be full of happiness while your lives shed an influence of good on all with whom you come in contact.

Wilbur, you have been one of our favorite boys. Your straight-forward disposition and your personality have won for you the affection of both the old and the young in our community.

In answering the call to the colors you have shown courage and loyalty for which we admire you. It is boys of your calibre who are giving us today the freedom we are enjoying and preserving for us the traditions of the British Empire.

From our hearts we wish you God speed and safe return.

We look forward to the future when you and your wife will live in our community sharing with us the happiness of former days.

Should clouds arise, we grant that they with silver may be lined, But quickly vanish even those Leaving no trace behind.

And happy may your voyage be With sunshine all along, To brighten both your paths and make Your lives one grand sweet song.

We ask you to accept these gifts, not for their intrinsic value, but for the friendship and good wishes that go with them. May they in the years to come remind you of many happy thoughts which surround this gathering here tonight.

Signed on behalf of the Remington and Eldorado communities: Harold Chambers, Earl Fitzgerald, Mrs. John Woods, Mrs. Fred Holmes.

On Monday evening, October 16th, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tompkins held a reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur McCoy (nee Vera Tompkins).

Later in the evening friends of the newly-married couple gathered at the home of the bride and presented them with a miscellaneous shower. The following address was read by Miss Ruth Fitzgerald:

Marmora, Ont., Oct. 16, 1939.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur McCoy.

Dear Wilbur and Vera:

It is with great pleasure that we have gathered here this evening to express to you both our congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

Vera, you have been one of us all your life and although absent from our midst at various intervals, you have won our love and esteem with your sterling qualities and sunny disposition. We shall miss you but our loss shall be another's gain.

You, Wilbur, are in no way a stranger to us and we extend to you heartiest congratulations on your choice of a life partner.

Therefore we ask you to accept these gifts as a remembrance from us and may they convey to you our heartiest wishes for your future happiness and prosperity.

Signed on behalf of your many friends: Mrs. Ed. Post, Mrs. Murvin Dafoe, Mrs. Bill Tompkins.

SILVER LINKS MISSION BAND

The regular meeting of Remington Silver Links Mission Band was held at McCoy's School on Saturday, October 14th. The meeting was opened by singing hymn No. 426, "God Sees the Little Sparrows Fall." The Mission Band Purpose was then repeated by all. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. It was decided that the next meeting be held at the home of June Holmes. Mrs. Reynolds took charge of the worship service. The scripture reading was given by Selbourne Woods. The roll call was then answered. The offering was taken. The story from the Study Book was given by the leader. The National Anthem was sung and prayer closed the meeting. Games were played and lunch was served.

Patronize the home printing plant and keep your money at home where it belongs.

TWEED RESIDENTS HURT IN CRASH

Three Tweed residents, James Parn, John Reeves and Stafford Way had a narrow escape from serious injury on Monday night of last week, when the car driven by Parn side-swiped a truck on Highway No. 37, two miles south of the village, near the farm of Murney Robinson. The Tweed car was travelling south and the truck, owned and driven by Oswald Hutson of Matawatchan, was proceeding in the opposite direction. The two vehicles met at the narrow cement bridge at this point. The Parn car was badly damaged, the side being almost completely ripped off, while the impact was such that the truck was turned on its top. John Reeves, a passenger in the Parn car suffered head injuries, while the other occupants were shaken up. Dr. George rendered first aid to those injured. Hutson was unhurt. It was indeed fortunate for all concerned that the accident did not have more serious results as the car in particular, was badly damaged. This is considered a dangerous point on the highway and accidents have occurred at the same place previously. Chief J. Clare Hayes was called to the scene to investigate.

ELDORADO AND BANNOCKBURN W. I.

The Eldorado and Bannockburn Womens' Institute held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Ken. Bateman on Tuesday evening, October 17th, with an attendance of twenty. The meeting opened by all singing the Institute Ode followed with the Lord's prayer, with the president, Mrs. H. Empey, presiding. After the minutes had been read and the usual business discussed, a very fine programme, the topic being "Education," was given under the leadership of Mrs. H. Parnell. She opened the programme by singing "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." The roll call was responded to by "How to Amuse Children on a Rainy Day," and many good suggestions were given. Mr. W. Moran gave a splendid talk on the problems of the adolescent boy and girl, bringing many helpful thoughts. A very interesting discussion followed with Mrs. F. J. Nickle as leader.

A reading on Education was given by Mrs. B. Carman. Mrs. Ken Bateman brought current events of the day's news. A contest was then enjoyed and the meeting closed by all singing the National Anthem. Lunch was served at the close and a social half hour enjoyed.

RUSSIAN TROOPS ENTER ESTONIA

Extraordinary precautions against disorders as Soviet Russian troops began marching into Estonia were reported Saturday when first accounts of the movement penetrated a wall of official silence and censorship. Civic guards and police, these accounts said, lined highways over which the Russians travelled en route to military bases the Soviet was granted recently under a mutual assistance pact with her Baltic neighbour.

The troops were said to have been forbidden to communicate with the inhabitants and every effort was made to prevent accidental contacts.

FOWLS STOLEN, SUBSTITUTED

Provincial Constable John Rogers of Havelock, has a novel kind of a chicken thief to contend with in Belmont Township. He is apparently an individual whose sense of humor has gone a bit off the regular trail.

Farmers have been finding some strange alterations in the personnel of their chicken population. One farmer found in the morning that three or four of his birds disappeared and in their places were four or five strange birds of a different breed.

JUICY, perfectly-ripened Canadian apples are in... fresh from Canada's finest orchards! Plenty of them, too—those that normally would be exported overseas, as well as our own usual, generous supply. And—thanks to the higher minimum grade requirements—there are greater-than-average qualities of the finer, fancier, higher-grade eating apples.

So, all through this year's apple season, order liberal quantities of Canadian apples... for eating, cooking, entertaining... and for jellifying and preserving. You'll enjoy them immensely—and you'll be doing your country a SERVICE at the same time.

And remember, Canadian apples are Government Graded. Ask to see the grade-mark on the container when you buy!

BELLEVILLE MARKET SATURDAY

Colorful evidence of the statement of Mr. C. D. Stevenson, Dominion Fruit Inspector, that the quality of apples grown in the Belleville district this year are by far the best produced in years, the display of the Autumn and Winter apples offered at the Belleville market on Saturday evinced the admiration of rural and urban dwellers alike.

Size and quality of McIntosh Red, Northern Spy, Talman Sweet, Snows, Greening and other varieties stood out in a fine display. Number one fruit was quoted at $1. the hamper, with buying being brisk. Windfall apples were offered at 75 cents and 80 cents the bushel.

No immediate rise in price was expected, vendors stated unless better markets are obtained. The main outlet for Canadian apples, the British market, has been practically closed due to the war conditions, and this fact, of course, has had a tremendous reaction on prices of Canadian fruit.

Prices of other offerings remained fairly steady. Egg quotations were firm at the previous week's levels with "A" selects offered at 40 cents per dozen. Mediums and pullets were quoted at 35 cents and 33 cents respectively. Farmers' butter levels were steady with singles and two-pound rolls selling at 30 cents the pound.

The chicken offering was decidedly heavier than that of the previous week with prices showing little deviation from those of the previous Saturday. A few broilers were offered at 40 cents each. Choice weighty six months' old birds sold at from $1.30 up, with fowl moving slowly from 75 cents each. No turkeys or geese were noted, although a few ducks moved sluggishly at $1. each.

Picked and stored by foresighted vendors before the heavy frost of last Sunday, home-grown tomatoes took a decided increase in price with basket lots offered at 30 cents, a 10 cent rise over prices of the previous week.

Potatoes were steady with bushel lots offered at 80 cents and 75 pound bags at $1.00 each. One vendor reported substantial losses through dry rot, but a survey of other vendors revealed the fact that this condition was not general.

Staple vegetables are approaching the bushel stage, with onions quoted at $1.25, turnips at 60 cents, beets at the same price, and carrots at 50 cents. Large squash and pumpkin was available at ten cents each. Good quality cabbage and cauliflower sold at from five cents the head.

Blue and white grapes were offered at 20 and 25 cents the basket, with the wild variety selling at 15 cents for the same quantity. Frost plums making their market debut were quoted at 40 cents the six-quart basket.

Lovers of fish had plenty to choose from, with fresh lake herring at four for 25 cents heading a variable display. Lake trout was offered at 25 cents the pound, with whitefish and pickerel selling at 20 cents the pound. Pike was quoted at ten cents the pound.

CLAIM LASHES TIED WITH LEAD

Statements of San Quentin convicts that they were lashed with lead-tipped straps for four minutes at a time and were required to stand for eight hours on a spot 18 inches in diameter were studied Saturday by the State Director of Penology.

The director, John Clark, questioned six convicts Friday night and planned to interrogate at least forty others.

The questioning was on the basis of statements made a week ago by nine prison guards that four of the guards working in relays, thrashed young prisoners, with a section of the lead-tipped strap because they refused to stand on a "spot" as punishment for alleged participation in hunger strikes.

WOLF CUB SHOT NEAR SULPHIDE

The pelt of a handsome wolf cub measuring three feet, nine inches from nose to tail tip was brought to Belleville recently by John Goulah who resides near Sulphide.

Goulah was on his way to a field to pick potatoes when he noticed his dog suddenly dash away in pursuit of a strange animal. Following a chase after which the dog succeeded in cornering the cub in a thicket, Goulah dispatched the animal with a well directed blow from a heavy stick.

According to Goulah, wolves, the majority of them apparently cubs, have been plentiful in Hungerford township.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

On Monday evening, October 16th, the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Armstrong gathered at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Arkell, to honor them in their recent marriage. Fun was had while card playing and dancing to the music of Messrs. McCoy and E. Reynolds.

At about 11:30 the gathering was called to order and after the bride and groom were seated, an address was read by Miss Gladys Martin, Eldorado, Ont., Oct. 16, 1939.

Dear Lillian and Earl: Music doth lure a love lorn heart As a candle the moth may dare, And a garageman may play his guitar To win a Juliet fair.

Lillian, your sunshine and laughter Have been symbolic of you, And Earl has chosen wisely And your sunshine will shine for two.

Life can be compared to a river, Flowing along to the sea, You have launched your lives together And you wonder what they will be.

The place in your social circle Won't narrow, but widen more, As team work is all efficient, When two are pulling the oar.

Your faith in your journey is safe, If you both keep time with the oars, And pull your strokes together, Not stopping when hands are sore.

Mentally, we are pulling with you, Wishing you joy and success, As you row down the stream together May your lives be all happiness.

May love's blessing rest upon you, May your life be Heaven on earth, As you use or gaze on our presents Think of us, and not of their worth.

Signed: Misses Vera Davidson, Mildred McCann, Irene Whyte, Jennie Burris, Gladys Martin and Edith Holland.

Little Miss Doris Parnell, dressed in a floor length blue frilled dress, and Master Teddy Haggerty, acted the part of bride and groom and drew in a pink draped wagon with a white basket filled with gifts and followed by seven girls carrying presents.

After the opening of the gifts, the most of which were for kitchen use, and in cream and red, Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong both expressed their sincere thanks and wishes for everyone to visit them.

Before the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," Dr. F. J. Nickle wished a happy birthday to Messrs. K. Martin and Harry Blakeley, each of whom were celebrating his birthday that day. Lunch was served by the ladies and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

ANGLO-GERMAN COOPERATION STILL DREAMED OF BY HITLER

Sven Hedin, noted Swedish explorer, said in an interview Saturday that Adolf Hitler's dream still was for Anglo-German co-operation to stop the westward advance of Bolshevism and dictate world peace.

Hedin, who visited Hitler last week, said in an interview published in the London News Chronicle that Hitler "does not hate England and desires peace passionately."

Asked what had been discussed at their meeting, Hedin said: "I cannot reveal details, but my feelings are that if war is let loose, it will be terrible, resulting in the triumph of Bolshevism and an end to western civilization."

"One thing only can save us," he went on, "Anglo-German co-operation which is Hitler's dream."

"Such a move, in my opinion, would break Bolshevism's westward advance and create a tremendous and terrible power which would impose and dictate peace upon the world."

Hedin was quoted as saying Hitler undoubtedly would join a western bloc strong enough to maintain peace and recognize the world.

Hedin said Hitler would establish a semi-independent state "but she will not give up Czechoslovakia."

FLYING INSTRUCTOR KILLED IN CAR

Richard Lewis, 27, former instructor at the Ottawa Flying Club, was killed Saturday when he drove his car into a concrete abutment at a railway subway near Ottawa. Coroner W. T. Shirreff said he would decide whether to hold an inquest.

Lewis only recently returned from Camp Borden, Ont., where the National Defence Department had sent him for advanced training in flying so as to be qualified to instruct recruits.

FORMER RESIDENT PASSES HEAVY SNOWFALL

Early on Saturday morning, October 21st, Mrs. George Huffman passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. P. Wellman, 22 London street, Peterborough.

Mrs. Huffman, formerly Miss Helen A. Brown, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Brown, was born in Madoc Village, aged 79 years ago. About 56 years ago she was married to the late Mr. George Huffman of Madoc Township, who predeceased her eleven years ago. They lived in Thurlow Township for a short time, then moving to a farm in Madoc Township where they resided until 1914 when they moved to Madoc village. About 2 1/2 years ago the late Mrs. Huffman left Madoc to reside in Peterborough with her daughter Mrs. Wellman. Deceased was an ardent and active church worker and was a member of the W. M. S. and Ladies' Aid of Trinity United Church and a teacher in the Sunday school, and also treasurer for a number of years.

She has been in failing health since early spring and death came as a happy release.

There are left to mourn her loss, two daughters, Mrs. R. P. Wellman, Peterborough; Mrs. Frank Bouck, Bourlamaque, Que.; and one son, Mr. Wesley Huffman of Belleville, also fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. A daughter, Mrs. Thomas Adams, predeceased her several years ago.

A short funeral service was held in Peterborough and then the remains were brought to Trinity United Church, Madoc, where service was held at 2:30 o'clock on Monday last. Rev. M. C. Parr, of George Street Church, Peterborough, preached the sermon and Rev. A. Poulter, of Trinity Church, read the scripture lesson. The text used was "The memory of the just is blessed." The hymns used were "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," and "Abide With Me."

The bearers were Messrs. George West, Wm. Kelly, Robert Bristol, William McBain, Charles Whytock, and S. Ashley. The funeral was largely attended by former friends of the deceased.

Beautiful floral tributes were received from the following: Family, pillow; grandchildren, spray; Madoc W. M. S. spray; Mr. and Mrs. G. Gray, spray; Mr. and Mrs. H. Morton, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sayers, spray; Mr. and Mrs. R. Belshaw, spray; Golden Link Rebekah Lodge, spray; Oakdale Rebekah Lodge, spray; Wm. McMechan, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnstone, basket; Misses Ethel and Sylvia Richmond, bouquet; Mr. and Mrs. Irwin, bouquet.

Interment was made in Lakeview cemetery, Madoc, where the service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Parr and Rev. A. Poulter.

The second trial of Donald "Mickey" MacDonald on a charge of killing James Windsor, Toronto bookmaker, opened last week before Mr. Justice J. C. Makins, and jury. Windsor was shot to death in his home in Toronto last January. Appeal for a new trial was granted three weeks ago on the ground that the jury which previously found him guilty might have been prejudiced.

SEEN IN ALBERTA

Winter stretched threatening fingers into Alberta on Tuesday as heavy, wet snow covered most of the northern and central areas. The forecast was for cold and more snow.

Approximately nine inches of snow fell in Edmonton on Tuesday, slowing traffic and tying up street cars and buses in some instances.

Many cars and trucks were reported stalled on highways in the central part of the province where the snowstorm was whipped by a 40 mile an hour wind. The temperature at Calgary dropped from 30 to 15 above zero.

Only 75 per cent of threshing is completed in Northern Alberta and the snow was expected to cause further delay. Four of Edmonton's six new trackless trolley buses were stranded for half an hour at the foot of a steep McDougall Hill where heavy ice and snow made traction impossible. Traffic was resumed after cinders were spread on the grade.

George Messer of Daytona Beach, Florida, reported he had sighted a submarine several miles at sea off the ocean pier there Saturday.

He said he could distinguish the conning tower and the outline of the craft plainly through binoculars, but could not tell its nationality. Clarence V. Haden and John F. Good, who were fishing off the pier, corroborated Messers' statement.

BRITON IS FREE TO GRUMBLE OVER BUSINESS REGIMENTATION

The Briton is free to grumble as much as he likes over industrial and business regimentation in the war-time setup.

Although censors keep out of print any news that might be regarded as of value to the enemy, expression of opinion is without official check.

The sharp tax increases which boosted the basic income tax rate to 37 1-2 per cent have brought some criticism, but the general tenor of editorial objections has been that new regulations might hamper ordinary trade processes.

"Give traders confidence," the Times urged in an editorial which declared "the government needs to tax and for the yield of taxation it must look to turnover and incomes and profits."

The press is quick to scold officialdom on anything considered likely to hurt business unduly. An example is a Daily Mail editorial headline "Stranglehold" which takes Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to task on the fiscal program under which he proposes to raise $4,436,000,000 by taxation this year.

"How can he hope to get it when the entire trade of the country is being gravely damaged by hasty, ill-considered bureaucratic meddling?" the Mail asked.

The "rush to control gasoline, oil, coal, iron, steel, food and leather has created bureaucratic bottlenecks through which the industry's essential supplies trickle with the maximum delay," the editorial said.

The wholesale seizure of hotels has put 20,000 people out of work. Because of the patrol restrictions 70,000 commercial travellers are being driven out of their jobs."

A moving picture columnist in The Express spoke of dismay among film producers because "President Oliver Stanley of the Board of Trade commands 20 of Britain's 26 film studios and threatens to scrap his film quota act" under which imports of films are regulated.

POLISH OFFICERS SENT TO SIBERIA, MEN SENT HOME

Jews as well as priests and landlords are feeling the weight of the Soviet hand in eastern Poland, it was learned in Moscow Tuesday.

Public meetings and newspaper editorials in the Russian-occupied regions daily denounce members of the Bund (General Union of Jewish Workers) and the Socialist party as "traitors," "petty bourgeois," and "lackeys of the Polish ruling class." They are accused of having sent class conscious men and women to concentration camps.

Trainloads of Polish prisoners passed through the Moscow suburbs on Tuesday. Informed circles said officers were being sent to Central Asia and Siberia, but that the men would be returned home.

These circles reported hearing Russian guards reassure Polish prisoners who expected to be executed by saying: "Don't worry. If they were going to shoot you, they would have done it a long time ago."

Other Russians were heard grumbling at bringing in foreigners "to eat our bread."

Every effort is being made in Soviet occupied Poland to calm Polish peasants who fear losing their places because of their nationality, according to information reaching Moscow. On the other hand, the temporary Soviet administration at Lwow (Lemberg) has confiscated middle-class and artistic homes even when the owners were accused of no crimes.

Soviet mobilization was increasingly reflected in Moscow on Tuesday in the number of women replacing men as taxi drivers, traffic patrolmen, truck drivers and railway engineers.

Industrial labor done by women runs to 24.5 per cent in coal, 31.1 per cent in metallurgy, 20.4 per cent in electricity, 30.2 per cent in oil, 38.9 per cent in chemicals and 46.4 per cent in peat.

BELIEVES GOERING FAVORED SOLUTION

Sir Neville Henderson's final report on his ambassadorship in Berlin, made public Tuesday night in an official white paper, said he believed Field Marshal Herman Goering "would have preferred a peaceful solution" but that "it was Hitler's decision which alone counted."

Sir Neville said he believed Joachim von Ribbentrop, foreign minister was regarded by Hitler as "a second Bismarck, a conviction which von Ribbentrop probably shared to the full."

Supplementing the extensive blue paper gave Sir Neville's impressions of the influences which he said led Hitler to war.

NEW TYPE LUNG OPERATION CAUSES NO CHEST DEFORMITY

A surgical operation which removes a whole lung with little risk and no chest deformity afterward was reported to the American College of Surgeons at Philadelphia on Tuesday.

The first person who lost a lung this way, a middle-aged Pittsburgh physician, is still alive and his wind is better than that of some of his colleagues of equal age. Children who were reduced to one lung by this new method are playing the usual athletic games as well as their two-lung companions.

The remaining lung has expanded to fill most of the space left vacant. The operation saves lives in cancer of the lung, which forms about ten per cent of all cancer and which was, until a short time ago, regarded as hopeless.

The new operation was originated by Dr. Everts A. Graham, of Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, and professor of surgery at Washington University, St. Louis.

This operation preserves the ribs completely. Two or three ribs are divided in making an opening into the chest. Later they are sewn together and soon unite. Even surface scars often disappear, Dr. Graham says.

The first operation was performed seven years ago. Since then, Dr. Graham said, several hundred have been performed over all the world.

Blood transfusion is given during the operation. This reduces shock, formerly the cause of high death rates in chest operations.

Dr. Graham said that in enlarging to take over the extra work the remaining lung probably does not grow more tissue, but that its capillaries expand. It appears, he added, that man normally is supplied with more lung tissue than he needs.

FIRING OF TORPEDOES IN CLUSTERS PROBABLE CAUSE OF SINKINGS

Private persons versed in naval affairs Tuesday offered a theory that the heavy casualties in the sinking of the Battleship Royal Oak resulted from perfection of a "cluster" torpedo technique by the Germans.

Observers further suggested the loss of 786 men (latest official estimate) was influenced by darkness with nearly two-thirds of the crew below in sleeping hammocks.

A system of firing torpedoes in clusters like slugs from a shotgun is entirely plausible from a naval viewpoint, experts said. Many present-day submarines are capable of simultaneous discharges which would send three or four torpedoes streaking into a warship.

The official announcement on Saturday of the sinking of Royal Oak merely said it was believed she was the victim of "U-boat action."

The "cluster" reasoning was further pointed to as accounting for the speed with which the Royal Oak apparently sank. On New Year's Day, 1915, when the relatively old British Battleship Formidable was sunk by a German submarine under cover of darkness she took 2 1-2 hours before going down.

In the sinking of the Royal Oak, naval experts said they believed the attacking submarine manoeuvred herself directly in the path of the battleship between the customary screen of anti-submarine craft. The attacker's presence could not be detected in the darkness if she was half submerged. The bulk of the battleship makes a silhouette discernible as far as 600 yards, the experts said.

FANCY DRESS BANNED IN ARMY DURING WAR

Fancy dress has been banned from the army for the duration of the war. Under an order announced Wednesday it is directed that full dress, undress and mess dress will not be worn by officers on any occasion.

So the scarlet mess-jackets, the neat blue undress uniforms and colorful dress uniforms worn on ceremonial parade may be put in moth balls. The khaki service dress or the new battle dress will be worn at all times except that officers on leave may wear plain clothes and all ranks at their stations may wear plain clothes for athletic exercises.

The wearing of orders, decorations and medals also will cease but the ribbons of orders, decorations and medals may be worn on the service dress and the battle dress.

Germans say Poland's battlefields will be a disappointment to souvenir hunters. Empty cartridge clips, shells, steel helmets and other metal are gathered up after fighting ends and taken back to Germany, they said, to be melted and used again. The army has special units for this work.

RED CROSS GIVES MILLION FOR WAR RELIEF IN EUROPE

Chairman Norman H. Davis announced Friday that the American Red Cross had appropriated $1,000,000 for immediate relief needs in the European war.

"If the need develops, we will have to make a regular war fund drive," Mr. Davis said.

"The Red Cross is ready to do everything practicable that the American people want it to do."

More than 3,700 chapters have been notified they may accept relief contributions, which may be designated for expenditure in any particular country.

Since the war started, gifts of about $200,000 have been received, the largest, $150,000 from the Polish Alliance for the relief of Poland, Mr. Davis said.

Detailing war relief moves already made, Mr. Davis said requests for medicines, clothing, blankets and hospital and other supplies have come from the Polish, French, British, and German Red Cross.

GRANT MacNEIL OPPOSES CANADIANS FIGHTING IN EUROPE

Grant MacNeil, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation member of parliament for Vancouver North, said at a public meeting in Nelson, B. C., that Canada's "direct and vital concern" in the war does not "justify the shedding of blood on European soil."

One of the speakers at a C. C. F. meeting furthering the resistance of the British Columbia section of the C. C. F. to "unnecessary encroachments on civil liberties," MacNeil said:

"If we embark on ambitious overseas military intervention we may yet reach the absurd situation where we will have to call on American troops to guard Canadian territory."

He said any attempt to put conscription into effect will "split Canada in twain." He claimed that "no matter what assurances are given, conscription will surely follow dispatch of an expeditionary force" from Canada to Europe."

HUNTER DROWNED ON THE NIPIGON

One is known drowned and two others are believed drowned of a party of three who left Cameron Falls, on Nipigon River, 70 miles east of Port Arthur, for a hunting trip on Thursday.

George Malcolm's body was taken found. It is believed Griffith Hawkins and E. Christensen were also drowned.

The party expected to be back Friday or Saturday. When they did not return Monday a search party went out and found the body of Malcolm supported in the water by a life belt. The others did not wear life belts.

A search party equipped with grappling irons left Cameron Falls Tuesday to seek the other two.

COAST GUARD FINDS NO SIGN OF WRECKAGE

A Norwegian coast guard ship dispatched to investigate a fire and explosion at sea reported early Tuesday it found no sign of a stricken ship or survivors.

Inhabitants of the southern Norwegian coast waited for daylight perhaps to disclose the reason for a series of blasts and a fire which burned from ten o'clock Monday night until after 1 a.m. Tuesday, about four miles off Hellesø Light.

Coastal observers at Augland said the series of explosions and the fire indicated that a tanker might have been stricken. The playing of search lights by a vessel beyond the fire appeared to some to have come from a warship, but others said it might have been from a passenger liner previously seen in the area.

HIGH STRUNG, FIERY LADS GET FIGHTING PLANES

The Royal Air Force is experimenting to determine if psychological tests would be useful in recruiting, it was learned Tuesday.

At present Air Force pupils are divided into two groups, those destined to work in fighter aircraft and those to handle bombers.

Highly strung, fiery lads get the fighters while the cooler and more phlegmatic heads are assigned to the bombers.

The Canadian Psychological Association has suggested to the Department of National Defence at Ottawa that psychological tests would be of definite practical service in recruiting for the Dominion Air Force.

FOUR INJURED IN GUN ACCIDENTS IN OTTAWA AREA

Four persons were injured, one seriously, in shooting accidents in Ottawa and district over the week-end.

Struck in the back by a stray bullet from a .22 calibre rifle near his home in Ottawa, Arthur Hewens, 13, was taken to hospital with his body partially paralyzed. Police said a 17-year-old army recruit, James Nevin, missed a target in a shed at the rear of his home during a private shooting practice, the bullet passing through an open window and striking Hewens.

Antonio Pepin, 18, was arrested on Saturday on a charge of discharging a fire-arm in the city after a revolver he was allegedly playing with discharged. The bullet grazed the neck of Roger Choinard, 15, who was treated in hospital.

Aurele Villeneuve, of St. Pierre de Wakefield, Que., 15 miles north of Ottawa, was struck in the back by pellets from a shotgun which went off suddenly as he climbed over a fence. Unaided he walked three miles in the bush and was brought to hospital in Hull, Que., where his condition was considered fair.

J. P. Carthy, 22, of Killaloe, Ont., near Pembroke, received a shotgun blast in his left side during a hunting expedition with a companion. Police said Carthy was walking ahead of his companion when the latter's rifle suddenly discharged as he was loading it.

BRITAIN TRAINS 32 DIVISIONS ON HOME SOIL

Britain has 32 divisions under training in England to augment the original British expeditionary force of 158,000 men, it was learned from official sources on Tuesday.

A division in the modern army represents from between 14,000 and 20,000 men. So Britain has between 450,000 and 650,000 men under training.

The British Expeditionary Force in France is being augmented daily. "Tommies" are landing in French ports with increasing frequency. When it is considered that the British army has never been strong numerically and that this country has never regarded itself as a great military power—as distinct from a naval power—its work in the first six weeks of the war can be thoughtfully gauged. For any nation to send 158,000 troops into the theatre of battle complete with 25,000 war machines, and have 600,000 men in training—is considered an accomplishment of considerable merit. Subscribe to the Review and get the home news.

British troops who Friday received a surprise call from the Duke of Windsor in the sector they have just taken over have commemorated the visit by naming one important communication trench "Windsor Walk."

The visit of the former monarch, accompanied by his brother, the Duke of Gloucester, and the Commander-in-Chief, Viscount Gort, came as a big surprise to the Tommies. They were busy rushing up breastworks to protect trenches against rain when the party of officers arrived to inspect their work. It was some time before the spade-wielders recognized their distinguished visitor.

The Duke of Windsor smiled at their obvious surprise but quickly put the men at ease. He moved among the mud-covered soldiers and spoke to several of them. The Royal brothers then went inside one of the pill boxes protecting a sector of the British line. They inspected it carefully, asking several questions regarding its armaments and its power of resistance to shell fire.

The Duke of Windsor was in high spirits when he emerged from the pill box and for some time engaged in animated conversation with Viscount Gort before the party left. Later the Duke took the salute from a company of Britain's crack regiments, which paraded on the platform of a railway station.

The visit recalls the Duke's determined efforts to obtain permission to go to the front in the last war when he was the Prince of Wales. Earl Kitchener, as Secretary of War, put an absolute veto on the idea.

When the Prince argued he was one of four sons and that the succession would be perfectly safe whatever happened, Lord Kitchener replied "If I were certain you would be shot I don't know if I would be right to sustain you. What I cannot permit is the chance that exists until we have a settled line, of the enemy securing you as a prisoner."

Some time later a compromise was effected and the Prince went to France as an Aide-de-Camp to Sir John French at General Headquarters.

Guards hold the front lines. In London, the word "Guards" immediately brings to mind towering bearskins and bright red coats. But in France, Guards mean huge men digging trenches in wet clay with a captain who is a cousin of the King lending a hand. They crouch in pillboxes nursing Bren machine guns and wear battle dress—the new style, resembling khaki overalls. They dig deep trenches in French pastures and march with shovels over their shoulders.

TRAINING SCHOOLS FOR OFFICERS TO BE ESTABLISHED IN CANADA

Training schools for officers in the Canadian military forces will be established throughout the country shortly, it was learned at National Defence headquarters on Saturday.

Commissions in the original Canadian Active Service Force units may be obtained only through the parent non-permanent active militia unit. Officer reinforcements will be taken on by the unit's depot.

That is to say when a militia unit is mobilized passes in the Active Service Force and proceeds overseas, the depot unit left in Canada will provide officers to fill vacancies which occur by reason of casualties or other causes.

Prospective officers who are University students or graduates will receive training in the Canadian Officers' Training Corps at the Universities. Others will be attached to one of the proposed training centres but all officers must go to a training centre for final training. C.O.T.C. men must go there to obtain credit for their work in that corps.

If an original unit in the Active Service Force is unable to complete its slate with qualified officers, it may take on an unqualified officer who will be commissioned in the non-permanent militia and attached to the Active Service Force for training.

When the officer commanding the Active Service Force unit considers such an officer ready he will be examined by a board appointed and if he passes the examination the officer may be posted to the Active Service Force units.

Officers commanding units may also select from the ranks any man of officer calibre and detail him to a training school. Thus the fact that a man enlists in the ranks will not prevent him from obtaining a commission.

Mayor David Croll of Windsor, recently gave Police Constable Harold McLaren permission to enlist in the Essex Scottish. Mayor Croll, now a private in the regiment, said recently that McLaren, now a corporal, is drilling Croll daily.

On Saturday evening, October 14th, over forty of the friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Spry to celebrate them on their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

The evening was very enjoyably spent in cards and music. Adding to the merriment of the occasion a number of the boys charivariated Mr. and Mrs. Spry. The gathering was called to order and the following address was read by Mr. Perry Brownson.

Bonairlaw, Ont., Oct. 14, 1939.
Dear Mr. and Mrs. Spry:

We, your friends and neighbours, of the community, have gathered here this evening to extend to you our best wishes on this happy occasion.

You both have been one of us all your life. You have won our love and affection by your sterling qualities and sunny disposition. The establishment of a home is a grand and sacred task where the light of love always shines brightly—a home where each puts the other first.

We wish you both joy and happiness in the coming years. Whatever supreme joy we get from life we get from being sympathetic and thoughtful of others. After all it is these things that make life worthwhile, as we cannot bring back life and live it again.

Please accept these gifts as a slight remembrance of your many friends and neighbours hoping to be with you on your twenty-fifth anniversary.

Signed: Ruby McCann, Mrs. Nathan Bronson.

Mr. and Mrs. Spry made very suitable replies. A delicious lunch including a beautiful three storey wedding cake was served by the ladies. The evening was brought to a close by all singing "God be with you till we meet again."

Those from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Danford of Brighton.

AIR COMMODORE IS MENTIONED

The name of Air Commodore A. C. Critchley is being widely discussed in British aviation circles in connection with the plan to train Royal Air Force and Dominion pilots in Canada.

It is suggested the well-known London sports promoter, a native of Calgary, would be the right man for a key job in the scheme, having had experience in handling large numbers of pupil airmen in the first Great War.

Commodore Critchley at present is commanding a huge air training camp in the south of England. When in charge of ground training of the R.A.F. in 1918 he handled 30,000 cadets and airmen.

A writer in the London Evening Standard Saturday said few men know more of the conditions which will be attached to training R. A. F. pilots in Canada.

"I understand, indeed, that he has had a part in formation of the present scheme," the writer said.

Recalling Commodore Critchley's previous experience in training troops in Canada and England, the writer added it was probable he would be invited to assist in further development of the present project.

It is reported in London that although a nucleus of R.A.F. specialists will be sent from England, it is likely that Canada will provide the major part of the ground personnel and flying instructors.

HOPE FOR ACID-DAMAGED EYES SEEN IN NEW TYPE OF OPERATION

Hope for eyes damaged by acid was seen Saturday in a new operation reported to the American College of Surgeons at Philadelphia.

These injuries, a growing hazard of the present chemical age, often do not blind the eyes but render them largely useless by searing the eyeballs so that they stick to eyelids.

Scar tissues ultimately weld lids and eyeballs. Sometimes lids grow fast shut, or hold an eyeball in an immovable, cross-eyed position. A high percentage of the victims are children.

Dr. Vilray Blair of Washington University, St. Louis, described the operation. When these lids are separated from the eyeballs, the problem is to give the latter a covering to replace its lost, natural mucous membrane covering.

Mucous membranes are too scarce, Dr. Blair explained, to make it feasible to borrow them from eyes. This he takes in small patches from the patient's own body.

The skin patches are laid over the parts of the eyeballs denuded by the chemicals. A soft shell of wax and cotton, molded to fit over the eyeball, is then placed on the new skin to

The Canadian Club of New York announced Tuesday that Premier Hepburn of Ontario will be the chief speaker at its annual Armistice Day luncheon, November 11.

The function will take the form of a "Rededication Luncheon."

In addition to Premier Hepburn speeches will be delivered by Godfrey Haggard, British Consul General at New York; Hon. Peter Heenan Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests; Douglas S. Cole, Canadian Government trade commissioner in New York, and Viktor T. Goggin, president of the Club.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME, MAN AND GIRL BURNED

A man and a teen-aged girl were burned to death and two other persons escaped when fire destroyed the home of Frank Masters at Campbell River, B. C. police headquarters were informed at Victoria on Tuesday.

The victims were Frank Masters and Ella Pahl, 15 year old maid in the Masters home, 150 miles north of Victoria on the east coast of Vancouver Island. Mrs. Masters and her 19 year old son Thomas escaped uninjured, the boy leaping from a second storey window.

SKILLED MECHANICS TO BE REGISTERED

A dominion registry of skilled mechanics and others with specialized training that might make them valuable in war industries is to be undertaken, it was announced Wednesday.

Labor Minister McLarty met representatives of the Employment Services of the Provinces in Ottawa on Wednesday to discuss the registration of those available. It was agreed the provinces would collect the names and transfer them and other relevant information to Ottawa.

INTER-DOMINION TRADE GROWTH SEEN

The war may have the result of increasing substantially the present trade between Australia and Canada, in the opinion of Col. L. M. Cosgrove, Canadian Trade Commissioner at Sydney, Australia. Canada may soon be importing for the first time, Australian steel and, in exchange, exporting increasing quantities of electrical supplies and motor chassis to the Commonwealth.

Col. Cosgrove does not expect the war to dislocate shipping services in the Pacific.

LIONEL CONNACHER, M.P.P. MAY HEAD O. A. C.

Reorganization of the Ontario Athletic Commission with the probable retirement of Chairman P. J. Mulqueen is expected to be effected this week.

Lionel Conacher, M.P.P., for Toronto Bracondale, and Vice Chairman of the Commission, is the likely choice for the chairmanship.

Chairman Mulqueen is scheduled to confer with Hon. Harold Kirby, Minister of Health, under whose department the Commission comes.

REPARATION CLAIMS WILL BE FILED AWAY

Reparation claims made by Canadians will be filed away by the government until after the war and then dealt with if responsibility for the episodes from which the claims arise is fixed, a state department official said Tuesday.

It was announced Monday night that four Canadian passengers on the Athenia, torpedoed British liner, had filed reparation claims totalling $2,000 with the Secretary of State.

60,840 KILLED IN ACCIDENTS

The National Safety Council reported at Atlantic City Monday that 60,840 persons were killed in accidents in the United States during the first eight months of 1939.

Automobile accidents took 18,980 lives during the period, but the Council calculated this was four per cent fewer than during the similar period last year.

hold it in place until it takes root.

In eight such grafts to date, Dr. Blair said, "all took." He said that complications, particularly ulcers, appeared in some of these first cases but that experience shows such troubles can be avoided by changing the surgical technique.

The patients all made good recoveries and can move their eye lids and roll their eyes. Dr. Blair said it is now a matter of waiting to see whether there will be complications to upset present good results.

Invite Them All

Many a non-advertising retailer refrains from advertising because he feels that it is necessary to advertise in a big way and that he is not ready to do that.

Pull of a Small Advertisement

Beginners in every form of enterprise should go warily; until experience, practice and growing ability warrant their attempting larger things they should proceed in a cautious manner.

Begin with a Small Space

It would pay some retailers to use the Classified Advertisements and small spaces of two or three inches.

Make the Small Advertisements quote Special Merchandise.

Change them frequently. A quick succession of little advertisements, every one of which is alive, will effect sales and attract new customers. The great thing to be afraid of is inertness—a retail store which does not talk to the public by means of newspaper advertisements misses a whole lot of business.

The members of the United Church held a very successful fowloup on Wednesday evening, October 18th. The evening being ideal, a large crowd had turned out from Madoc and the surrounding district to partake of the good things provided by the ladies. The tables were beautifully decorated with seasonal flowers and flags and the waitresses wearing aprons and caps trimmed with red, white and blue making a fine background for the table, which was well laden with the viands to satisfy the appetite. After the tables had been filled for the third time and all had been amply served, a very fine programme was presented to an audience which filled the church to its capacity. Rev. George Crabbe acted as chairman and opened the program with a few words of welcome and the following program was given.

Two selections by pupils of Blakely School under the direction of Mrs.
Alexander, music teacher; a guitar duet by Mrs. Elliott Burris and Miss Jennie Burris; solo, "Little Irish Girl," by Mrs. W. Hulin of Madoc, accompanied by Mrs. Ashley at the organ; Rev. A. Poulter of Trinity United Church, Madoc, gave a short address; a guitar selection by Harry and Irene Whyte; a humorous solo was rendered by Mr. C. I. Ross of Madoc. "Do you take this woman for your lawful wife?" with an encore,
"Daddy, Dear Daddy"; a poem "Old Uncle Dan," was read by Rev. Geo.
Crabbe; two choruses by the pupils of Blakey's school; a duet by Mrs.
W. Hulin and Mr. C. I. Ross, and the singing of the National Anthem closed the program. The proceeds of the evening amounted to $78.00.

DETLOF

A wedding of much interest to some people was that of Miss Goldie Wannamaker of Fort Stewart, and Mr. Cecil Towes of Detlor, which was solemnized recently, Mr. and Mrs.
Clarence Towes, were bridesmaid and groomsmen. The ceremony was performed by Mr. McConkey of Bancroft.
A reception, attended by a large crowd of relatives and friends from near and far was held at L'Amable Hall. The presents to the bride were many, nice and useful. They will reside at Bancroft where Cecil is working at his trade at the Service Station. Bon voyage is the general wish.

Much trucking work of stock shipping of all classes, also timbers of different classes and the station yard is getting pretty well cleaned up.

A man and mining engineer were calling at Bessemer a couple of weeks ago, inspecting some classes of ore deposits with a view to opening up and proving, and hope to some extent, operating.

The community in general were again reminded of the uncertain span of years, when in one week Mrs. L.
Thompson, of some seventy years or so was taken ill with influenza and on Monday morning last, was called away to be at rest. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon at Hermon by Mr. Wicks of Coe Hill, where the church was crowded. A fitting duet was rendered by Mr. Wicks and Mr.
Simon Bronson, a former resident and of the same district as that of Mrs. Thompson in her girlhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Childs, a young couple who spent the summer in the fruit lands, came back home. Fred went to Mr. Hamlyn's camp and went

ON GALLIC ASPECT

The irrepressible French Polu has reinstated the war into his gay Gallic pattern of life.

In the first Great War 700,000 men were incapacitated during the first seven weeks of hostilities and ten French departments were lost to the enemy. When not fighting, millions of soldiers endured cramped and boring inactivity.

Now, however, casualties have been insignificant. The French have been fighting on enemy soil, and the high command has made the well-being of the private an indispensable part of war preparations. Every company has its athletic teams and football matches are an every day occurrence. The soldiers prepare absurd skits in which they act themselves, or they attend presentations by professional stage personalities behind the lines.

Reading is carried on to a degree unknown in the Great War. A book alliance distributes thousands of volumes free among the troops.

Officers report two sharp divisions in reading taste. Serious studies of science and literature share popularity with light illustrated magazines.
Oddly enough, love stories and adventures leave the Polu cold.

Trench publications edited by the men themselves are already appearing by the dozen.

Each army unit has a lounging place in the nearest village school, where the soldiers may amuse themselves with dominos, cards or periodicals. But the men prefer the town tavern, where the wine, if a trifle expensive, is sure to be served in any event by a good-looking barmaid.

During the day unoccupied soldiers help in the fields of evacuated areas, or go gathering chestnuts that have ripened and are beginning to fall.
Many abandoned dogs have been adopted, trained and converted into regimental mascots.

Bubbling with high spirits, the men perform side-splitting antics in their barracks. Soldiers lodged in an ancient castle have carried out exaggerated court ceremonials that test the solitude of the most gloomy.

But the Polus are not taking the war lightly. Even their frivolity has its more serious side, as when they form organizations similar to those of the last war to entertain convalescing Colonial troops who are slow in adjusting themselves to the damp and cold of winter in Northern France.

ANY COMPETITORS?

Not satisfied with his boxing prov-ess, Jasper Walker of Brighton, Australia, decided, back in 1926, to make himself a perfect man. After thirteen years of effort he was awarded that title for Victoria this year.

to work on Monday, in loading poles.
On Thursday one pole rolled and threw Fred off the cap, and broke his back. He was rushed to the hospital where he was placed in a plaster cast to remain for several months, pending complete recovery is what is hoped for.

The week before one of Mr. Harry Foster's little girls along with two other little sisters, were passing through a field where a colt coming two years old, when the colt wheeled and kicked at them and unfortunately hit the one, a very bad cut. She was placed in hospital but at last reports was not doing very well and it was feared would have to be taken to Belleville for the sake of being nearer a more equipped attendance, and possibly a specialist's inspection.

Mr. Will Adams, trainman of Belleville, and son Will of Trenton, motored to Detlor and on to Bancroft to visit his nephew invalided at Bancroft Hospital.

AFTER PHONE CALL

A telephone operator at the Belleville Exchange was primarily responsible for the apprehension of a man who gave his name as Arthur Camer, 40, Boston, Mass., and who was arrested as he emerged from the pay telephone booth at a Belleville restaurant after having allegedly deposited iron washers into the pay telephone money box in payment of a long distance telephone call. Camer was held in custody on a charge of fraudulently committing theft from the Bell Telephone Company by using iron slugs, instead of money, for the purpose of defrauding the company.

A long distance operator at the Belleville Exchange answered a request for a long distance telephone call to Montreal, but being alert and possessing a keen sense of the registration coins deposited into pay telephone cash boxes, observed, it is said, the connection was not perfect, thus indicating faulty or bogus coins were being used. Mr. G. W. Proctor, manager of the Belleville Branch of the Bell Telephone Company, was in the building and when informed of the incident instructed the operator to "hold the call" and inform the party after making the call to return to the telephone booth later.

MASONIC LODGEROOM AT FRANKFORD ENTERED

Burglars entered the lodgeroom of Frank Lodge, No. 127, A. F. & A. M. in the village of Frankford sometime over the week-end and stole hundreds of dollars' worth of Masonic equipment. Provincial Police were informed. Entrance must have been gained through a newly-constructed store, that is being renovated and built in the premises below the Frankford Masonic building, Provincial Police op-line following a thorough check-up made by Provincial Constable Wm.
McBrien.

Complete mystery surrounds the robbery as the Frankford Masonic authorities and police as well as are at a loss as to how robbers would dispose of the large amount of loot taken, much of which is only good for lodge activities. The articles stolen include two swords and sheaths, two Masonic columns, two gavel, a wooden level, a 20-inch rule and 32 white cotton Masonic aprons. Much of the equipment in the Frank lodge kitchen including cups, saucers and silverware was also reported stolen.

Lodge officials informed Provincial Constable McBrien that one of the two gavel taken had only recently been presented to Frank Lodge by D.D.G.M. Wor. Bro. C. H. Ketcheson, and bore an inscription and the don-or's name on a silver plate mounting the gavel.

HUNTINGDON W. M. S.

Mrs. Ed. Pitman and Georgia entertained the members of the United Church W. M. S. for their October meeting. Twelve members answered the roll call following the impressive worship service conducted by the president, Mrs. Foster Wilson. Three members responded to the Watch Tower. Mrs. Elmer Post gave a temperance reading. The thank offering envelopes were presented and very reverently accepted and dedicated.
Mrs. Foster Wilson gave an interesting reading. Mrs. George Post gave a report of the convention she recently attended.

Mrs. McInroy conducted the Study
Book. A message from Mrs. Reddick of Nanpore, re the bale that was recently sent, was acknowledged. After the business period was conducted the meeting was dismissed by the Mizpah benediction.

SIR KINGSLEY WOOD PAYS WHIRLWIND VISIT TO FIGHTING FORCES

Sir Kingsley Wood, Secretary of State for Air, paid a whirlwind visit to squadrons of his "fighting force" Saturday, congratulated pilots of planes who had flown over Germany, and said he had found "cheerfulness, good spirits and belief in the cause for which they are fighting."

Sir Kingsley's car was halted at the roadside for twenty minutes by an air raid warning as he was driving off to lunch.

The minister, who has a reputation for getting things done, covered a lot of ground. He received the guard of honor in the square of the sleepy French village and then astonished a staid farmer's wife by driving up to the farm house to inquire about billetts.

The 250-pound farmer's wife said the "Ministre Anglaise" had told her to take good care of his boys.

He dashed about the airfield, looked over reconnaissance planes, inspected dugouts and anti-aircraft guns. He chuckled over a slogan chalked up in a dugout which he told the press was "naughty but very pregnant."

At another airfield which was blanketed in heavy mist, the minister looked over some big bombers and talked to men who flew them. He shook hands, laughed and chatted, and patted big awkward youngsters on the back.

"France still represents a strong hold in which are intact all ideas which make up human dignity; honor, liberty and love of art." —
Fritz Kreisler.
